Aid May End Nov. 15 Dunham Warns.

BY PARKE BROWN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Robert J. Dunham, chairman of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, announced tonight that the end of depression charity on a statewide scale is in sight. He predicted the termination of the commission's distribution of funds, food, and clothing on Nov. 15.

He made his forecast before a gathering of leaders of the house of representatives after the definite refusal of the chamber to pass the first of the $30,000,000 winter charity bills. The vote on the measure was 80 to 45, and 102 votes were required for its passage with the emergency clause which would put it into effect immediately upon its enactment.

Fears Victory Chance Gone.

Chairman Dunham took the severity of this setback as evidence that, despite new efforts by its supporters, the program cannot be passed. In his opinion it will be impossible in the face of the situation disclosed today to win over the 22 votes by which the bill failed to reach the total sought.

"That means," he said, with a grave face, "that all the relief stations and all the shelters maintained by the commission will be closed on Nov. 15. After that date there will be no relief of any sort distributed by the commission anywhere in the state. Our funds will be completely exhausted."

His hearers grew solemn. They had not viewed the situation so seriously. They had known when they agreed to call the key bill of the bond issue plan for a vote that it would not receive two-thirds support on the first effort. But they had estimated it would receive between 90 and 100 votes immediately and that the necessary additional votes could be obtained by next week at the latest. The lack of more than a score of votes destroyed their optimism, and Chairman Dunham's statement appeared to frighten them.

Want Hopkins to Speak.

The discussion then turned to the possibility of the use of extraordinary means to attempt a change of sentiment among the minority forces of the house. They persuaded Chairman Dunham not to surrender all hope and, when he told them that Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator, will be in Chicago next Monday, asked him to invite the national government representative to come to Springfield next week and address the house.

But beyond this they found themselves unable to make any plans. Speaker Arthur Roe said that he will call the house to order tomorrow morning for the regular order business. It is doubted that a second effort with the relief plan will be made this week. After watching developments, the few senators on the sidelines adjourned their own chamber until next Tuesday. The senate passed the contested bills last week.

Administration Hopeful.

The administration forces are still hopeful. Discouraged though they are by today's weak showing, they predict the ultimate passage of this legislation and refuse to consider suggestions of a sine die adjournment of the special session. They say the home folks will be talking to members of the obstructing minority over the week-end and that if final action is not taken next week the talking will be redoubled over the next week-end.

The key bill and its companion measures are still alive, the former having been saved from official defeat by resort to the old practice of moving, before the vote was announced, a postponement of further consideration. That leaves the bill where it was before the showdown, ready for a final vote at any time.

The first defeat was due almost entirely to hostile Republican activity. All of the hostile votes came from downstate and 36 of the 45 were Republicans. The 80 for the bill were made up of 57 Democrats and 23 Republicans, only three of the Republican votes coming from downstate. The minority made the issue one of party politics and sectionalism, a large part of its fight consisting of attacks on Chicago.

Some Cook County Votes Missing.

Cook county members who voted were solidly for the bill, but seven of its 57 votes were not recorded in the affirmative, the total of which is the only thing that counts materially in the passage of the bill. The seven

NEW GOLD PRICE OF $31.36 SETS MARKETS RISING

Public's Dollars Cut by 5 Cents.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—While new deal economists hung exultantly over tickers telling the tale of the day's rising prices, the three man board which President Roosevelt has set up to rule over the value of America's money met at the treasury department and knocked a nickel off every dollar in the pocketbook and bank account of every citizen in the country.

The triumvirate, consisting of Undersecretary of the Treasury Dean G. Acheson, Henry Morgenthau Jr., governor of the farm credit administration, and Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, shaved the dollar by announcing that the RFC would buy gold at $31.36 an ounce, a gain of five per cent over yesterday's price of $29.80.

Designed to Raise Prices.

According to the new economics which President Roosevelt outlined in his radio speech Sunday night and which the board launched today with the announcement of the gold price, this increase in the value of gold should bring about an equal drop in the value of the dollar and a commensurate gain in the prices of all other commodities.

Markets went booming today on the strength of the new monetary move, although no gold was actually bought by the government, due to the time required to whip machinery into shape and prepare regulations.

Each day the triumvirate will meet, setting a new price for gold or continuing the old one. As the gold price moves up the dollar will move down; commodity prices, according to the theory, should advance.

Dollar Worth 65 Cents.

After the meeting today the American dollar was worth, in terms of gold, a little more than 65 cents. Yesterday it was worth almost 70 cents. Up until today its depreciation had resulted from its drift downward on foreign exchanges since the abandonment of the gold standard. The nickel it lost today was due directly to the government's deliberate action in setting a gold price 5 per cent higher than that of the previous day and 35 per cent higher than that prevailing under the gold standard.

Tenseness marked the first meeting of the board which will govern the dollar. Receiving the press to announce the new gold price and dollar value, Undersecretary Acheson was nervous and fidgety; Jesse Jones joked boisterously.

Reading the official statement, Mr. Jones proclaimed that the RFC was prepared to exchange its 90 day debentures for newly mined American gold at the rate of $31.36 an ounce.

Technicality Bars Cash.

A legal technicality barred Mr. Jones from making a direct cash offer for gold, it was learned. The RFC cannot spend the treasury's cash for any purpose except those mentioned in its appropriations. No appropriation exists for gold purchases.

Congress, which meets before the 90 day debentures will mature, probably will be asked to vote additional cash out of the treasury to redeem the debentures as they fall due. Or the RFC may endeavor to sell its gold holdings abroad to get cash for paying off the debentures. Either of these means, however, would keep the gold producer waiting 90 days for money and provides no immediate means for paying him off in dollars.

How gold producers will manage to obtain cash for the debentures remained a mystery tonight. They might be used as security for the personal note of the gold producer if he applies for a loan at his bank.

None of the debentures has ever before been sold to any purchaser except the treasury. There is no market value on them. They are not attractive to banks because there is a question concerning whether they may be discounted with federal reserve banks.

No Purchase First Day.

This and other questions were worrying treasury department experts as they sought tonight to draft regulations which will govern the new gold purchases. Failure to complete these regulations today prevented any actual purchases of gold by the RFC.

Confusion which the President's announcement Sunday night precipitated

THE PIPE OF PEACE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Henry Ford will get no chance to bid on the 25 million dollar army motorization and airplane building programs unless he signs the NRA automobile code, the war department announced tonight.

Granted 10 million dollars from the federal easy money fund to be spent on motorization and another 15 millions for airplane construction which must be divided with the navy, the war department is preparing to ask for bids on equipment from automobile and airplane manufacturers. It will not accept for consideration any offer advanced by the Ford company.

U. S. Stand Explained.

"No bids will be received for any of these materials from those who are not members of a code," an official authorized to speak for the department said tonight.

Asked if this meant Ford, he said: "It does."

Although laws previously have required that the lowest bids be accepted in most cases without regard to the person who submitted them as long as he was responsible, the war department based its action on an executive order issued by President Roosevelt on Aug. 10.

The order decreed that "the contractor shall comply with all provisions of the applicable approved code for fair competition for the trade or industry or subdivision thereof concerned."

Construed as "Membership."

This language was interpreted by the war department to mean "membership" in the code. Claims made by the Ford company that it is complying with the terms of the codes and even going them one better were not considered sufficient to allow acceptance of Ford bids.

The motorization and mechanization program launched by the army may eventually call for expenditure of 70 million dollars. The army and the navy together are asking 40 millions additional for planes.

Other governmental agencies have previously come out specifically barring Ford from contracts and similar action has been taken in some states.

REVEAL STRANGE DISAPPEARANCE OF AN EXECUTIVE

Officials of the Western Electric company asked police last night to search for John H. Kasley, an executive of the company. Kasley disappeared yesterday morning from in front of the Hawthorne works of the company in Cicero shortly before he was to have taken part in an important conference.

Kasley, who is about 53 years old and lives at 179 Linden avenue, Oak Park, is superintendent of inspection in the main works of the company. With him when he drove up in front of the plant yesterday was F. A. McNutt, manager of the company's Queensboro plant in New York City. They were to attend a conference of executives who had been summoned from plants all over the country.

MacNutt entered the building, expecting Kasley to follow, after turning his car over to a garage man. When Kasley did not appear at the conference an investigation disclosed that he had not entered the plant and that his car, an expensive maroon sedan, was also gone.

Kasley had been employed by the company for 30 years. He had no serious business worries, fellow officials said, and they and his family were unaware of any private troubles which might have worried him. He has a summer home at Long Beach, Ind., and his son and daughter attend the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor.

HARRY'S FACE PROVES TO BE HIS MISFORTUNE

Harry Graham, 38 years old, of 620 North Clark street, in a detective bureau cell last night was lamenting the fact that he had his picture taken at the World's Fair last June when he applied for a job as a guard.

Graham didn't get the job, and so, according to his alleged admissions, he and several friends rigged up a profitable scheme. They obtained blank checks from banks and then dressed up the checks as being from concessions at the World's Fair. They found no difficulty in cashing them, in amounts from $10 to $25, the name "Century of Progress" on the checks dispelling all questions, Graham said.

Yesterday two World's Fair policemen arrested Graham at Wabash avenue and Randolph street. They recognized him from the photograph he had posed for last June.

Joseph Sorokowski, 55 years old, a patent medicine manufacturer of 900 North Taylor avenue, Oak Park, was bound, beaten, and tortured with fire by four robbers who invaded his home yesterday in search of $100,000 which they believed was hidden in the house.

The robbers beat Sorokowski on the head with the butts of pistols, burned the soles of his feet with a cigar lighter, and later held his feet in the flames of the basement furnace.

Sorokowski told police that he was at home alone when two men entered at the rear door and asked to purchase some of the salve which he manufactures. As he was wrapping the ointment the robbers seized and bound him with rope.

Demand $100,000 in Cash.

"Now tell us where that $100,000 is before you get hurt," one of the robbers demanded. Sorokowski told them he had no large sum of cash. The robbers, however, insisted that the hoard of money was in the house, saying a former employé of Sorokowski had told them about it. The man's persistent denials enraged the robbers, who slugged him with a gun.

Sorokowski was then taken upstairs and two other men were admitted. They removed his shoes and applied the cigar lighter, stifling his screams with their hands.

Sorokowski pleaded with the men to search the house and they left him for a time while they tore open dresser drawers, scattered mattresses and the contents of trunks.

Abandoning the search upstairs, the robbers took Sorokowski back to the basement and beat him again with their guns. Then they took him to the furnace and held him with his feet in the flames until they were blistered.

Robbers Finally Flee.

The robbers finally accepted Sorokowski's statement that they had been misinformed about the money and fled.

Sorokowski's cries for help were heard by a neighbor, Mrs. O. H. Doenges, and she summoned a physician and police. He was treated for severe lacerations on the scalp and first degree burns on the feet.

The robbers found nothing in their search but a few old coins in a tin box, $15 in cash in Sorokowski's pockets, and two $500 receipts for postal savings made out to his wife, Tekla, and daughter, Cecilia. The wife and daughter were shopping at the time.

Graf Zeppelin Will Land at Chicago Today

BY HUGH SEXTON.

The Graf Zeppelin will visit Chicago the second time today and make its first landing here. The giant dirigible took off for Chicago from Akron, O., at 10:35 o'clock, Chicago time, last night, with 24 passengers aboard, according to a dispatch of the Associated Press. Early today it cruised over Toledo, going in a northerly direction.

Dr. Hugo Eckener, veteran commander of the airship, announced that he would fly at half speed through the night and arrive over Chicago about 9 o'clock this morning. He had planned earlier to arrive about 6 o'clock, but changed his schedule in order to allow the passengers more time to sleep.

Weather Ideal at Takeoff.

Weather conditions at the time of the departure from Akron were described as ideal, in contrast with the gusty winds which had made it impossible for the dirigible to land there until yesterday morning after arriving Tuesday night.

The landing here will be made at Curtiss-Wright airport, near Glenview, with the aid of 250 regular army soldiers, under command of Maj. E. M. Landrum. The soldiers, who will go to the airport from Camp Whistler, on the Fair grounds, will be helped by members of the ground crew and pilots of the Goodyear blimps. The landing operations will be directed by Lieut. K. L. Fickes, naval reserve airship pilot and assistant manager of the Goodyear airship operations. Sheriff Meyering announced last night that he had assigned 200 deputies to keep spectators off the field during the landing.

Landing for Passengers and Mail.

The Zeppelin will be moored while passengers disembark and embark, and mail is loaded and unloaded.

He will meet Dr. Hans Luther, German ambassador to the United States, who is arriving in Chicago by train this morning, at the Bismarck hotel, where they will receive the press at 10 a. m. One hour later they will call upon Mayor Kelly in his office at the city hall, and they will be greeted at A Century of Progress by Rufus C. Dawes, president of the Fair, at 11:30 a. m., entering at the 14th street gate.

Dr. Eckener and Dr. Luther will be guests at a luncheon given by the North German Lloyd at the Midday club at 1 p. m. In the afternoon they will tour the Fair grounds. They will be guests at a banquet tendered by the Union League club at 6:30 p. m., and will attend a reception in their honor given by German-American societies at Medinah temple, 14 East Ohio street, at 9 p. m.

Ship to Circle City Several Times.

When Dr. Eckener leaves the Graf Zeppelin at Curtiss-Wright airport this morning, command of the airship will be taken over by the senior captain, E. A. Lehmann. He will guide the airship over the city in several large circles, then fly it north to Milwaukee, and return during the afternoon to pass over the Fair grounds enroute back to Akron. Dr. Eckener plans to leave Chicago by train tomorrow morning to rejoin the Graf in Akron, where it will take off for Friedrichshafen, Germany, at 8 o'clock Saturday morning.

DARING HOLDUP RING SMASHED BY U. S. AGENTS

Touhy Gang Linked to Robberies.

A nation-wide, closely knit association of criminals in the last two years has flooded Chicago with stolen bonds—the proceeds of seemingly desperate but in fact carefully planned and executed mail robberies.

This disclosure was made last night by postal authorities, who believe that inspectors working out of the Chicago office have broken the conspirators' organization and forced nearly all the principals into jail or into hiding.

$500,000 of Loot Recovered.

As outlined by Chief Inspector Walter Johnson, the main developments thus far have been:

1. Recovery of $500,000 of a total of $613,000 worth of bonds seized in three robberies—one in the Chicago loop on Dec. 6, 1932; another at Sacramento, Cal., on last Feb. 9, and the third on board the steamship Leviathan in New York harbor last year.

2. Establishment of the fact that Chicago was the center of the disposal machinery of the criminal association.

3. Discovery that the Touhy gang of robbers and kidnapers played an important part in mail holdups all over the country.

Two Arrests Disclosed.

Chief Inspector Johnson withheld much of his information on the case until yesterday because two of the most important of the criminals were at liberty. Both are now under arrest. They are George W. [Red] Kerr, who was seized yesterday in the Alto hotel in Chicago, and Arthur Kline, who was captured in California. In Kerr's room, it was reported, bonds valued at a large sum—perhaps $100,000 or more—were found.

It was made plain that there was nothing sudden about the overthrow of the mail robbers. The postal inspectors have been working for months to trap them. The Kerr-Kline episodes and the recovery of the half million dollars are but the continuation of the campaign that was marked early this month by the indictment in Chicago of John J. [Boss] McLaughlin and Edgar B. Lebensberger, alleged fences for the loot.

Lebensberger and Winkler.

Lebensberger, after the indictments were returned secretly, was found shot to death in his luxurious Lake Shore drive home, either a suicide or a victim of murder. He was a friend of Gus Winkler, gang chief who was slain three days later, on Oct. 9, and who is currently believed to have been killed because he was suspected by his gang acquaintances of giving information to postal inspectors.

It is McLaughlin, however, who has appeared in all the investigations as the key man. He may not have been the actual chief in the plot, Chief Inspector Johnson asserted, but, as Mr. Johnson phrased it, "all roads led to the Boss." The loot in the Chicago holdup and in the Leviathan and the Sacramento robberies all was traced to McLaughlin and from him to others in Chicago, investigators said.

Sale Methods Not Disclosed.

Just what methods were used in actually selling the stolen securities was not made known. It was pointed out that with nonregistered Liberty bonds it was quite simple for the temporary possessors to pass in the interest coupons at any bank and collect, no inconsiderable item in dull times in gangland.

Nor were the government men informative on just why Chicago should have been chosen as the proper spot to dispose of the loot. Their only expressed theory was that the gangsters have a good front here and a close organization.

Lebensberger, it was recalled, had the patronage of the smart and semi-smart Chicago social world at his 225 club and possibly contacts that would be used in selling the bonds. It was but a few steps from the depths of gang life, through Winkler and McLaughlin and Lebensberger, to possessors of real and outwardly respectable money.

Link with Touhy Gang.

The connection of the Touhy gang, which was assumed in the past to be hostile to Winkler, was traced through Gloomy Gus Schaefer. This Touhy gangster, with his leader, Roger Touhy, and Edward [Father Tom] McFadden, and Willie Sharkey, is in jail in St. Paul, Minn. All are under federal indictment for kidnaping and collecting a $100,000 ransom from William Hamm Jr., wealthy St. Paul brewer.

Schaefer has been identified as one of the participants in the Sacramento robbery, in which $250,000 was taken. His wife, Ida, is said to have aided the robbers by driving the car in which they escaped. With Kline and Kerr in custody and $200,000 of the loot found, this crime is regarded as well on the way to a final solution. Kerr is being held in bonds of $25,000 and the government plans to send him to California after he has been arraigned before United States Commissioner Walker.

Regain $200,000 of Chicago Loot.

The property taken in the Chicago robbery last December was valued at $237,000, and $200,000 has been recovered. The Leviathan holdup resulted in a loss of about $126,000, mostly in Italian government bonds, and of this $100,000 has been regained.

The arrest of Kerr was made only after Postal Inspector F. W. Spencer, who pursued him here from California, had kept him under surveillance for several days. It was not disclosed whether Kerr had been in touch with the remnants of the Touhy gang which still has its headquarters in the northwest part of Cook county.

Among the inspectors who were given praise by their chief for efficient work in the three cases are D. D. F. Lyons, J. R. McWhorter, John McCarthy, C. R. Gant, and Jack W. Stahl.

Orders Grand Jury Inquiry.

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson yesterday instructed the federal grand jury to determine how Lebensberger learned of the secret indictment. This leak of information and the deaths of Lebensberger and Winkler were regarded at the time as hampering the case against the fences for the mail robbery loot.

Jack Rubens, chief investigator for the public administrator, yesterday found a card index containing the names of 1,000 patrons in the 225 club, which Lebensberger conducted at 225 East Superior street. It has been indicated that some of these patrons might be questioned next Monday at the resumption of the inquest into Winkler's death.

ESCAPED CONVICT GOES ON TRIAL FOR SHOOTING 3

James (Red) Kelly alias Connelly, alias Bryson, went on trial yesterday before a jury in Judge Thomas J. Lynch's Criminal court. He is charged with assault to murder.

Kelly is charged with shooting Joseph Dombkowski, 3531 South 53d court, his brother, John, and John Brennan, 3062 South 54th court, Cicero, as the three watched Kelly play cards. State's Attorney Irwin Clorfene said that he believes Kelly thought the men were policemen.

Kelly was sentenced on Aug. 18, 1922, to life imprisonment in Baltimore for murder and robbery. He escaped May 10, 1923. He was returned Dec. 20, 1924, but escaped again March 15, 1929. Baltimore authorities have asked that he be returned there, but State's Attorney Courtney ruled he should first be prosecuted in Chicago.

Two Youths Get One Year for Tampering with Auto

AUTOMOBILE THEFTS.
Stolen, 71; recovered, 58; stripped, 8 (from police records for twenty-four hours ending at midnight Tuesday).

Frank Rizzo, 18 years old, 2512 Wentworth avenue, and Andrew Bonelli, 25 years old, 246 West 25th street, pleaded guilty to a charge of tampering with an automobile and were sentenced to serve a year in the House of Correction yesterday by Judge L. K. Hayes in Boy's court. Charges against the two had been continued five times because of the failure of Dr. Simon A. Wile, 5520 South Shore drive, owner of the car which, it was alleged, the boys attempted to steal, to appear in court. The physician was summoned yesterday on a subpoena.

Spain Arrests Russian Who Fled from Brooklyn

SEVILLE, Spain, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Police arrested on a charge of undesirability today a Russian extremist who, they said, confessed he fled from the United States because he was wanted in Brooklyn. He used several aliases such as Jose Ferreras and Apostoles Anthich.

MURDER TRIAL OF 42 GANGSTER NEARING JURY

Slaying of an Innocent Bystander Described.

The murder trial of William Madden, 26 years old, alleged member of the "42" gang, moved rapidly to a conclusion yesterday before a jury qualified for the death penalty in the Criminal court of Judge Benjamin P. Epstein.

Madden and Michael De Stefano, a fugitive, are alleged to have shot and killed Emil Onesta, 40 years old, 940 Polk street, an innocent bystander, last July 18 when they were trying to murder Frank Laino, chauffeur for "Dago Lawrence" Mangano, west side gang leader.

Onesta was killed as he stood in front of 1139 West Taylor street. Although more than 50 persons witnessed the killing the state found only one man willing to testify at the trial. He is Ernest Cozzi, 1148 West Taylor street, who identified both Madden and De Stefano.

Gathering Defense Fund.

Evidence showed that Madden and De Stefano set out to gather defense funds for Sam De Stefano, brother of the missing defendant, who is now serving a sentence for bank robbery in the Wisconsin state prison. Their demands were refused by Laino. After obtaining weapons Madden and De Stefano returned to the scene of the conference.

They cruised slowly passed 1139 West Taylor street, according to the testimony, and fired several shots at Laino as he stood in front of the door. Finding that they had missed their target Madden and De Stefano circled around the block and fired another volley at Laino.

Laino was wounded and Onesta fell dead with 125 slugs in his body. The following day a policeman, Salvatore Corsi, saw Madden and De Stefano and sought to arrest them. They escaped after firing several shots at the policeman.

Both were arrested later in Kansas City and De Stefano was released after he had convinced the police that he was innocent. He has not been recaptured and it is reported that he has gone to Italy.

Start Another Murder Trial.

A second murder trial in which the state is asking the death penalty was started yesterday in the court of Judge James Fardy. A jury was selected to try James Ryan, said to be a member of the Touhy gang, for the slaying of John Rinella, owner of a roadhouse in River road near Higgins road.

The state charges that Ryan and a companion, who has never been apprehended, entered the roadhouse on Dec. 16, 1932, and demanded that Rinella buy beer from the Touhy gang.

When he refused, the prosecution charged, one of the men shot out the lights. Then Ryan and his companion are alleged to have left the place and returned with a machine gun. The state charges that they calmly set up the machine gun and riddled Rinella with bullets.

The lone witness for the state, John Maitland, a janitor in the roadhouse, is near death with cancer and the prosecution has sought to rush the trial in order to have his testimony before he succumbs. Miss Marie Fleck, sweetheart of Rinella, had identified Ryan as one of the men who entered the roadhouse, but disappeared before she could be subpoenaed to testify.

The confessions of John Scheck and Carl Grundhoefer, who are on trial for the murder of Harry Mueller, Niles Center bank cashier, were read to a jury yesterday in the Criminal court of Judge William V. Brothers. These confessions, made to police, have since been repudiated.

On trial with Scheck, who is under sentence to die for the courtroom murder of Policeman John G. Sevick, and Grundhoefer, is Frank Keglovitz, alleged driver of the bandit car.

Miss Jeannette Ruesch, a stenographer in the First National Bank of Niles Center, was called to the stand and identified Scheck and Grundhoefer as the men who held up the bank on April 7. She testified that she saw Grundhoefer put a gun against Mueller's stomach and then heard the fatal shot.

Sentence 2 to Prison.

William P. Farrell, a bailiff who was present in the courtroom of Judge Charles P. Molthrop when Scheck made a break for freedom and killed Policeman Sevick with a smuggled revolver, was called by the state. His appearance was the signal for an outburst of objections from defense Attorneys James M. Burke and Emmett Byrne. After hearing arguments Judge Brothers ruled that the bailiff might testify to the attempted escape and to the fact that there was shooting in the courtroom.

Two sentences yesterday in the Criminal court brought to 475 the number of sentences since the opening of the war on crime. Those sentenced are:

George O'Neil, 24 years old, sentenced by Judge Thomas J. Lynch to serve 1 to 20 years for the theft of an automobile from Otto Luken, 1941 North Francisco avenue.

Roy Leeland, 18 years old, sentenced by Judge Francis B. Allegretti to serve one year to life for the burglary of the home of Roy Morris, 7116 Cornell avenue.

BRITON BLAMES AUTO FOR GREAT INCREASE OF DAYLIGHT ROBBERY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 25.—H. R. Scott, chairman of the home office prison commission, addressing the Magistrates' association today, declared that burglary in Britain is dying out and being abandoned in favor of daylight robbery, "as a result of the use of the motor car, which gives criminals more security."

Despite this Britain is still the safest country in the world and there is actually a decrease in crimes of robbery with violence. Offenses against property without violence, however, more than doubled.

Scott revealed that of 59,000 persons convicted, 42 per cent are under 21 years of age. He quoted figures showing that of 6,000 men, 90 per cent of those imprisoned for the first time never returned. Referring to a committee which is considering imprisonment for debtors, he stated that 14,500 persons were imprisoned last year because they could not meet their creditors.

BOMB DAMAGES GOV. GORE'S HOME IN PORTO RICO

Chicagoan Charges Plot by Political Foes.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Gov. Robert H. Gore of Chicago and Florida disclosed today that a bomb explosion had damaged his summer residence at Jajome Alto last Sunday night shortly after he and Col. E. Francis Riggs, the insular police chief, had left the place for San Juan. Jajome Alto is in the mountains about two hours by motor from San Juan.

Gore said he learned of the bomb from a policeman on guard at the residence. The governor sent officers to Jajome Alto at once to learn the extent of the damage.

Another bomb was placed outside the governor's office window on Monday during disturbances at the University of Porto Rico growing out of a student strike.

Charges Political Conspiracy.

"This," Gore declared, "was purely the work of some political conspirators which I know the people of Porto Rico decry and hold in contempt."

Gore also told of receiving an anonymous letter warning of a plot to poison himself and his family. He said he thought nothing of the letter at the time, but turned it over to police for investigation after warning all his household employes to be watchful.

The governor, asked concerning reports of his plans to leave with his family by plane tomorrow, replied that he expected to remain here tomorrow and "every other day so far as I know."

Students Boycott Classes.

The student strike was called in connection with the appointment of Rafael Alonzo Torres, a Socialist, as a university trustee. The University Alumni association said they would ask him to withdraw from the board and that they would support the student strike if he refused to do so.

Only ten students attended classes yesterday, and Chancellor Chardon said even fewer were present today.

Police were stationed on the university campus for the first time today.

Many parents declined to permit their sons and daughters even to try to attend classes, fearing possible interference by soldiers following upon a conference the governor called yesterday with the commanding officers of the National Guard and the regular army.

Gore Refuses to Fire Alonzo.

An alumni association committee conducted a long conference today with Gore and asked the withdrawal of Representative Alonzo as a move to end the student strike, which began a week ago.

The governor refused the request, but suggested that if all students would return to classes he would appoint six "outstanding citizens" to consider charges of "nonqualification" made against the trustee. The governor said he appointed the Socialist as a representative of the working people, who, he added, are entitled to membership on the university board.

SALESMAN DIES SUDDENLY.

Charles H. Russell, 39 years old, of Akron, O., died suddenly of heart disease yesterday in his room at the Stevens hotel. He was a salesman for the Goodrich Rubber company of Akron.

HIGH SCHOOL YOUTH MAY DIE OF INJURIES IN FRAT INITIATION

Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Crushed when a heavy tombstone fell on him during fraternity initiation, Edward Briggs, 18, student at West High school, today was probably fatally injured.

The youth and several others were being initiated late last night in an abandoned cemetery. At the hospital members of the fraternity volunteered blood transfusions when it was found his chest was crushed.

Charles Holzwarth, principal of the high school, said no action was contemplated. High schools here have banned fraternities, he said, and anything that happened was on the youths' own initiative.

HEAR FUGITIVE TAX FIXER IS HIDING IN EAST

Herman J. Goldberg, the jail dodging tax fixer, is in New York and intends to stay there until he can raise bond to guarantee him his liberty while he is appealing his conviction to the Supreme court, deputies of Sheriff William D. Meyering declared yesterday.

The sheriff's office has been carrying on a rather desultory search for Goldberg since Aug. 18, when the Appellate court affirmed his conviction of tax fixing before Judge Joseph Sabath and his sentence of three months' imprisonment in the county jail and a $1,000 fine.

Goldberg, according to the sheriff's men, has been missing since from his home at 7663 Sheridan road. One of the deputies said he had made 18 trips to the home in an effort to arrest the fugitive. According to previous reports, the attempts to find Goldberg proceeded about as follows:

"Is Mr. Goldberg in?" the deputy would ask after ringing the doorbell.

"No, he is in the east," he would be told.

"When will Mr. Goldberg be back?" he would then ask.

"I do not know," would be the answer.

"Thank you, good-by."

"Good-by."

SERVES NOTICE OF WOMAN'S SUIT ON H.F.M'CORMICK

Expect to Delay Case to Try It Under New Code.

In the blue and gold bedroom of his mansion at 675 Rush street, Harold F. McCormick was served yesterday afternoon with a summons in the $1,500,000 suit brought against him by Mrs. Rhoda Tanner Doubleday, a divorcée, long prominent in New York society. Reclining in blue silk pajamas on a four poster bed, the Chicago capitalist took the paper from an abashed deputy sheriff and tossed it carelessly on a night table.

As he received official notice of the praecipe filed in the Circuit court here on Tuesday afternoon, his attorneys prepared to fight the breach of promise action. It was indicated that the first real battle ground will be in the state Supreme court on a motion to proceed with the trial of the case under the new civil practice act, which becomes effective Jan. 1.

See Settlement Out of Court.

Meanwhile, attorneys for Mrs. Doubleday expressed themselves as confident that the case would never be tried, but would be settled out of court. From New York Attorney Henry A. Uterhart, declaring he had many affectionate letters of Mr. McCormick's to support his case, said he could not possibly see how the defendant could permit the case to be tried. The law firm of Urion, Drucker, Bishop & Boutell, Mrs. Doubleday's Chicago attorneys, was preparing a breach of promise declaration yesterday.

The summons was served on Mr. McCormick by Deputy Sheriff George Deegan, who presented himself at the home to learn that Mr. McCormick was taking a nap. When he was told to return at dinner time, Deegan prepared to wait and gathered his coat about himself as protection against a drizzling rain and sat on the doorstep.

A few minutes later he was called into the home and ushered to the bedroom. Deegan said he was sorry he had to meet Mr. McCormick under such circumstances. They shook hands.

"I hope I have not inconvenienced you," said Mr. McCormick. "I have to take a certain amount of rest, you know."

Expect Delay in Case.

Mr. McCormick and his attorney, John P. Wilson, have refused to discuss the action. According to Mrs. Doubleday's attorneys her friendship with the millionaire began two years ago and a verbal proposal of marriage was made last November.

It was pointed out by Attorney Wilson that the case probably will not be brought into court until next year when the new civil practice act will be in force. This act outlaws praecipes and gives defense attorneys the right to force attorneys for complainants to reveal all documents relating to a case and upon what claims the action will be brought.

Such information would be invaluable to the defense in the present action, it was said, and efforts will be made to obtain it. Judges and attorneys are agreed that this question must be decided by the Supreme court. They are divided in opinion as to whether suits filed prior to Jan. 1, 1933, should be carried on under the old or new code of practice.

From Woman's Attorneys.

Attorneys for Mrs. Doubleday said that if such a stand were taken in behalf of Mr. McCormick, it would be done merely to delay final disposition of the case, if not to drag the case for the purpose of effecting a more acceptable settlement. An appeal to the Supreme court might delay hearing of the case for a year, even without considering the usual delay in an appeal from the finding of the Circuit court after trial.

In declaring himself certain of a settlement, Attorney Uterhart said: "This was no mild flirtation or platonic affection. There was a definite understanding between Mr. McCormick and Mrs. Doubleday. There certainly could be no more definite contract of marriage than this one. The proposal was verbal, of course, but such proposals usually are.

"The letters—and there are many of them—are not mere friendship letters. He declared his devotion in most affectionate terms, and their approaching marriage was mentioned in them several times."

MALLORCA TO PUT FIVE AMERICANS ON TRIAL TODAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PALMA, Mallorca, Oct. 25.—An infantry colonel and three infantry and three cavalry captains will form the imposing military court which at 10 a. m. tomorrow will begin to judge with martial ceremony five Americans accused of attacking a member of the Spanish civil guard in the ping-pong room of a Palma hotel on June 4.

The public prosecutor is believed likely to ask at least six years in prison for all five defendants, while the defense is hoping to get all acquitted except Mr. and Mrs. Clinton B. Lockwood of West Springfield, Mass. It is considered likely that the military court will support the authority of the civil guard. It also is considered likely that the court will show resentment against the intervention of Premier Manuel Azana at Madrid, who procured the release on bail of the five Americans after they had lain seven weeks in Palma's unpleasant dungeons. United States Consul General Dawson, under instructions of the state department, will be here to attend the trial.

Besides the Lockwoods, Roderick F. Mead of New York, Rutherford Fullerton of Columbus, O., and Edmund W. Boldgett of Stamford, Conn., will go on trial.

MOTHER SEEKS COURT WRIT TO RECOVER GIRL, 14

Mrs. Dora Terry, 5841 South Francisco avenue, filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus yesterday in the Circuit court to recover custody of her daughter, Dixie, 14 years old.

The petition, filed by Attorney Carlyle Guibor, is directed against Sister Mary Aloysia, mother superior of St. Joseph's Home for the Friendless, 739 East 35th street. The petition charges that the girl has been held in the home since Oct. 11.

Judge Stanley H. Klarkowski continued the hearing until tomorrow morning when he was told that it was impossible to get the girl to court for a hearing yesterday.

IDENTIFIED AS ROBBER.

Grand Island, Neb., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Sheriff Dan Sanders today said three witnesses to the $51,000 Nebraska National bank robbery here a year ago have identified William Sharkey, 38, who is in jail in St. Paul, as one of the robbers.

ARBITRATE 25% PAY RAISE FOR BUILDING TRADES

Plasterers' Demands May Boost Scale.

Arbitration of wage demands by union plasterers and lathers, which may result in a 25 per cent increase in pay for all union laborers employed in building construction in Chicago, is under way here under the direction of B. M. Marshman, federal department of labor conciliator, it became known yesterday. A strike called by the international plasterers' and lathers' unions has been in effect since Oct. 1.

The strike was called against members of the Employing Plasterers' association, an organization of contractors, which in the past has employed 85 per cent of the plasterers and lathers in the city. The chief point in conflict is the demand by the union for a $12 a day wage regardless of the number of hours put in by the plasterers.

Demand 8-Hour Day.

The association has informed the federal arbiter that they are willing to pay plasterers a wage of $12 for an eight hour day or $1.50 an hour. This offer has not been accepted, it was explained yesterday, pending completion of the national building trades' code in Washington. The unions are trying to gain a six hour working day and to maintain their pay at a $12 a day basis.

Percy C. World, secretary of the Employing Plasterers' association, said yesterday that if the code fixes the building trades working day at six hours, the members of the association are not willing to maintain the $12 salary.

He said that the union demands, in effect, take the laboring man off an hourly pay basis and put him on a weekly pay basis. If he were put on an hourly pay basis, the secretary pointed out, the plasterers' and lathers' pay would amount to $2 an hour, or a 25 per cent increase.

Level Wage Town.

Chicago, said the secretary, is a "level wage" town. That means that all members of the building construction unions are paid at the same hourly rates. Plumbers, carpenters, electricians, plasterers, brick layers, all are paid $1.50 an hour, he said. If the plasterers and lathers get wages of $2 an hour, all the other trades will demand the same scale, he asserted.

Labor union officials yesterday estimated that less than 3,000 out of the 60,000 members of various building trades unions are employed at their own trades in Chicago. Nevertheless, they said, all the men now at work, or those who may work in the future, would be affected by the wage increase.

The arbitration between the contractors' association and the unions has been quietly conducted for several weeks. Another meeting is to be held some time today.

Railroad to Demonstrate New High Speed Train Here

Officials of the Edward G. Budd Manufacturing company announced yesterday that the two car, high speed, stainless steel train built for the Texas and Pacific railroad would be demonstrated in Chicago. Demonstration runs will be made from the Union station to Aurora and return on Monday and Tuesday. The air-conditioned train is capable of making better than 75 miles per hour and has an acceleration of 2½ miles per hour per second. The leading car of the train carries the power plant which consists of two 240 horse power 12 cylinder gasoline engines.

CITY GETS SNOW AND A FREEZE, FIRST OF SEASON

Eastern U. S. and Canada Swept by Storms.

The first snow and the first freezing weather of the season arrived together in Chicago and suburbs yesterday. Snow flurries greeted loop workers yesterday morning and the temperature fell to an official low of 32 degrees.

Snow also fell in the suburbs and unofficial temperatures of 25 degrees were reported from several points in the county. Weather Forecaster C. A. Donnel said that both the snow and low temperatures were a month ahead of time. The first freezing temperature is normally recorded about Nov. 18, the forecaster said.

Cloudy Weather Today.

Cloudy and unsettled weather, with slowly rising temperatures, was forecast for Chicago today. Showers are predicted for tonight. A rapidly moving low pressure area from the northwest is scheduled to cause snow in upper Michigan, Wisconsin, and Minnesota.

The arrival of winter was reported in widely scattered sections of the United States and Canada. In Duluth, Minn., 12 inches of snow fell, the heaviest October fall in 47 years. Several small Adirondack communities were isolated by a blizzard that struck northern New York.

Heavy Damage in Vermont.

Many automobile parties were marooned and lines of communication were broken before the storm ended at daybreak. Damage estimated at thousands of dollars was caused by a snowstorm in northern Vermont. Trees, telephone poles, and communication lines were swept down as the snow reached a depth of four to five inches.

The snow reached a depth of a foot in Quebec. The New York to Montreal road was pronounced "treacherous" and international buses were running from eight to ten hours behind time.

Gale Sweeps Northeast U. S.

New York, Oct. 25.—[Special.]—A howling Arctic gale swept across the northeastern states and Canada today, bringing the first severe snowstorm of the season. No snow fell in New York City; but in sections up-state and beyond the storm assumed the proportions of a blizzard. The wind, which reached a maximum velocity of 57 miles an hour in New York, kept police emergency crews busy removing damaged signs and cornices.

New York City's maximum temperature was only 49. That was at 1 a. m. By 6 a. m. the mercury had dropped to 37. But after the sun rose, the thermometer climbed back into the forties and remained there until late in the day. Then another decline set in. At 9 p. m. it was down to 36 and still falling.

At Elizabethtown, N. Y., the ground was covered with snow to a depth of twelve inches in some places. Many roads were blocked; trees and communcation lines were felled; and a number of communities were isolated. Fears were expressed for hundreds of hunters caught in the Adirondacks by the storm. One hunter was known to be lost. Damage estimated at thousands of dollars was caused in northern Vermont, with a snow ranging up to five inches covering the region.

TRICK RADIOS FREE LEAGUE DELEGATES FROM SESSION HALL

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

GENEVA, Oct. 25.—A pocket radio receiving set allowing delegates and newspaper men to listen in on the proceedings of the disarmament conference's general commission, while walking or talking in the lobby, drinking at the bar or working in the press room will be tested at tomorrow's session.

The set is about the size and shape of the round tin containers in which standard typewriter ribbons are sold. It weighs only a few ounces. A wire connects it with ear phones.

The stationery equipment consists of a microphone in the general commission hall, connected by a single wire antenna stretched in the form of a rectangle above and around the lobby and press room. The system was invented and made in Sweden and has been tried out before only in Stockholm.

OPPOSES TRUST FUND CHANGE BY ROCKEFELLER

New York, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Mrs. Muriel McCormick Hubbard of Middletown, Conn., charged in the Supreme court today her grandfather, John D. Rockefeller Sr., had no legal right to change the terms of a trust fund established for her mother, the late Edith Rockefeller McCormick of Chicago.

Under the terms of the trust fund after the change was made, Mrs. Hubbard asserted, the late Mrs. McCormick could not bequeath the fund to her children outright. Mrs. Hubbard's action was in answer to a suit brought by the Chase National bank, fund trustee, against the Chicago Title and Trust company, executor of her mother's estate, to obtain judicial determination of the rights of Mrs. McCormick's children.

Mrs. Hubbard claimed four-sevenths of the trust, which she said at present is composed of 255,671 shares of the capital stock of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, having a par value of $25 a share and a cash value of $39.72 a share.

The trust, established July 1, 1917, increased through stock dividends and division of shares from 12,000 shares of Standard Oil Company of Indiana stock.

Under the original agreemet, Mrs. Hubbard contended, Rockefeller gave his daughter the right to dispose of the trust in her will so that its principal might be divided among her children and charities in outright gifts.

Mrs. Hubbard asked the court to void an arrangement made by the senior Rockefeller with Mrs. McCormick a few years after establishment of the trust whereby only the income from the trust was to be divided among the children after Mrs. McCormick's death.

Other children of Mrs. McCormick are Fowler McCormick and Mathilde McCormick Oser.

BY EARL MULLIN.

Policemen, 800 strong, including detectives, patrolmen, mounted traffic men, and motor details, will invade the Fair today. But it is a peaceful invasion. No one is to be arrested and the policemen are not looking for trouble. In fact, their visit is to receive an expression of gratitude for the manner in which they prevented trouble all during the summer.

Visitors to Chicago during the Fair have complimented the police departments for the courteous manner in which traffic snarls have been untangled and for the uniform courtesy in which questions have been answered. The Fair management decided this service was worthy of recognition. Today's program is the result.

Only 18 More Days Remain in Which to See the Fair

Luncheon for Commanders.

The formalities will be opened with a luncheon for commanding officers in the directors' room of the Administration building. The following departments will be represented: City, Lincoln, south and west parks, county and state police.

At 1 p. m. the details will assemble in the Court of Honor for a review, following which they will parade to the Court of States for a formal program. The line of march will include the guides' band and American Legion units.

Among the speakers at the ceremony will be Mayor Kelly, President Dawes, and Police Commisisoner Allman. The Fair president will formally thank the police for the aid they have given the Exposition. At the conclusion of the program the ranking officer in each division will be presented with a stand of flags, the city, national and Fair standards.

Welcome Graf's Crew Today.

Also honored today will be the crew of the Graf Zeppelin, with Commander Hugo Eckener as the distinguished guest at the ceremonies. The Graf will land early this morning and will fly over the city and the Fair grounds during the day.

Yesterday's attendance, totaling 47,079 at 11:30 p. m., was the lowest since June 8, when 43,187 admissions were recorded. The lowest figures since that date were in the sixty thousand brackets.

Indictments Returned in Case of Nelson Bros.

Indictments voted last week against five persons associated with Nelson Bros., Inc., brokerage house at 134 North La Salle street, were returned by the grand jury yesterday.

CENTURY OF PROGRESS NOTES

President Roosevelt, who expressed regret that he was unable to tour all of the Fair buildings during his brief visit, will now view them in pictures. A large album, containing views of all the buildings and exhibits, was sent to him by Rufus C. Dawes, president of the Fair. The sending followed a short ceremony in Mr. Dawes' office, during which the album was presented to Mr. Dawes by T. E. Donnelly, chairman of the board of the printing company publishing the view books.

Wallie Heymar, cellist, and Ruth Breytspraak, violinist, will be guest artists tonight at the Illinois Host house. The program, with Arthur Becker at the piano, begins at 8 p. m.

Howard Keith, a student of Berea college, Berea, Ky., hitch hiked his way to the Fair, found an unoccupied space about 10 feet square, and has now sold over $2,000 worth of student made wares to Fair vistors. When he arrived in Chicago he had only $2. Now he has brought his mother to Chicago and is showing her the Fair.

Anna Bel Robbins, Chicago concert pianist, yesterday completed her 22d consecutive week at the Fair. She is the only woman who contracted a concert program at the Exposition and conducts the only program which has appeared without fail during the entire summer. Assisted by guest artists, she presented concert music in the restaurant in the Travel and Transport building.

Plans were completed yesterday for a series of victory celebrations to be held at the Pantheon de la Guerre during Armistice week, which will mark the closing of the Fair. Daily programs, in which the army, navy, marines and veterans' organizations will participate, will be given.

PATRIOTIC CLUBS OF WOMEN GIVEN PARTY AT FAIR

A reception in honor of the several patriotic societies of women was held yesterday afternoon in the Illinois Host house at the Fair. The Illinois commission to the Fair and the Chicago chapter of the American Red Cross were hosts.

The organizations honored were the Daughters of the American Revolution, the Colonial Dames, the Women's Overseas Service league, the Italian Woman's club, and the Daughters of the British Empire. After the reception and the serving of refreshments patriotic airs were played by the Heymar-Greytspraak ensemble.

Among those participating were Rear Admiral and Mrs. Wat T. Cluverius, Mrs. Edwin W. Ryerson, Mrs. Farwell Winston, Mrs. Robert Peck, Mrs. J. A. Ostrom, Mrs. William F. Williamson, Mrs. Joseph M. Cudahy, Mrs. John Cornwall, and Mrs. Charles Garfield King.

Green and Keenan Depart to Aid Drive on Racketeers

United States Attorney Dwight H. Green departed yesterday for Washington with Joseph B. Keenan, newly appointed head of the criminal division of the attorney general's office, to discuss an offensive against racketeers with Attorney General Homer S. Cummings. The testimony of Attorney Green before the senate committee investigating racketeering was said to have been well received in Washington, and he is to enlarge on his ideas at the Washington conference.

BAR PEEP SHOWS IN '34, RELIGIOUS BODY TELLS FAIR

Unless the World's Fair directors agree to keep peep shows and other salacious exhibits closed there will be neither a Hall of Religion nor religious participation in the proposed continuation of the Fair in 1934. This reply was made to the Fair board by the committee on A Century of Progress Through Religion in answer to the board's inquiry concerning religious participation should the Fair continue.

The answer was made public by Walter R. Mee, secretary of the religious committee, yesterday as he told of a meeting of the religious committee held on Tuesday. He stated that the committee, which is composed not only of Christian but also of Jewish leaders, asserted that religious participation in the Fair is tantamount to approval for "the present moral conditions at the Fair, which are growing steadily worse and worse."

Even if this condition is met, the religious committee's reply to the Fair board indicated that a number of financial problems would have to be solved before the final word on the religious exhibit could be given. The Hall of Religion is said to rank next in popularity to the Hall of Science in the educational and cultural group at the Fair.

$4,000 Verdict Awarded Victim of Auto Crash

A verdict of $4,000 was returned yesterday by the jury before Superior Judge E. I. Frankhauser in favor of John Krasneski, 3433 North Monticello avenue, for injuries he suffered in an automobile accident March 22, 1931. Through Attorneys V. Russell Donaghy and Leo G. Hana, he had sued William Petrowski, 5227 South California avenue, for $10,000. The accident occurred at 60th street and Cottage Grove avenue where Petrowski's car collided with an automobile in which Krasneski was a passenger. Krasneski incurred a broken hip bone.

GRAF ZEPPELIN ARRIVES TODAY; LEAVES AKRON

Lands This Morning, Then Circles Over Chicago.

yesterday morning with a crew of 47 men and 21 passengers.

Among those who accepted an invitation to make the trip from Akron to Chicago and return on board the Zeppelin were Dr. Karl Arnstein, chief engineer of the Goodyear Zeppelin company; Mayor C. Nelson Sparks of Akron; Congressman Dow Harter of Akron; Fred M. Harpham, vice president of the Goodyear corporation; Ewing Y. Mitchell, assistant secretary of commerce; Eugene L. Vidal, director, aeronautics branch, department of commerce; Maj. J. Carroll Cone, chief of air regulations, department of commerce; Second Assistant Postmaster General William Howes; Dr. George W. Lewis, director of research, national advisory commission for aeronautics; Ronald M. Byrnes, director, International Zeppelin Transport corporation, West Orange, N. J.; William B. Leeds, New York; Maj. E. E. Aldrin, aviation director, Standard Oil of New Jersey; Maj. William E. Kepner, air corps; William Francis Forbes-Sempill, air attaché of the British embassy; Col. Breithaupt, air attaché of the German embassy, and M. C. Meigs of Chicago.

Load 20,090 Letters Here.

While the passengers disembark, several hundred pounds of air mail from Europe will be unloaded. About 20,000 letters received by the postoffice here, bearing a special stamp commemorating the flight, will be placed on board the Zeppelin. They weigh about 625 pounds. This consignment will be added to 10,000 letters placed on board at Akron yesterday.

Several passengers will embark on the Graf Zeppelin here. They include Dr. Leon W. Parsons, chief technician, Tidewater Oil company, New York, and Mrs. Parsons; Karl Eitel of the Bismarck hotel, U. Grant Smith of A Century of Progress, and A. C. E. Schmidt, western passenger manager of the Hamburg-American line, booking agents for the airship. They will travel to Akron, where all guests will leave the ship and European passengers will embark.

Chicagoans Fly to Europe.

Three Chicagoans will board the Zeppelin for the return trip to Europe, Mr. Schmidt said yesterday. One is Col. Charles E. Bartley of the United States army finance department, who is traveling to Seville. Mr. Schmidt said the two other travelers did not want their identity known until the Zeppelin sails from Akron.

When the Graf Zeppelin arrives over Chicago today it will mark the end of a 13,500 mile trip from Friedrichshafen, Germany, via Rio de Janeiro, Miami, Fla., and Akron. The return voyage will be considerably shorter via Seville, Spain, to Friedrichshafen. The trip to Chicago was started on Oct. 14 and will terminate, if the airship keeps to her schedule, next Tuesday at the base in Germany.

This trip will bring the log of the Graf Zeppelin to a total of 473,000 miles, a total flying time of more than 7,600 hours, since the craft was completed five years ago. In that mileage is include a trip to the United States, made in October, 1928; the around the world flight in August, 1929, when the Zeppelin passed over Chicago on Aug. 28, and a regular service between Germany and Brazil, which was established in 1932.

The Graf Zeppelin is second in size only to the U. S. S. Macon, the navy's new lighter than air cruiser. The Zeppelin is 776 feet in length and has a gas capacity of 3,700,000 cubic feet, compared to the 785 foot length and the 6,500,000 cubic foot capacity of the Macon. The Zeppelin is sustained by hydrogen gas, while the Macon uses noninflammable helium.

Dr. Eckener, commander of the craft, is a veteran in lighter than air travel. He is 65 years old. He became interested in lighter than air ships through his criticism of Count Zeppelin's experiments as a newspaper correspondent. The two were brought together and Count Zeppelin converted Dr. Eckener into one of his strongest supporters and so influenced him that he carried on the count's work after his death.

QUICK! STOP THAT COLD
IN THE DRY OR FIRST STAGE!

A cold ordinarily goes through three stages: The Dry Stage the first 24 hours; the Watery Secretion Stage, from 1 to 3 days; and the Mucuous Secretion Stage. It is twice as easy stopped in the first as in the second or third stages. In fact, to let a cold run beyond the first stage is inviting trouble.

As your doctor will tell you, there is nothing better you can take for a cold than Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine. It is expressly a cold remedy and not a "cure-all". It is an internal treatment which a cold requires. It is complete in effect. It does the four things necessary.

First, it opens the bowels. Second, it combats the cold germs in the system and reduces the fever. Third, it relieves the headache and grippy feeling. Fourth, it tones the entire system and fortifies it against further attack. Anything less than that is inviting trouble.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine contains nothing harmful and is absolutely safe to take. For more than forty years it has been the standard cold and grippe tablet of the world, the formula always keeping pace with Modern Medicine.

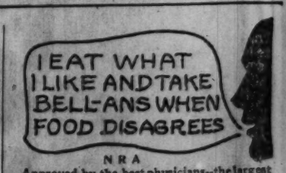

Every druggist sells Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine, 30c and 50c. Only druggists more interested in making an extra profit rather than in your welfare offer you a substitute. When a cold threatens, don't wait or delay, but go right to your druggist for Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine. Always ask for it by the full name and look for the letters L B Q on every tablet.

CITY COUNCIL ASKS FAIR TO REOPEN IN 1934

Plans for Celebration of Personal Liberty Day.

The city council by a unanimous vote yesterday adopted a resolution urging officials of the World's Fair to reopen the exposition in 1934 to give additional millions of Americans an opportunity to see the scientific wonders displayed there.

Several aldermen introduced resolutions in favor of a 1934 fair, which Mayor Kelly has already urged upon Fair officials. At the suggestion of the mayor, the resolution chosen was amended to urge the state assembly to vote the legislation necessary to continue the Fair.

Pushes Liberty Day Plans.

The council also adopted the resolution of Ald. John Coughlin [1st] calling upon Mayor Kelly to proclaim Nov. 8 Personal Liberty Day, in honor of the expected ratification the previous day of the 21st, or repeal, amendment by the requisite 36 states or more. Mayor Kelly appointed a committee of aldermen to arrange for celebration of the day at the Fair.

The principal task of the aldermanic committee will be to find donors for the 1,000 barrels of beer and the 200,000 sandwiches which it is planned to give to those who go to the Fair to celebrate Personal Liberty Day. Fair officials, at the insistence of the W. C. T. U., have dubbed it Personal Responsibility Day, but the council took no notice of that action yesterday.

Mayor Names Committee.

To the celebration committee Mayor Kelly appointed Ald. Coughlin [1st], Jacob M. Arvey [24th], John S. Clark [30th], James B. Bowler [25th], B. A. Cronson [4th], John Toman [23d], Terence F. Moran [16th], Thomas Keane [31st], Henry Sonnenschein [22d], Thomas J. Terrell [29th], Joseph Rostenkowski [32d], Robert R. Jackson [3d], William V. Pacelli [20th], John J. Lagodney [21st], Albert S. Schultz [47th], Mathias Bauler [43d], and Harold Perry [18th].

Ald. Coughlin's resolution also provided that all city offices except the police, fire and health departments close at noon on Nov. 8.

The plan to provide free beer and sandwiches was protested yesterday by the Chicago Church federation as "thoughtless and unwise." A resolution adopted by the federation pointed to the needs of the hungry and destitute in the city and said the proposal is "to the special benefit of the brewing industry at the expense of other beverage industries."

"Navy Day" Quilt Is on Exhibition

Urges Strong Navy

The slogan "A strong navy, a strong nation" was the keynote of a talk yesterday by Capt. F. L. Roberts, naval representative at A Century of Progress, as he sketched the development of the American navy at the annual luncheon of Naval post of the American Legion held in the Ivory room, Mandel Brothers' store. The luncheon was a preliminary observance of Navy day, which will be celebrated throughout the nation tomorrow. Plans were announced at the luncheon for the post's participation in the Navy day program at the World's Fair tomorrow. Attention was also called to an exhibit by the Salvation Army in the Hall of Religion where historic flags and hand made quilts are to be displayed.

WIGGIN GIVES UP $100,000 A YEAR CHASE PENSION

Cuban Dealings of Bank Inquiry Subject.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Albert H. Wiggin, for years head of the Chase National bank, today gave up his retired pay of $100,000 a year because of criticism resulting from the current inquiry into the financial house's operations by the senate banking committee.

Wiggin's letter to the bank board was put in the committee's record without comment by Ferdinand Pecora, its counsel, in an interruption of his investigation into Cuban dealings of the 2 billion dollar banking firm.

While the bank's board met in New York to accept Wiggin's proposal, Pecora, in questioning Shepard Morgan, a vice president, developed that it floated $40,000,000 in Cuban securities in America with knowledge of a Cuban treasury deficit.

Made Public Through Pecora.

The voluntary yielding by Wiggin of his for life annuity was made public by the banking official through Pecora, who announced the following letter from Wiggin to the board, dated Oct. 24:

"At the time of the agreement to pay me annual compensation of $100,000, it was believed to be in the best interests of the bank. As the agreement has been criticized I beg to request that it be terminated."

Wiggin declined further comment as Pecora handed the letter to newspaper men. Winthrop W. Aldrich, who succeeded the elderly Wiggin as head of the bank last January, would say nothing about the action.

Chairman Fletcher [Dem., Fla.] of the committee, who had heard evidence before the committee that the banker was paid as much as $250,000 a year while in charge of the institution, told newspaper men:

"I regard it as a very appropriate move by Mr. Wiggin."

Several other senators, declining to comment publicly, said privately they considered the action "one more justification for this inquiry into banking and stock market practices."

Pecora developed in the questioning of Morgan that $30,000,000 in serial certificates of the Cuban government held by Chase Bank and Associates were paid off before $30,000,000 held by the public, although the public's holdings bore earlier maturity dates.

The committee's counsel then brought out that a prospectus in the public offering of $40,000,000 in long term Cuban bonds in 1930 for refunding the serial or short term paper did not show that Cuba's treasury had a $7,000,000 deficit the preceding year.

The loans were made originally, Pecora told the committee, for financing Cuba's public works program. The committee counsel asserted there was no check by the bank to determine whether the money was spent "fraudulently or not."

Morgan contended that a special account was entered on Cuba's financial ledgers, but agreed the moneys were commingled with other funds in the treasury, explaining that his lawyers had advised him that funds were earmarked, legally, if an account was noted.

Bank Accepts Wiggin's Offer.

New York, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Directors of the Chase National bank today accepted the offer of Albert H. Wiggin, former chairman of the governing board, to terminate his $100,000 retirement salary.

R. M. SWEITZER'S WIFE IMPROVES; SON GIVES BLOOD

Mrs. Robert M. Sweitzer, wife of the county clerk, was reported to be much improved yesterday at St. Anne's hospital after a transfusion on Tuesday for which her son, Robert M. Jr., gave more than a pint of his blood. She was taken ill last Tuesday and was moved from her home, 3522 West Jackson boulevard, to the hospital on Monday. Dr. D. F. Hayes, who was in attendance, said she had suffered a severe nasal hemorrhage. Her recovery was noticeable following the transfusion, Dr. Hayes said. She will be at the hospital for a few days more, the physician declared.

GOES TO JAIL AS HE WISHED.

John Seymour, 20 years old, of Birmingham, Ala., who broke a plate glass window in the loop so that he could find food and shelter in jail, was sentenced to 6 months in jail yesterday by Municipal Judge Lambert K. Hayes on a charge of malicious mischief. A motion to vacate the sentence was set for Dec. 21.

DR. BUTLER DENIES HE LOANED BONDS TO BANKER HARRIMAN

New York, Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, today denied he ever had given Joseph W. Harriman, former president of the closed Harriman National bank, any authority to use his stocks and bonds as security for a loan.

"Did J. W. Harriman ever ask you to lend him your securities?" Dr. Butler, a witness in federal court, Brooklyn, was asked.

"Positively not," Dr. Butler replied.

"Did you ever consent to Mr. Harriman's borrowing money on your securities?"

"No," Dr. Butler answered.

Dr. Butler was testifying in his suit before Federal Judge Grover M. Moscowitz to recover securities worth $212,000. The bank has refused to release the securities, since it holds an unsecured note of Dr. Butler's for $120,000.

It is Dr. Butler's contention that despite the note Mr. Harriman had no authority to use Dr. Butler's securities to borrow $150,000 for Mrs. Harriman.

ATTEMPT TO KILL BRITISH VISCOUNT FOILED BY WOMAN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 25.—What is believed to have been an attempt on the life of Viscount Ratendone, son and heir of the earl of Willingdon, viceroy of India, at his London home was the subject of an investigation today by Scotland Yard detectives and officials of the India office and home office.

The outrage is believed to have been planned by a dark skinned man, thought to be an Indian, who was discovered last midnight crouching on the roof outside the bathroom window of Lord Ratendone's house. The viscount was not home at the time.

The intruder was discovered by Miss Dorota Flatau, who lives next door, when she went to the top of her house. The man cautioned her to be quiet and threatened to shoot. She seized a flower pot, threw it at him, and yelled for the police.

OPEN CONCLAVE ON PROBLEMS OF CITIES TODAY

Delegates from more than thirty states will gather at the University of Chicago today for the annual conference of the American Municipal association, at which practical problems facing city governments will be discussed.

The results of various policies for public works, unemployment relief, debts, taxation, and liquor control will be outlined. It was indicated yesterday by Paul V. Betters, executive secretary of the association, that many of the cities of the country will oppose high federal taxes on spirits, on the ground that little revenue will be left for the municipalities, which must pay for policing the traffic.

Sign of Winter! Burglars Steal Fifty Fur Coats

Thieves broke into Newman's Ready to War store at 127 North Genesee street, Waukegan, this morning and stole fifty fur coats valued totally at $10,000. They entered through the basement and then broke through a door. The coats were removed from the second floor.

SWANSON GETS A MOVIE KISS IN HOLLYWOOD

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 25.—(AP)—He's a regular navy man, is Secretary Claude A. Swanson. He proved it today at a luncheon.

Fifi D'Orsay, petite French film actress, completed one of her songs by skipping down from the stage at a movie studio and pausing on her way to pat several masculine heads and to kiss a few chosen guests.

Will Rogers came out of the embrace blushing and considerably mussed as to hair.

Would she?

She did—a generously long one.

And Secretary Swanson emerged, not only smiling and unruffled but looking as if he liked it.

U. S. MISSIONARY ESCAPES BANDITS IN MANCHUKUO

TOKIO, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The six months of hardships and terror which Dr. Niels Nielsen endured at the hands of brigands ended today with the return of the American missionary to the Hsiuyen garrison in Manchukuo.

Dr. Nielsen, who is from Minneapolis and is attached to the Danish Missionary society at Hsiuyen, arrived at the Japanese sentry gate at 2 a. m., tired and worn from his detention for $500,000 Mexican in ransom at several bandit hideouts in the rugged country north of Hsiuyen.

He escaped a few days ago when troops closed in on the bandits and they fled.

Hoover 'Assistant Purser' to Make Fishing Easier

Long Beach, Cal., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Registered on the ship's papers as assistant purser, Herbert Hoover, former President, and a party of friends sailed from here today aboard a seagoing yacht in quest of the elusive swordfish, king of southern waters. The former President was entered as assistant purser on the W. J. Hole yacht Samoa 2d to facilitate clearing foreign ports.

TROOPS, LEGION LIKELY TO FIGHT INDIANA CRIME

Two More Banks Robbed; Citizens Aroused.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Use of the Indiana National Guard is being considered by Gov. Paul V. McNutt in an effort to round up the felons who after escaping from the state prison at Michigan City are credited with several bank robberies and a share in a jail break and the murder of a sheriff at Lima, O.

The governor already has been assured the cooperation of the United States department of justice, whose operatives will arrive immediately to coöperate in the hunt with the state police. Since the escape of the convicts, Sept. 26, two police arsenals have been raided, machine guns, rifles and pistols stolen. Two spectacular robberies of banks have been accomplished in the last few days at Greencastle, where about $75,000 was stolen, and at South Bend, where about $2,500 was the loot obtained yesterday.

Ten men participated in the Michigan City prison break and eight still are at large. One of the ten, James Clark, was recaptured at Hammond. Another, Joseph Jenkins, was killed while fleeing through another town.

Bank Robber Sentenced.

Thomas Leahy, former Chicago radio crooner, came into court at Plymouth today and admitted a share in the holdup, May 29, of the Exchange bank of Culver. He was sentenced to serve ten years in prison. He will be taken where four partners in that holdup are serving sentences. Another member of the Culver band was killed while fleeing from a posse.

Two widely separated Indiana banks were robbed today. That raised the state's total, since Jan. 1, to 33. The Fillmore State bank at Fillmore, in Putnam county, was robbed by a man and woman of $1,000 today, and the Peoples Loan and Trust company of Modoc, in Randolph county, lost $500.

Whether these robberies were directly attributable to organized bandits or to some small groups or isolated thieves emboldened by the inability of the authorities to stop the robberies was not ascertained.

Earlier today John Dillinger, implicated in the Lima, O., jail break and the killing of Sheriff Sarber, was reported near Danville. Warnings were sent to all banks in the neighborhood to look out for invaders. The recent theft of $200,000 from banks in Indiana and nearby states has been traced to the gang headed by Dillinger. Danville is near Greencastle, where $75,000 was obtained in a bank holdup Monday.

Asks Help of Legion Forces.

Thirty thousand members of the American Legion in Indiana were urged tonight by V. M. Armstrong, department commander, to assist in the fight against crime.

In a proclamation to the 302 posts the commander asked the members to "take such immediate steps as their membership deem necessary to assist law enforcing agencies in the safeguarding of their own communities against crime to the end that safety and justice may prevail in our state."

Edward A. Hayes, national commander, tonight complimented the Indiana department for being one of the first states to follow the mandate of the recent Chicago convention in offering Legionnaire support in prevention of crime.

Armstrong sent a letter to Gov. McNutt notifying him of the call sent to the Legionnaires. He assured the governor "that 30,000 Legionnaires in Indiana, as in the past, stand ready to serve in this emergency."

Civic and business organizations throughout the state are considering organizing a defense by the formation of civilian guards, recalling that a vigilance committee of citizens pursued and captured some of the robbers of the bank at Culver, Ind.

Ousts Two Prison Officials.

Meanwhile Gov. McNutt, acting on a report by trustees at the Indiana state prison accusing certain officials of "inexcusable negligence" in connection with the escape of the ten desperadoes from the prison, announced the discharge of two long time officials of the institution.

They are H. D. Claudy, Frankfort, chief deputy warden, and Albert Evans, Gas City, second assistant deputy.

Claudy served under the last two wardens and was in charge of the prison interior at the time of the break.

He will be succeeded by Lorenz C. Schmuhl, Michigan City, who in the last twelve years has been manager of the prison shirt factory, night captain, and clerk.

TWO PEORIA ARRESTS SAID TO CLEAR UP SOUTH BEND ROBBERY

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Chief of Detectives Fred Montgomery tonight said two of the nine persons arrested in connection with Illinois and Indiana bank robberies have been definitely linked with the robbery of the Western State bank at South Bend, Ind.

Montgomery said those two men were Louis Baggett of Galesburg, Ill., and John Butanos of South Bend, Ind. He said they told that one of them had told him the $1,500 in bonds stolen at South Bend had been burned by the robber gang. The robbers also obtained $1,000 in cash. Bank officials are expected to view the men tomorrow.

Baggett, Montgomery said, was charged with participation in bank robberies at Laura, Cullom, and Modesto, Ill., after bank officials from those towns identified him.

7 DROWN WHEN AUTO PLUNGES INTO A RIVER

Binghamton, N. Y., Oct. 25.—(AP)—A middle aged man and his wife, their three small children, and two 14 year old girls were drowned tonight near Afton, 20 miles east of here, while en route to the home of friends to attend a party.

All were trapped in a closed automobile in which they plunged into the icy waters of the Susquehanna river. The machine rolled backward down an embankment when the driver started to pull out of a driveway.

The dead were Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Lord, their children, Louis, 9; Austin, 6, and Ardean, 2, and Elsie Eldred, 14, and Avis Houston, 14.

They were on their way to a party in honor of Elsie Eldred and had stopped by the roadside to ask their way. The house where they inquired was on the bank of the river, which the highway follows.

Their automobile was discovered a half hour later. A man who lives nearby saw the headlights shining out of the water.

Troopers were immediately summoned and the bodies were quickly recovered. All were still in the car except two of the children. The water was about six feet deep where the car went in.

BAIL FOR TRIO SET AT $216,000.

Three youths charged with robbery, burglary and assault with intent to kill were held to the grand jury yesterday by Judge Lambert K. Hayes in total bonds of $216,000. They are James Kotchel, 6012 South Ashland avenue; William Colopy, 6430 South Wood street, and Oscar Nyquist, 6612 South Hermitage avenue.

On Way West

President Harmodio Arias of the Republic of Panama, who has been in Washington in conference with President Roosevelt, passed through Chicago yesterday on his way to the Pacific coast, where he will take ship for Panama. He left Chicago on a United Air lines plane for the coast. His secretary, Manuel J. Diez, accompanied him.

JAP ENVOY SEES U. S.-SOVIET TIES AS PERIL TO EAST

MONTREAL, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Recognition of the soviet government by the United States would be "a serious matter" to Japan, the newly appointed Japanese ambassador to Sweden, Toshio Shiratori, said here today en route to his post.

"It is, of course, their own business," the ambassador said, "but if the United States advances money to Soviet Russia it will help to consolidate Russia's economic affairs and also help communist propaganda work in the far east."

continued in many quarters tonight. Treasury officials were unable to say through what agencies the purchases would be handled or what conditions would attach to sales or payments.

It was understood, however, that the 90 day debentures of the RFC would bear interest at one-quarter of 1 per cent.

While the board was carrying into effect the latest plan of the brain trust for recovery of prosperity the President was nursing his cold in his private study in the White House, taking infra ray treatment and sorting the stamps of his stamp collection, which is said to rival King George's.

Instead of calling off his press conference entirely he cut the number of reporters received down to a committee of eight. After the committee returned from the interview a stenographic report of the conference was read to the other correspondents.

Mr. Roosevelt, in response to questioning, said that Attorney General Cummings had ruled that gold purchases by the RFC are legal and required no executive order.

Refuses to Reveal Plans.

The President would not undertake to chart the course of his monetary policy very far in advance. He realized that business interests would like to have a schedule of the prospective moves of the administration for the next sixty days or the next year, but he could not oblige them.

Great Britain does not disclose its financial policy in advance nor does any other nation. Nobody knows what the British treasury, the Bank of England or the Bank of France is going to do during the next 24 hours. Similar secrecy is to be observed here.

Consequently the President would not say when or whether there are to be any operations in the world gold market. He cautioned, however, against attaching too much importance to the factor of foreign exchange in the development of the present domestic price raising policy.

Mr. Roosevelt indicated that the gold held by the treasury and federal reserve system will be revalued on the basis of the increased price of gold. This will mean an enormous profit—1¾ billion dollars on the reserve bank gold alone at the current gold quotation.

Ex-Mayor of Ohio Town Shot Dead in Front of Store

Martins Ferry, O., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Former Mayor Benjamin Oliver, 57, of Yorkville, near here, was killed tonight while standing in front of his store, by a shot that was fired from an automobile. Oliver had been named in a federal liquor law violation conspiracy indictment two years ago at Steubenville but was not convicted.

GOLD PLAN TO BRING MORE BASIC MONEY, BRYAN'S PREDICTION

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Hope that President Roosevelt's gold purchase plan would mean "more basic money" was expressed by Gov. Charles W. Bryan today as he echoed the more money pleas voiced by his brother, William Jennings Bryan, thirty-seven years ago.

The governor said the silver issue declined after his brother failed to win the presidency on his free coinage campaign of 1896, but the only reason was because of "the discovery of a great deal of additional gold and improved processes of refining."

"Conditions are now arising which it seems to me mean that money must be issued on our present large gold supply or on silver in order to increase the currency—in other words, inflation," he said.

Bryan said such money was necessary to "replace money burned in 1921 and 1922 by the Federal Reserve bank under the Harding administration to the extent of 3 billion dollars.

"Deflation of the currency at that time," he said, "was both illegal and immoral. It was done to force a reduction in the cost of living, or, in other words, to drive down agricultural prices."

Judge Sabath Reconciles Couple Married 45 Years

Superior Judge Joseph Sabath yesterday reconciled Michael Farley and his wife, Anna, both of whom are 70 years old and have been married for 45 years. Mrs. Farley had brought suit for separate maintenance, alleging that her husband drank too much. Her attorneys dismissed her bill, and the couple returned to their home at 1433 Winona avenue.

22 MONTHS IN DEATH CELL, HE'S AWARDED $12,000

Cleveland, O., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Old and bent, shoulders stooped and his hair snowy white, Joseph Weaver today was voted $12,000 by the county commissioners to recompense him for the 22 months he spent in the Ohio penitentiary "death row" before he won freedom of a murder charge. But Cuyahoga county has no fund available for payment.

Although still in the early forties, Weaver would be taken for an old man. This drastic change in appearance was brought about by his being in the shadow of death five times.

The date for his execution was set that many times and five times Gov. George White granted reprieves, some of them coming a few hours before he was to have been led to the electric chair.

AGED MAN HIT BY AUTO DIES.

Wyanet, Ill., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Oxford Shepard, 75, of Wyanet, died today of injuries suffered last night when struck by an automobile driven by D. F. Althoff of Princeton. Shepard stood on the highway calling to his dog and did not observe the approaching car.

WISCONSIN MILK POOL VOTES TO STRIKE ON OCT. 31

Joins National Farm Holiday Tieup.

Farmers Fight Strike

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Nonmembers of the National Farm Holiday association in Iowa tonight moved against the striking holiday men, and a group of 500 farmers, led by Sheriff W. S. Demoss of Mills county, Ia., assembled on highway 184 in Iowa to escort trucks through the picket lines of the strikers. The trucks were sent across the Plattsmouth bridge into Nebraska and then on into Omaha. About 50 trucks had been taken through at 9 p. m. The pickets, who turned back a number of trucks last night, did not appear organized and offered no resistance.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Appleton, Wis., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—The executive board of the Wisconsin Coöperative Milk pool, claiming to control 21,000 members in the state, tonight voted to join the strike of the National Farmers' Holiday association, to begin Tuesday morning, Oct. 31, at 12:01 o'clock. The vote approving the milk strike—the third in Wisconsin this year—was 27 for and 2 against.

The sentiment in favor was apparent during all of the day's deliberations, although some of the more conservative members wanted to wait a little longer and see what success the Farmers' Holiday group made without the milk farmers. They had not forgotten that the president of the Holiday group had walked out on them on the eve of the last milk strike after promising to go out with them.

The sentiment for getting in line, however, was crystallized when a group of the officers of the Wisconsin Holiday group arrived and took part in the deliberations. They were headed by Charles Goldammer, Abbottsford, president of the Wisconsin group, and Alvin Hendricks, Manawa, secretary. Their influence turned the meeting strongly in favor of the strike.

Oppose Dumping Milk.

There was strong support in the counties farthest away from the heavy milk producing regions in the south and east part of the state and from the Milwaukee milk shed. The counties with the most milk showed the least enthusiasm for dumping it.

The votes against striking were by William Reinke of Washington county and H. F. Dries of Ozaukee county. Reinke said members of the milk pool in his county since the last strike had succeeded in establishing a distributing system in Milwaukee which they would lose through a strike. The membership in Washington county previously has voted unanimously against striking.

He said the big distributors in Milwaukee will manage to get their milk some way, even if they have to collect it themselves and fly it in. The strike would be most effective against only the small ones, he believed.

Dries offered a resolution which was voted down that the producers instead of withholding their milk arrange to have it made into cheese, which will keep indefinitely.

A group of 65 to 70 farmers said to be from Clark county, where the strike has tied up all shipping, invaded Chippewa Falls in Chippewa county this afternoon and dumped 25 crates of bottled milk and cream in the Model Dairy company plant before they were halted by the arrival of police. Two men were arrested but were ordered released by District Attorney Robert L. Wiley after they had promised to leave town. The dairy plants in Chippewa county previously had promised to close tomorrow night if their shippers asked it.

Calls Meeting of Governors.

Des Moines, Ia., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Gov. Herring of Iowa tonight summoned nine midwestern colleagues to conference Monday to prescribe for agriculture's economic ills. Meanwhile the national farm strike continued, with activity apparent only in three states—Iowa, Minnesota, and Wisconsin. The governors invited are those of North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Indiana, Wisconsin, Minnesota, and Illinois.

Milo Reno, leader of the strike movement, announced he would attend the conference and support it "100 per cent," although Gov. Herring said the meeting was not called because of the strike, but to consider all problems of agriculture.

Would Discuss NRA Code.

The conference originally was suggested by holiday association leaders who wished to confine discussion to an NRA code for agriculture to guarantee cost of production for farm products and to an embargo on farm products by all midwestern states.

Gov. Herring, first to proclaim a farm mortgage foreclosure moratorium last winter, has expressed sympathy for the farmers' demand for higher agricultural prices. He has contended, however, that a strike is not a desirable method for enforcing that demand.

President Roosevelt was invited to send a representative to the conference, and Gov. Herring said any farm leader desiring to attend would be given a hearing. Gov. Herring would prefer Henry Morgenthau Jr., governor of the Farm Credit administration, as the Roosevelt agent.

Put Ashes Into Churn.

As to the farm strike itself there was some picketing in central Wisconsin and western Iowa. A number of creameries and cheese factories were closed in Wisconsin. Strikers dumped ashes into an Athens, Wis., creamery churn and poured kerosene into vats of two Marathon county cheese factories. A coöp creamery at Brycelyn, Minn., closed at noon as an indication of sympathy for the strike.

Theodore Wallenslager, temporary president of the National Milk Bargaining pool, said his organization will meet at Chicago Oct. 30 to determine a stand on the farm holiday.

INJUNCTION MAY BE INVOKED TO HELP MILK CODE

Demand for Enforcement Stirs AAA Leaders.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Seeking a way to put teeth into the milk code, the Agricultural Adjustment administration in Washington was reported yesterday to be considering plans to invoke the famous prohibition era weapon—the federal court injunction—to padlock milk dispensaries which are selling milk at prices lower than those established by the code.

The present code provides that the retail price of milk shall be 10 cents a quart in the Chicago area. A revised agreement is now pending which sets the price at 11 cents a quart, the 1 cent increase to go directly to the farmers. However, numerous independent dealers in the Chicago area have been selling milk at 8 cents a quart or less on a cash and carry basis.

Signatories Demand Action.

The reported threat of the use of injunctions—which would put recalcitrant dealers out of business—is said to have developed over a demand by dealers and producers who have signed the code for action and quick action in enforcement of the agreement.

Dissatisfaction over the lack of enforcement of the code has developed strong within the last few days, with the Pure Milk association, numbering 18,000 farmer members, taking the lead.

The association notified Secretary of Agriculture Wallace last Saturday that it would withdraw from the code on Nov. 1 because "enforcement does not seem forthcoming." This caused a flurry in Washington, with the result that the AAA pleaded with the association to delay final action pending a conference.

Dairymen To Meet Wallace.

On top of this, representatives of the major Chicago dairies are scheduled to meet with Mr. Wallace in Washington in a day or two with the explicit purpose, it is said, of demanding enforcement action.

The dairymen will go to the conference well fortified. On Monday, through the Milk Council, Inc., they voted agreement to the code amendment raising the price of milk to 11 cents a quart, with the extra penny going to the farmer. However, they will not, it is said, hand over this signed agreement to Secretary Wallace unless he promises to do something about enforcing the existing regulations.

One agent of a major company denied last night that the dealers were "urging" the injunction as a method of enforcement.

It was said that attorneys who have studied the milk code have agreed that the AAA, through Secretary Wallace, is empowered to use the injunction to put out of business those depots, dealers, and other agencies which continue to sell cut rate milk. The grounds, in addition to alleged violation of the code, it was reported, would be "the public good" and "prevention of injury to the industry as a whole."

It is known that the use of court injunctions has been considered in Washington by AAA lawyers. There has been some hesitancy, however, in resorting to such summary methods. Jerome Frank, AAA attorney, has refused to discuss the subject.

Meanwhile 115 milk dealers of the Chicago area are scheduled to face "trial" in Washington today before "judges" named by Mr. Wallace. They have been cited for alleged violation of the code.

GERMANS HAIL NAZI LEADER IN MEETING HERE

Beneath a Nazi flag with its swastika symbol 350 Chicago Germans gathered at the Reichshalle, 3859 North Ashland avenue, last evening and gave enthusiastic greeting to Fritz Gissibl, one of the leaders of the Nazi movement in the United States. Nazi uniforms were much in evidence in the crowd of men and women and the meeting opened with the entire group giving the salute of "Heil Hitler" and singing of the "Horst Wessel Lied."

Herr Gissibl asserted that Nazi sympathizers among the Germans living in the United States were making no effort to set up their party here. He said that as the "Friends of the New Germany" they organized only to oppose anti-Nazi propaganda originating here.

NRA ENTRENCHING FOR LONG SIEGE, SAYS U. OF C. DEAN

Both the NRA and the AAA have failed in their preliminary onslaught on the depression and are now entrenching themselves for a long siege, William H. Spencer, dean of the school of commerce at the University of Chicago, told 800 members of the United Typothetae of America in convention at the Palmer house yesterday.

He pointed out numerous obstacles that have beset the progress of the recovery program, prominent among them being the defeatist attitude displayed by the public following the failure of the NRA to live up to expectations.

"At the outset the NRA led us to expect too much," said Dean Spencer. "We thought it was going to perform miracles. The disparity between prediction and performance has been doubly disappointing and has contributed to the defeatist attitude."

7 Canadian Log Drivers Drowned in Swollen River

ST. JOHN, N. B., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Seven log drivers from Kent county, were drowned today in the Big Salmon river four miles from Salmon River village. Swollen by overnight rains the river became dangerous and the men, from 20 to 30 years old and all unmarried, took refuge on a small island. The water continued to rise, however, and they were swept downstream and drowned. Ironically, it was the last day of the timber drive. It was New Brunswick's severest storm in years.

5 AUTO VICTIMS DIE, INCREASING 1933 TOLL TO 865

Two Children Lose Lives in Accidents.

Two children were killed yesterday in a series of five fatal automobile accidents in Cook county. The fatalities increased the county's motor death toll since Jan. 1 to 865. The victims:

Ray Bansler, 32 years old, 5621 North Clark street. Killed when the automobile in which he was a passenger struck a parked car at Ogden and Milwaukee avenues and turned over. Three other men in the car were injured.

Abraham Bengston, 74 years old, 2638 Winona street. Fatally hurt when he was struck while crossing Western avenue in the 5100 block. He died in Swedish Covenant hospital. The driver was held.

Nathan Adler, 65 years old, 3254 Grenshaw street. Died in German Deaconess hospital from burns incurred Sept. 26, when he was struck by a truck in front of 3351 West Roosevelt road.

Lester Kiefer, 3 years old, 650 North Lamon avenue. Killed when he was crushed beneath a coal truck near Nash elementary school, 4837 West Erie street.

Robert Vojnovich, 14 years old, 6520 Eberhart avenue. Died in Provident hospital from injuries incurred Monday, when he fell from a truck at 63d street and South Park avenue.

An inquest into the death of John J. Farrell Jr., radio repair man for the police department and son of Lieut. John J. Farrell of the Deering street police station, was continued yesterday until Nov. 3. Young Farrell was killed early yesterday when his automobile collided head on with a vegetable truck at 78th and State streets while he was returning home from work. The driver was held.

Another coroner's jury recommended that the Indiana Harbor Belt Railway company place proper warning devices at the Roosevelt road crossing in Broadview, where two youths from Woodbine, Ia., were killed when they were thrown from a truck beneath the wheels of a speeding train. The boys were tossed to the tracks when the driver of the machine in which they were riding made an abrupt turn off the road to avoid crashing into the train.

Lincoln park police are trying to find relatives of Mrs. June Powers, 45 years old, who died Tuesday as a result of injuries incurred in an automobile accident at Lake Shore drive and Schiller street. She was believed to be the widow of a once prominent attorney of Tarrytown, N. Y. Unless relatives claim her body, she may be buried in potter's field, Sergt. Barney Rosenberg said.

GOV. MURRAY USES GUARD IN SEIZURE OF SOLDIERS' HOME

Oklahoma City, Okla., Oct. 25.—(AP)—The national guard won another skirmish for Gov. William H. Murray today, seizing the union soldiers' home here in defiance of a State District court order.

The governor, who forced the closing of the home several months ago by vetoing a $28,000 appropriation for its operation, called out Adjt. Gen. Charles F. Barrett to enforce an executive order directing Mrs. G. B. McGinley, former matron of the institution, to give keys to the building to P. B. Bostic, superintendent of University hospital.

The Murray plan is to convert the building into a crippled children's annex of the hospital, a state institution.

Mrs. McGinley, following instructions of the home trustees not to surrender the keys "without a fight," refused Bostic's first request for them. She yielded when he returned with the governor's order and Gen. Barrett.

ALBERT SARRAUT ASKED TO FORM FRENCH CABINET

Seeks Support of Center to Assure Majority.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Oct. 25.—The necessity of preserving the conciliatory foreign policy practiced by four successive governments while replacing the Socialist inspired financial policy with the program of drastic retrenchment which the parties of the right advocate, today led President Lebrun to offer Albert Sarraut, naval minister in the cabinet of Edouard Daladier, which was overthrown Monday, a chance to form a new government.

Sarraut was called to the Elysee palace early this afternoon and tonight he had already made considerable progress in consultations with other political leaders. It was not expected, however, that he would be would be in a position to give Lebrun a definite answer before tomorrow night.

Seeks Support of Center.

Sarraut is stretching much further into the center parties for support of his proposed cabinet than did the last three governments and he is not counting on the support of any Socialists, even the so-called neo-Socialist or left Fascist faction which supported Premier Daladier the other night.

Sarraut's aim, apparently, is to pass drastic measures for budgetary deflation and elimination of state interference with business by going as far to the right as he can without allowing the nationalists to influence his foreign policy.

Tries to Pacify Pacifists.

Sarraut himself as an empire builder—he was governor of Indo-China during the war and frequently has been colonial minister—and as a big navy man—he was one of France's most energetic ministers of marine—is suspect in the eyes of pacifists. To dissipate suspicions on the part of the left wing of his own party, the Radical Socialist, it is reported that he plans to bring Joseph Paul-Boncour back to the Quai d'Orsay as a pledge of an unchanged foreign policy.

Paul-Boncour has the absolute confidence of all pacifist elements and is hated by the army. If this cabinet is ever formed Daladier will probably come back in it as war minister.

Sarraut's appointment and the inauguration of President Roosevelt's new monetary policy definitely checked the run on the franc which started last week.

CZECHS REFUSE GERMAN PLEA TO SUPPRESS SKIT

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Oct. 25.—A revue scene in which a donkey makes a speech and is applauded by its hearers with outstretched right arms and the cry "Heil!" brought a formal protes to the Czechoslovak government today from the German minister.

The scene, which is known as the "Ass and Shadow," is presented in a show at the Free theater, managed by two well known Czech comedians. The German minister complained that the scene was intended as a coarse ridicule of Adolf Hitler and the German government.

ADJOURN ARMS PARLEY; EXPECT GERMANY BACK

France Forbids Resort to Four Power Pact.

GENEVA, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Adjournment of the world disarmament conference until Dec. 4 was recommended by its steering committee today.

Simultaneously reports, originating in German circles, were current that Chancellor Hitler's government would announce the conditions for Germany's return to the arms discussions and the league of nations after the Nov. 12 plebiscite, called when her intention to quit both councils was announced.

France served notice that the league of nations, and not the four-power western European peace pact, must handle disarmament when Rene Massigli, the French delegate, insisted before the steering committee that all disarmament discussions must be held exclusively in Geneva.

Won't Abandon Parley.

Arthur Henderson, the British chairman of the conference, said in a speech that it would be disastrous to adopt a policy which could be interpreted as unwillingness to complete the task of disarmament.

"It would be a serious blow to the league of nations and would play into the hands of those who say certain powers do not intend to reduce armaments," Henderson explained.

M. Massigli's contention, given in behalf of Joseph Paul-Boncour, the foreign minister in the resigned French cabinet, was apparently in reference to suggestions that Italy, France, and Great Britain should negotiate for a three power pact to replace the agreement those countries signed last summer with Germany.

The proposal for a recess, subject to the approval of the conference at a session tomorrow, was made with the understanding that a reopening of discussions in December depends on the progress made in the interim.

Davis May Come Home.

A member of the bureau, or steering committee, said the group believed the conference should continue, but without placing Germany in an unfair position in any way. The bureau was empowered to carry on the negotiations and prepare British disarmament suggestions for a second reading.

American Ambassador Norman H. Davis, head of the United States delegation, has not decided on his immediate plans, but it was considered likely if adjournment is voted that he will go to Washington to confer with President Roosevelt.

CONGRESSMEN TO SIFT HITLER PROPAGANDA CAMPAIGN IN AMERICA

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Representative Dickstein [Dem., [N. Y.] announced tonight that a subcommittee of the house immigration committee would begin an investigation Nov. 14 into Nazi propaganda in the United States.

Dickstein, chairman of the immigration committee, also said he had asked the department of labor to investigate the standing of Heinz Spanknoebel, reputed Nazi propagandist in New York City with a view to having him deported.

"We have enough material on hand given to us voluntarily to open the eyes of the American public to Nazi propaganda in this country," Dickstein said in a statement.

"If we did in Germany one-twentieth of what they're doing here, we'd be shot."

The New Yorker said that on the basis of the disclosures his committee hopes to make Nov. 14 and at subsequent hearings, congress would be asked to vote funds and power of subpoena for broadening the investigation.

WITNESS LINKS DEFENDANTS IN NAZI ARSON TRIAL

BERLIN, Oct. 25.—(AP)—A Nazi witness at the trial of five men accused of firing the reichstag building linked for the first time today the names of two defendants, the former communist leader, Ernst Torgler, and the self-confessed incendiary, Marinus Van der Lubbe.

Berthold Karwahne, one time colleague of Torgler in parliament, who joined the Hitlerites in 1925, swore that Van der Lubbe and Torgler were the men he saw together in the reichstag several times on the same day.

Widely differing from Karwahne's version was that of Karl Frey, a reachstag member, who testified that the man in Torgler's company was Blagoi Popoff, one of the three Bulgarian defendants. Frey was with Karwahne on the day in question.

To clear up the difference in the observations, the court ordered a reconstruction of the scene in the reichstag hall, where the witnesses met the persons in question. As the hall usually is poorly lighted, the court concluded that exact recognition was hardly possible.

Colombia and Peru Open Peace Parley in Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Representatives of Colombia and Peru began a conference today looking to a settlement of the Leticia warfare, confident that the long standing dispute between the two nations could be ended satisfactorily.

GERMAN MEDICS PRAISE LAW TO STERILIZE UNFIT

See Measure as Making a Better Nation.

BERLIN, Oct. 25.—(AP)—A majority of specialists discussing the Nazi sterilization law at a meeting of the German Gynecological society today hailed the new measures as eugenically recommendable. The law becomes effective Jan. 1, 1934.

Prof. Eugene Fischer, anthropologist and director of the Kaiser Wilhelm institute, said that it meant a fundamental change for the surgeon, inasmuch as, instead of considering the patient as hitherto, he now has to consider the weal of the whole nation and, in certain circumstances, to disregard the patient's personal interests.

Quoting medical authority, Prof. Fischer pointed out that hereditary mental defectives in Germany numbered a quarter of a million and they were, unfortunately, prolific, he said.

Wants to Sterilize Early.

Prof. Ludwig Seitz, gynecologist, spoke on the advisability that a control be introduced soon so as to make sterilization operative before puberty.

Prof. Kohlrausch, jurist, pointed out that the new law only dealt with sterilization and was not concerned with the interruption of pregnancy, which, however, he said might be expected to be regulated shortly.

The Roman Catholic standpoint, which rejects sterilization on ethical grounds, was raised in the course of the discussion as a matter which touched the borderline between the realms of medicine and moral theology.

Britain Goes to Aid of Reporter.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Oct. 25.—The British ambassador, Sir Horace Rumbold, today sent a note to the German foreign office inquiring into the reasons for the arrest at Munich of Noel D. Panter, correspondent for the London Daily Telegraph. Sir Horace expressed surprise at the fact that the British consul general at Munich had been refused permission to confer with Panter since his arrest.

The consul understands that no definite charge was lodged against Panter until this afternoon and that he was arrested by the federal secret police. The secret police are not under orders of the Bavarian authorities, which, the latter explain, is the reason why the consul general was not allowed to see his countryman in jail.

Panter's arrest is understood to have resulted from the manner in which he reported a speech by Hitler.

British Laborite Wins Seat in Tory Stronghold

LONDON, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The Labor party made a striking and unexpected gain tonight in a parliamentary by-election in the East Fulham district. The Labor candidate, J. C. Wilmer, polled 17,790 votes, against 12,950 for his Conservative opponent, W. J. Waldron. The district had never previously had a Laborite representative. Conservatives had held the seat for ten years. Death of the incumbent was the reason for the election.

I keep coming back to that word "balanced" on the back of the Chesterfield package

YOU often hear the word balance—something is out of balance—top-heavy, not on an "even keel."

What you read, "Chesterfield Cigarettes are a balanced blend," means that the right amounts of the right kinds of tobacco are welded together; that is, home-grown tobaccos, the right kind, the right quantity—are blended and cross-blended with tobaccos from Turkey and Greece.

When these tobaccos are balanced one against the other, then you have a mild cigarette.

When they are in balance, then you have a better-tasting cigarette.

May we ask you to read again the statement on the back of the Chesterfield package?
May we ask you to try Chesterfield?

U. S. PREPARES FINAL EFFORT TO COLLAR INSULL

Prosecutor Is Ready for Battle Tomorrow.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ATHENS, Oct. 25.—Prosecutor Anthony Reganakos of the Greek Court of Appeals, which is hearing the Samuel Insull extradition case, spent several hours today preparing his rebuttal to the wordy 12 hour barrage of the former Chicago utility magnate's lawyers during the last three sessions of the court.

Reganakos, outlining the United States government's case against Insull to the court last Saturday, spoke less than an hour. His rebutttal speech will probably be lengthy. He will begin his speech when the court resumes Friday at 4 p. m.

U. S. Representative to Help.

The prosecutor will be aided in his rebuttal by Forrest Harness, assistant United States attorney general, who has followed the case in detail with translated stenographic reports, on which he has made annotations for Reganakos.

Insull continues to receive depositions and documents from the United States. During yesterday's session, Denis Lazarimos, one of Insull's attorneys, announced that they had that day received an important deposition.

There appeared no certainty, therefore, that the court would not permit Insull's lawyers to continue talking several hours more, although last evening impatience was manifested by some of the judges at the lengthy repetitions.

Insull to Have Last Word.

In any case, it seems that after Prosecutor Reganakos makes his rebuttal, Lazarimos will be allowed to rebut the prosecutor's rebuttal, so that Insull will have the last word with the court.

An article obviously inspired by Insull's followers here appeared today in a Greek paper called "Foni Tou Laou." It said it is a shame that Insull is being put in jeopardy twice for the same offense and alleged that "the United States authorities are misguided and were induced to prosecute Insull through the cunning activities of the enemies of the unfortunate magnate."

In connection with the article it is pointed out that Insull always has said himself that his enemies were behind his prosecution.

FENTRESS CLAIM IN INSULL CRASH PUT UP TO JUDGE

The petitions for receivers' salaries and attorneys' fees in the Insull Utility Investments, Inc., case, over which several stormy sessions have been held in the court of Referee in Bankruptcy Garfield Charles, yesterday were certified to Judge James H. Wilkerson without recommendation by the referee.

Objections to the claims were raised by Attorney Samuel A. Ettelson, representing debenture holders, who charged that Receiver Calvin Fentress and his lawyers were part of "the Insull receivership setup hand picked by Insull and the bankers." Fentress has been succeeded by Dean Harry A. Bigelow of the University of Chicago law school as trustee of the bankrupt estate.

Fentress asked $10,000 for his services in Chicago and $7,500 as ancillary equity receiver in New York. He also asked $9,000 for Attorneys Allen & Dalbely, $5,000 for Cassels, Potter & Bentley, and $10,000 for Hines, Rearick, Dorr & Hammond.

42 Nations Open Parley to Map War on Cancer

MADRID, Spain, Oct. 25.—(AP)—President Zamora opened an international conference of 675 representatives of 42 nations against cancer in the fine arts assembly hall today. The conference will last five days. The delegates will compare notes on progress made toward a cure of the disease. Dr. Francis Grant of New York spoke at the opening session. Other American doctors are on the speakers' program.

2 Seriously Wounded in Warsaw University Battle

WARSAW, Poland, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Two persons were seriously wounded and a number suffered minor injuries in a battle between pro-government and opposition groups today at the local university. Revolvers were used by a number of the freshmen. Police arrested many of the demonstrators. The clash climaxed recent trouble among the freshmen.

When Your Cough Hangs On, Mix This at Home

Saves Good Money! No Cooking!

If you want the best cough remedy that money can buy, mix it at home. It costs very little, yet it's the most reliable, quick-acting medicine you ever used. The way it takes hold of stubborn coughs, giving immediate relief, is astonishing.

Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. To make syrup, use 2 cups of sugar and one cup of water, and stir a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. It's no trouble at all, and gives you four times as much cough medicine for your money—a real family supply. Keeps perfectly and tastes fine.

It is surprising how quickly this loosens the germ-laden phlegm, soothes and heals the inflamed membranes, clears the air passages, and thus ends a severe cough in a hurry.

Pinex is a compound of Norway Pine, in concentrated form, the most reliable healing agent for severe coughs. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

BRITAIN REVEALS HOW FINANCIERS CHEATED PUBLIC

Strange Deals of Harman Aired.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 25.—How a big time financier can take money out of one pocket and put it right back into another was detailed in Criminal court today by the prosecution in the case against Martin C. Harman and three others charged with defrauding investors in companies controlled by them.

Harman, H. H. Pounds, Emile Changeat, and Berkeley Conigrave are accused of duping investors who put money into the Chosen corporation, owner of mining concessions in Corea. The prosecution charges that Harman as head of the Chosen corporation, which was a paying proposition, used this company's dividends to bolster up other companies under his control which were in financial difficulties.

Charge Personal Theft.

This money, the prosecution said, should have gone as dividends to Chosen share holders. Instead it was diverted and used to purchase shares of other Harman companies at ridiculously high prices. Some of this money, said the prosecution, went into the cash boxes of Harman's companies, while the rest went into Harman's own pocket.

Harman had been regarded as a "big noise" in London financial life. The trial is a shock to the city and is becoming more so as the breadth of Harman's alleged dealings is exposed in court.

Investors Take the Loss.

One of these deals, said Sir Donald Somervell, solicitor general, involved the Rock Investment company and the London Irish Trust, Ltd., in both of which Harman was the dominating factor. Sir Donald said 25,996 shares of these companies were placed with a reputable bank as security for a loan. The bank agreed to release them at about 50 cents a share. Instead the Chosen corporation bought 18,000 shares at $1.25 a share and 7,000 shares at $5 a share.

The money thus paid went into the coffers of the Rock Investment company and the London Irish Trust, Ltd., to the loss of the Chosen investors, it is charged.

Gift of Michigan Mayor

Five bucks and three does arrived in Chicago yesterday from Wakefield, Mich., the gift of Mayor J. P. Cloon of Wakefield to the Cook county forest preserve. They will be kept near Palatine. The deer traveled 418 miles, having left Wakefield when 14 inches of snow lay on the ground, it was explained. The gift was made partly because of the expense of feeding the animals, which had been among a group of deer in the Wakefield city park.

4,000 TO BE WED SIMULTANEOUSLY IN DUCE'S DRIVE

ROME, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Two thousand marriages will be celebrated simultaneously Oct. 30 in Rome and the province of Latium in a new Fascist rite called "The Consecration of Nuptiality" to inaugurate the 12th year of fascism and to exalt Premier Mussolini's bigger population program.

Similar ceremonies will be conducted throughout Italy at the same time. In Rome 550 couples will meet at 10 a. m. in the ancient church of Santa Maria degli Angeli, built into the old baths of Diocletian, for a nuptial mass and to receive the benediction.

Then they will parade to the Fascist recreation headquarters, where Secretary Starace of the Fascist party will preside at a huge wedding breakfast and present each couple with a gift from Il Duce.

Bandit Suspect Is Shot After Victim Trails Him

Paul Lagsdin, 34 years old, was shot twice in the left shoulder and captured last night by Policeman George Shannon of the East Chicago avenue station, a few minutes after the holdup of a clothing store at 521 North La Salle street. David De Mar, who had been threatened by the bandit, chased him from the store to 8 East Grand avenue. Policeman Shannon and two other squadmen soon appeared and De Mar pointed out the trail. Shannon found Lagsdin in his room there and shot him as he reached for a gun. Lagsdin was identified by De Mar.

CITY FIGHTS VICE DENS MASKED AS MASSAGE SHOPS

Council Plans Licensing; Woman Fined.

A drive against several hundreds of so-called massage parlors was instituted yesterday by city authorities. The charge was made that many of these places are in reality disorderly houses catering to men.

Ald. James B. Bowler [25th] introduced a resolution at the city council meeting calling upon the corporation counsel to draft an ordinance providing for the licensing and regulation of massage parlors. He declared that many complaints had been received against such places, charging that they have become a moral menace to the community. The resolution was adopted unanimously.

Kelly Orders Closing.

Mayor Kelly, it was learned, ordered police some weeks ago to close up all massage parlors which were proved to have encouraged immoral practices. The legal compaign against the parlors was instituted by him when he discovered that the police have difficulty in making arrests because masseurs are unlicensed. A new ordinance will give the city complete control over the massage parlors, he pointed out.

In the last ten years, the alleged massage parlors have cropped up at intervals only to disappear under the pressure of police raids and public opinion. At present the massage business is at its peak, according to investigators.

Fines Operator of Place.

Municipal Judge Erwin J. Hasten in the Woman's court yesterday entered the second conviction of a massage parlor operator in the last few days. He fined Mabel Andre, operator of a massage parlor at 225 Wisconsin street, $25 for keeping a disorderly house.

Policemen George Murphy and Fred Sack testified that they visited the Andre woman's Wisconsin street place after receiving numerous complaints from neighbors. They found a large sign reading "massage parlor" outside the Andre woman's apartment and noticed men going in and out.

Policeman Murphy rang the bell, he testified, and Jean Morley, 34 years old, answered. When he announced that he was a policeman she screamed to another woman, he told the court. In a "massage room," he said, he found Mabel Andre clothed in a chemise and Oscar Gunderson, 45 years old, wrapped in a sheet.

Miss Andre, a stout, bespectacled woman of about 45 years, denied this testimony. Gunderson, a gray haired man of about her own age, nervously chewed gum during the hearing.

Judge Questions Patron.

"What do you need massages for?" inquired Judge Hasten of Gunderson.

"They—they help my circulation," stammered Gunderson.

Miss Andre's attorney interrupted.

"I know judges on the bench who go to massage parlors," he asserted.

"Yes, but they go there for massages only," commented the judge. "Anyway, the fact that a judge goes there wouldn't necessarily purify a massage parlor."

"I wasn't undressed," testified Miss Andre. "I had on shoes, stockings, underwear, and a uniform. There was nothing wrong going on."

Policemen Murphy and Sack sputtered at this statement. They made haste to inform the judge just what had been going on.

"Do you cater to men only?" the judge inquired of the defendant.

"There are women, too," the Andre woman insisted.

Three Others Arrested.

During the day Detectives Harold Tierney and Frank McCarthy of the Hudsno avenue station arrested Terrence Kirkpatrick, 27 years old; Miss Gloria Bates, 22, both formerly of Cincinnati, and J. Dixon, 2862 Broadway. They are seeking Dixon's wife.

Detective Tierney said that Miss Bates operates a massage parlor at 1523 North Clark street and the Dixons another one at the Broadway address. The girl told the police, it was said, that Kirkpatrick brought her to Chicago five weeks ago and that Dixon set her up in business. All three will be questioned further this morning.

Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh Hop from Ireland to Scotland

INVERNESS, Scotland, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh arrived here this afternoon after a flight from Galway, Irish Free State. The couple contended with a strong head wind throughout the flight. They will remain here overnight. Plans for tomorrow were not announced.

SIAMESE REBEL LEADER SLAIN BY ARMY SERGEANT

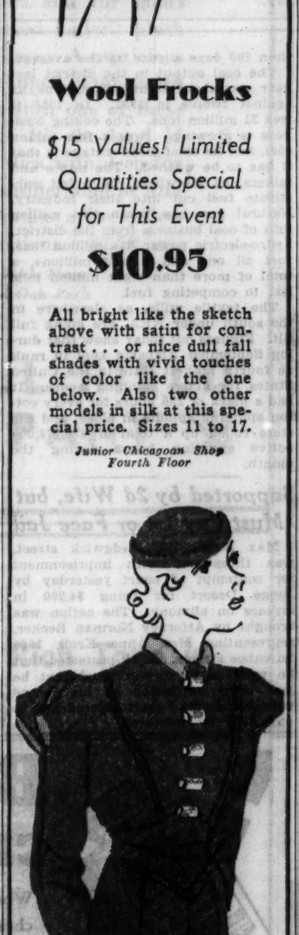

BANGKOK, Siam, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The slaying of Phya Sri Siddhi Songgram, one of the Siamese rebel leaders, was expected by government leaders today to aid in overcoming the revolt quickly.

Songgram, an associate of Prince Bovardej, commander of the rebel forces, was killed by a sergeant in a stiff fight.

It was learned that the government troops were holding their own against the rebels, who, under the popular prince, apparently were making a fresh threat. Censorship apparently still was rigorous.

CRY FOR ACTION UNDER THE NRA IN BIRMINGHAM

Public Works Program Lags After Good Start.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—This industrial metropolis of the south, center of the iron and steel industry in Dixie, is shouting for action in getting the federal public works program under headway.

Its business has registered improvement up to recent weeks; now there is a lull, and merchants, bankers, and industrialists are declaring that the appearance of an increased buying power is apparently waiting upon two things: First, an actual start on public works projects in the southern area, for the industries depend upon construction, and second, an advance in the price of cotton, now 10 cents a pound.

Birmingham, which lies in the heart of a rich mineral producing section—one spot on the continent where iron ore, coal and limestone are found within five miles of each other—boasts that its 635 manufacturing plants produce more than 2,000 articles. The metropolitan area has a population of 350,000, and normally 123,000 persons are gainfully employed. Prosperity of the region naturally depends upon markets outside.

Store Sales Pick Up.

Under the NRA department store sales have picked up, and retail merchants are feeling financially better. Some of them declare that the increase in buying has not been sufficient to offset the increase in pay rolls, and wherever the observer goes he hears them saying, "Twelve or fifteen cent cotton would chase the wolf out of the district this winter."

Alabama cotton farmers have received some $9,000,000 for plowing up part of their crop. Most of this, according to field agents, went to pay off old loans and to take care of mortgages, but left the farmer with some money to shop with.

Country stores, generally speaking, are reported to have almost empty shelves. In August the merchants, according to surveys, did in general the best business in years since the depression came, and it meant business for the wholesale merchants, of whom there are 400 in Birmingham, a great distributing center. Outside of industries, the employment experts say normally 6,000 are employed in wholesale and retail stores in service, and under NRA there was a considerable decrease in employment—how great has not been figured.

Get First Cotton Checks.

Alabama farmers today received first checks for cotton under the 10 cents a pound plan financed by the government on unsold portions of the 1933 crop. Agricultural estimates are that 500,000 to 600,000 bales remain unsold in Alabama, and advances of approximately $30,000,000 will be available to the planters. The farmers went in strong on the program to plow under part of this year's crop and to curtail acreage for 1934. The cotton growers organization is urging that the government advance the price to 15 cents a pound.

Iron, steel, and cement industries are all waiting for the orders for supplies to come in for the federal projects. August output of pig iron in Alabama was four times that of August, 1932, but the industry did not pick up as it did in the north. In the first eight months of this year pig iron production in the whole United States increased 28 per cent over the output in that part of 1932, but in Alabama production in the eight months was nearly 4 per cent lower than last year.

Bid for Steel Rail Orders.

The steel industry expects to get a fair share of the 844,000 tons of steel rails for which the government has asked bids. The new price, submitted a few days ago by the Birmingham steel makers, was $37.75 a ton, the lowest since 1916. The tonnage on which bids were taken represents the requirements of forty-seven railroads, and in addition 245,000 tons of track fastenings are required. Ordinarily, between 12 and 15 per cent of the rail business comes to the Birmingham district.

At present the steel making pace of the district is reported at 25 to 30 per cent of capacity. One survey of prospects voices the conclusion that Birmingham's share in construction, public works, and railroads, cast iron pipe, rails, railroad coaches, and cars will increase work at the mills to 55 per cent of capacity or greater, while road building will help the cement and bridge building industries and the mills in general.

Coal Loses to Competing Fuel.

The coal industry depends largely upon other industries, for normally 40 to 50 per cent of the coal output in the district is "captive coal" from mines owned or controlled by railroads and big mills, steel, cement, or cotton. Normally some 26,000 miners are employed in the region, but in recent years the number has been reduced. At present about 16,000 miners are working two or three days a week. Mine operations have dropped to less than 100 days a year on the average.

The coal output in the district last year was about eight million tons, as against twelve in 1931. In 1926 it was 21 million tons. The coking business is growing. It is a fine coking coal, and its chief disadvantage is that it has to be washed. The mines and miners, as elsewhere, have felt substitute fuel cut into their industry. Natural gas has taken two million tons of coal business from the district, hydro-electric power five million tons, fuel oil one and a half millions, a total of more than eight million tons lost to competing fuel.

The textile mills, as elsewhere in the south under NRA, are going full tilt. Figures out today show that during September Alabama kept in rank as fourth highest state in the United States for active spinning hours. It had a mark of 255 hours for every cotton spinning spindle in place, and the state rolled up a total of 476,778,000 active spinning hours during the month.

ROLL CALL IN HOUSE ON FIRST TEST FOR STATE RELIEF BILLS

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—The roll call which showed that the first bill of the $30,000,000 winter charity program was threatened with defeat in the house of representatives today was not official because a motion to postpone further consideration was passed before the tabulation was completed. The record of Chief Clerk Charles P. Casey showed the vote 80 to 45, with seven recorded as "present." The bills require a two-thirds vote, or 102, for immediate effectiveness.

missing votes were accounted for by the record of one Democrat absent, four Republicans absent or not voting and two Republicans avoiding their votes by having themselves recorded on roll call as "present."

The one missing Cook county Democrat was Benjamin S. Adamowski, who is on his honeymoon in Europe. Of the Republicans not recorded in any way, Mrs. Anna Wilmarth Ickes, wife of Secretary of the Interior Ickes, was said to be in Washington, and Peter C. Granata and Charles J. Jenkine were said to have placed themselves on "the cloakroom list." The fourth Republican on this list, Joseph E. Farina, was called back to Chicago this morning because of the death of a brother.

The two Republicans who openly refused to vote were Edwin B. Bederman of the 25th district and William E. King, one of the Negro Republicans of the Third district. They offered no explanations for answering "present" when their names were called.

Battle Last All Day.

The first house engagement over these bills lasted throughout the day, no recess being taken for lunch. Dusk was descending before the roll call was half through and Springfield was dark when it was over. There were half a dozen speakers on each side before the voting was begun, and on the roll call about thirty more members spoke. Most of the argument was a repetition of what was heard in the senate last week and much of it was the same that was used two years ago when a Republican administration with the help of most of the Republicans who voted in the negative today, put through an exactly similar plan for the $20,000,000 bond issue.

Thomas P. Sinnett of Rock Island, majority floor leader, was aided in conducting the fight for the key bill by Howard L. Doyle of Decatur, Schaefer O'Neill of Alton, and John P. Devine of Dixon, all downstate Democrats. The only Chicagoan who took part in the major debate was Roland V. Libonati, Republican.

The minority opposition was led by Roy M. Green of Rockford, who had the assistance of Fred W. Rennick of Buda, Clinton Searle of Rock Island, Dennis J. Collins of De Kalb, and Roger F. Little of Champaign. All are Republicans.

Deny Hostility to Chicago.

Most of the opposition speakers denied they were opposed to relief or hostile to Chicago. Over and over they said they were afraid the state Supreme court might knock out the plan for financing the proposed bond issue by proportionate diversion of the gas tax shares of cities and counties benefiting from charity aid and that the result would be an immense tax levy upon general property. This forecast was met with emphatic denials by sponsors of the plan.

STATES AND CITIES LAG IN APPLYING FOR FEDERAL EASY MONEY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Despite efforts to speed up easy money allotments to other than federal borrowers, Public Works Administrator Harold L. Ickes was able today to allot only a little more than a million dollars to nonfederal projects.

Another 4½ millions, however, was doled out to seven states as part of the relief program for stricken areas. Of the total, Illinois received $140,000, about 2 per cent, for construction of a water works at Georgetown.

Wisconsin walked off with $900,000 out of the 4½ millions of special road funds, and in addition, $2,000 for a sewage plant at Belgium. The only other Chicagoland allocation today was $32,000 to Albion, Ind., for a water system.

With less than a third of the 3 billion 300 million dollar easy money fund left, Ickes has warned states and municipalities that unless they get their projects in and approved soon the funds will be given to federal departments, which he admits already have received more than was intended.

ALDERMEN ASKED TO NAME STREET FOR GEN. PULASKI

Mayor Kelly yesterday sent a communication to the city council recommending that the name of Crawford avenue be changed to Pulaski road in memory of Gen. Casimir Pulaski, hero of the American revolution. The change in name has been approved by a number of leading Polish residents of the city, including Miss A. Emily Napieralski, president of the Polish Women's Alliance of America.

Mayor Kelly also announced the appointment of Frank J. Smith as a member of the city board of examining engineers to succeed James F. Lynch, whose term has expired.

MEET MY TERMS, ICKES' EDICT TO SANITARY BOARD

We're Awaiting Guidance, Bowler Replies.

Public Works Administrator Harold L. Ickes, on a visit to Chicago from Washington yesterday, reiterated his statement that the sanitary district of Chicago must meet his terms to get federal "easy money" for completion of its sewage disposal program. The program, ordered by the United States Supreme court, will cost $120,000,000 and the public works administration thus far has agreed to allocate only $8,000,000 of this amount.

Thomas J. Bowler, president of the sanitary district board, in reply to Mr. Ickes, said that the trustees were anxious to coöperate in every way possible, but that they had not been given any information on what the public works administrator wants.

Await Bills, Bowler Says.

"We have been told by the administration's attorneys that they did not want any legislation passed unless they drew it," Mr. Bowler asserted. "We were promised that bills to be presented to the Illinois legislature at Springfield would be ready for us soon. We are awaiting them."

Mr. Ickes' statement that the board has been "drawing a red herring across the trail" by proposing various plans was met by Mr. Bowler with a declaration that he and his colleagues "didn't know what was wanted."

It was asserted by Mr. Ickes that if a bona fide plan was presented by the sanitary district in Washington the money to complete the sewage treatment program might be alloted. A mandate of the Supreme court requires the completion of the program by 1938.

Ickes Discusses Terms.

In discussing the terms on which the sanitary district can get federal aid, Mr. Ickes said:

"Authority must be obtained from the Illinois legislature to empower the district to convey the work built under the program to the federal government. The government would then build the works. After the district repaid the costs of the construction over a period of years then the title would be reconveyed. There are other requirements with which the district has made no attempt to comply."

These additional requirements, as outlined by Ickes, include the passage of a sewage rental law, the payment by the city of Chicago of its bills for power bought from the sanitary district and the abrogation of the district's power contracts with public utility companies. Ickes said that his attorneys had advised him the contracts were not favorable to the district.

He Rejects Other Plans.

Any other plans for financing the sewage disposal program are not feasible, Ickes said. He declared that the proposal to sell the main drainage canal and the Calumet-Sag channel to the federal government for $100,000,000 could wait. This plan has been advanced as a means of providing the sanitary district with funds to complete the sewage program.

"The public works administration can't buy a canal," Ickes said. "It's business is putting men to work. The sale would be up to Congress and that would take a long time. Nobody can speak for what Congress might do in the matter. Meanwhile the district is letting time pass without bringing forth a plan that would work and be acceptable to the government."

Bowler Suggests Mortgage.

Earlier in the day President Bowler proposed that the federal government take a mortgage on the main canal and the Sag channel as security for the money needed for the sewage treatment plants. At a meeting of the trustees this afternoon Ross A. Woodhull, chairman of the district's finance committee, is scheduled to introduce a resolution for an immediate survey and appraisal of the canals.

Trustee Howard Elmore, commenting last night on Mr. Ickes' remarks about the sale of the canal, said the proposed sale to the government is in no sense an emergency measure, but its aim is to solve the entire sanitary district problem permanently.

Mr. Ickes will depart for Washington this afternoon. He came to Chicago to make an address before the American Petroleum Institute, a report of which will be found in the financial section.

MISS PATTERSON WINS TRANSPORT PILOT'S LICENSE

Miss Josephine M. Patterson, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Patterson of 209 Lake Shore drive, passed her flying and written tests for a transport pilot's license yesterday before C. F. de la Saux, department of commerce inspector, at Curtiss-Wright airport in Glenview. She flew her Laird [Wright motor] biplane.

Miss Patterson's flying was praised by pilots and federal aeronautics inspectors who watched her go through a series of precision spins and spiral, 180 degrees and 360 degrees spot landings. She handled the large, powerful plane with ease.

Miss Patterson was following the footsteps of her older sister, the former Alicia Patterson who is now Mrs. Joseph W. Brooks of New York. Mrs. Brooks holds a transport license.

TWO WOMEN BANDITS SENTENCED.

Max Kroll, 1713 Sedgwick street, was threatened with imprisonment for contempt of court yesterday by Judge Desort for being $4,200 in arrears on alimony. The action was brought by Attorney Norman Becker, representing Mrs. Anna Kroll, 1664 Larrabee streets. Kroll protested that he was too ill to work and that he was being supported by his second wife, but Judge Desort ordered him to pay $200 by tomorrow.

WHAT! NO DIRT?

Of course not, his family uses Super-cleaned Famous Reading Anthracite, the sootless and smokeless hard coal that keeps your home so clean.

And they enjoy safe, dependable, even, healthy, economical heat all winter with far less attention to the furnace than is necessary with any other kind of solid fuel.

HERE IS WHY

Because Famous Reading Anthracite is "HARD" coal, twice as many heat units can be put into your furnace at every firing than you can get in with softer coal or lighter fuel. That means far fewer firings each day . . . more time for other things. Because it is so HARD, it burns evenly and steadily just as you set the drafts.

Because it is "HARD" coal, Famous Reading Anthracite keeps your home clean. It burns without soot or smoke. It stores indefinitely. It never explodes to fill your house with greasy soot or, perhaps, set fire to it. It is almost impossible to clinker it. Your home is safe from fires caused by overheating. Furnace linings and grates are protected from warping. Order a trial ton of Famous Reading Anthracite today. Learn for yourself how very good HARD coal can be. M'KEE ASSERTS COMMUNISM IS NEW YORK ISSUE

Calls La Guardia Candidate of Radical Groups.

New York, Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Communism took its place alongside of national politics in the New York mayoralty election tonight.

While Fiorello H. La Guardia, Republican-Fusion candidate, was denying that a vote for Joseph V. McKee would be a vote for President Roosevelt, Mr. McKee flung the new issue of communism into the fracas. He painted a portrait of La Guardia in brilliant crimson, and charged that La Guardia favors a revolution to destroy the capitalistic system and eliminate production for profit and that he "represents a menace to the fundamental principles of American government."

He declared that a "red" campaign, of which Mr. La Guardia is a part, was under way, and urged his hearers not to be blind to it.

"I am a Liberal," Mr. McKee said. "I believe in the preservation of equality of opportunity. But I reject, as an American, the plot to put us under the policies and philosophy of Moscow.

Bad Time for Demagogue.

Mr. McKee prefaced his charge of communism against Mr. La Guardia by saying that the country was passing through an economic crisis and that the voice of the demagogue was never more dangerous than at this time.

He declared he would prove that Mr. La Guardia is one of a group which is seeking to bring about a new form of society which is the same as communism. He named Mr. La Guardia as a member of the United Action Campaign committee of the League for Independent Political Action, of which Prof. John Dewey, Columbia university philosopher, is chairman.

"This committee," Mr. McKee said, "issued only several days ago a pamphlet which I now show you, containing its political principles under the title of 'Audacity! More Audacity! Always Audacity!'

"Sixty-eight members are listed, all well known as extremists, and prominent among them is Fiorello H. La Guardia. His name is carried on all the principal literature issued by this committee, which sets forth purposes which cannot be regarded as other than communistic."

Alludes to French Revolution.

Mr. McKee said that the preface of the pamphlet sought to show the parallel between France in 1792, preceding the French revolution, and the United States in 1933. He read from this preface as follows:

"Audacious and bold action saved the French revolution in a critical hour in 1792. Audacious and bold action can save America in 1933 if radical groups, organizations, and leaders will only drop partisanship and narrow devotion to dogmatic creeds and unite upon a program of action in common. If the leaders of the American radical movements will exercise some of the magnificent audacity of a Danton or a Samuel Adams, of a Jefferson or a Jackson, of a Lincoln or a Lenin, they can bring into existence a new political movement which will challenge the power of capitalism."

Quotes from Prophet.

Mr. McKee then read a further extract from the pamphlet under the heading of "America at the Crossroads," as follows:

"Production for profit, with its concomitant elements of greed, exploitation, and cutthroat competition, is the corner stone of the capitalist arena. That is why the problem of distribution under methods of modern mass production can never be solved with equity and justice by a capitalist society. That is why capitalism must be destroyed."

Mr. McKee said that these pamphlets had had a circulation of thousands, and now sold for 10 cents a copy, had had an unusually large sale following the nomination of Mr. La Guardia for mayor. He added that last month the League for Independent Political Action addressed a letter to members which read:

"Our first task is to build up the membership of the league itself to a commanding position among the organizations of the left."

He quoted a recent publication of the league as saying:

"That is an unqualified declaration for communism," Mr. McKee said.

Mr. McKee said that Mr. La Guardia had gloried in his opposition to the established order until he entered the campaign for the mayoralty and received the support of Republican reactionaries like Ogden L. Mills, W. Kingsland Macy, Charles H. Tuttle, and Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, who hoped to use him as a weapon to attack the Roosevelt administration.

"The time has come to tear off the mask," Mr. McKee concluded.

GERMAN BODIES DENIED PERMIT TO MEET IN N. Y.

Mayor Says He Fears Violence.

New York, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Mayor John P. O'Brien tonight notified officials of German societies planning a celebration next Sunday that he would not permit the meeting to be held.

His action followed upon protests that the celebration was arranged to spread Nazi propaganda.

A few hours after a public hearing at which objectors and proponents testified, the mayor announced his decision in a letter to Dr. William Popcke, chairman of the committee from the United German societies arranging the celebration.

"I shall not permit any property controlled by the city," wrote the mayor, "to be used for a meeting which would result in disorder, in sowing dissension between the various elements of this cosmopolitan community, and in permitting alien agitators to transfer to this soil the discussion of questions which have already in Germany resulted in discord, disorder, and death."

Use of Armory Sought.

The societies had requested the use of the 69th Regiment armory for the meeting, arranged in observance of the 250th anniversary of the first German immigration to the United States.

Objectors advanced reasons, the mayor said, to show "that the meeting, as it was arranged, would necessarily lead to violence, riot, and possibly loss of life."

Saying he has had great admiration for the record of German-Americans in this country, the mayor added:

"I feel in this case that, through the actions of men whom you and your associates could not control, a group of propagandists sent here by a foreign power seized the direction and control of your organization.

Loath to Act, He Says.

"I feel loath to do anything that would appear to interfere with the right of any group to meet for discussion or for an honest expression of opinion on any question. I am a strong supporter of the doctrine that men have a right to assemble in peaceful meeting at any time in our country.

"But I am mayor of the city of New York, and when confronted with a concrete fact such as is before me now, I must as an official, sworn to preserve peace, order and safety, do my duty to the whole community.

"In the face of your failure to show that this meeting was likely to be a peaceful assemblage, I am convinced that I should adhere to the position which I have taken."

DEPENDABLE FOR 82 YEARS

Journalism Student

Miss Jane Orr, 20 years old, a junior in the school of journalism at Northwestern university, is the first girl in the university's history to edit the Syllabus, the university annual published by students. So far more than 50 yearly issues of the book have been published and the distinction of directing the editorial policy and composition of the annual, formerly dominated by male editors, is highly prized on the campus. Miss Orr, who has been named editor this year, is the daughter of George Orr, 755 Grove street, Glencoe.

TELLS REFORMS IN IMMIGRATION BUREAU SERVICE

Reforms in federal immigration service, which will reduce expenditures and place the department under a "humanizing" policy, were described yesterday by Col. Daniel W. MacCormack, commissioner of immigration and naturalization.

The federal commissioner spoke before the annual meeting of the Immigrants' Protective league in the headquarters of the Chicago Bar association. Members of the Bar association and the Illinois conference on public welfare were present. Mrs. Kenneth F. Rich, director of the Chicago league, also spoke. Abel Davis, president of the league, presided.

HOOVER'S NAME IS MENTIONED IN SHIP MAIL QUIZ

Several in His Cabinet Also Referred To.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25.—(AP)—The names of former President Hoover and several of his cabinet members were brought into testimony again today before the special senate committee investigating mail contracts.

Taking up the Colombian Steamship company, Chairman Black [Dem., Ala.] questioned C. H. C. Pearsall, vice president, closely as to whether he had conferred with Andrew Mellon, then secretary of the treasury, during negotiations for purchase of ships from the shipping board. Pearsall said he did not see Mellon or any one representing him.

The questioning centered on the purchase by the Colombian company of the steamship Haiti from the government for $10,000 and its sale a couple of years later, in 1928, to the Ocean Dominion Steamship corporation, known as the Aluminum line, for minimum considerations, totaling $205,000.

Million Paid for Ship.

The committee chairman said the government paid $1,000,000 for the vessel and spent more than the $10,000 Colombian purchase price in repairs.

The committee brought out that an agreement to stay out of competition with the Ocean Dominion line for a specified time, was part of the sales contract.

Before turning to the Colombian company, the committee questioned H. H. Bond, former assitant secretary of the treasury, on his activities in support of the Black Diamond Steamship company's fight with the United States Lines for purchase of the Black Diamond vessels from the shipping board. Earlier in the hearings a letter was produced in which Bond wrote Mr. Hoover setting forth why the Black Diamond should be given preference.

Questions Fitness of Line.

Bond today identified letters written as a member of a law firm representing J. E. Dockendorff, president of the Black Diamond to Ira Campbell, counsel for the Steamship Owners' association and chairman of the special committee Mr. Hoover had appointed to study government ship sales. In the letters Bond questioned the financial fitness of the United States Lines to take over the Black Diamond vessels.

Bond said he conferred with Robert P. Lamont, then secretary of commerce, and Walter Brown, then postmaster general, before he delivered the letter telling why the Black Diamond should be given preference personally to the President. He told the committeee he worked only as an attorney and did not lobby or use "influence."

The committee learned from Pearsall that his company had sold a boat, in October, 1932, to the Colombian government, for $47,500. He denied knowledge of the purpose of the purchase other than that he understood "they had some business for it on the Amazon river." It was about this time Colombia and Peru were fighting over the Leticia incident.

RULING AWAITED ON SUIT TO HALT VOTE ON REPEAL

Pennsylvania Prepares to Ballot Nov. 7.

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Awaiting a court decision this week on an injunction petition to prevent the state from voting on repeal of the 18th amendment, Pennsylvania officials have set up all the machinery necessary for the election of repeal convention delegates on Nov. 7.

The Dauphin court heard argument Monday on the case brought by national anti-repeal forces headed by Dr. William Sheafe Chase of the International Reform federation, Washington, D. C.

Attorney General William A. Schnader, who defended the state convention act, and other state officials say they are confident the restraining order will be refused.

Cite Supreme Court Decision.

They cite the United States Supreme court refusal to review a similar case which dry leaders lost in Missouri, pointing out that the Pennsylvania action, like that in Missouri, was instituted with the same purpose of testing the federal legislation permitting state conventions to vote on repeal.

Dr. Chase and counsel for the anti-repealists who filed the Pennsylvania case contend state conventions to modify the national constitution are not valid. They claim such conventions are not representative of the people and, through delegates pledged in advance, bar debate which they say is essential to the representative plan of government.

Calls Action Too Late.

Attorney General Schnader, in urging dismissal of the pending case, stressed the fact that the injunction asked seeks to prevent the secretary of the commonwealth from doing something he has already done—certify the names of the 15 wet and 15 dry candidates for convention delegates to county commissioners.

The Pennsylvania act creates a convention of 15 delegates, elected at large, which meets on Dec. 5. This is the date which repeal forces hail as that on which the 18th amendment will be officially stricken from the constitution.

Convention in Virginia Ratifies Vote for Repeal

Richmond, Va., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Virginia today ratified the twenty-first amendment to the constitution of the United States, which repeals the eighteenth, or prohibition amendment. The ceremony today was to cast formally the vote of the state which was registered by the electorate on Oct. 3, in voting almost two to one for repeal and practically the same majority for a state liquor system to replace the bone dry Layman act in Virginia.

LAKE CO. PUZZLED BY STRANGE CASE OF VIRGINIA KATE

Lake county officials puzzled yesterday over the strange case of a girl about 21 years old, known only as Virginia Kate, who describes herself as a confidant in a murder plot and the possible victim of the other plotters' revenge if she talks freely.

Virginia Kate was found unconscious Sunday in an automobile in Highwood, apparently either intoxicated or drugged. With her was a young man who said he was Nathan Ames of Cicero. The girl was charged with vagrancy and held, but Ames, after being booked for disorderly conduct, was released on his own recognizance when members of a fraternal order guaranteed his appearance for a hearing Saturday.

Yesterday, before County Judge Perry L. Persons in Waukegan, Virginia Kate said she formerly lived in Milwaukee but couldn't tell the name of her father or mother. Besides herself, she said, two men were in the murder secret and she dared not discuss it. Unable to determine whether the girl is normal mentally, Judge Persons ordered her held in custody while further investigation is being made.

IDLE, HE GETS HIMSELF JAILED.

Lincoln, Ill., Oct. 25.—Leo Bierd, idle, assured himself of food and warmth for the winter by the simple expedient of throwing a rock through a window. The window happened to be that of Deputy Sheriff Paul Thompson, Elkhart, who promptly arrested Bierd on a malicious mischief charge. Bierd was sentenced to six months at Vandalia penal farm.

We're Going Back to Hatter's Plush for the Afternoon

Along with the feathers and fur muffs comes that dearly beloved hatter's plush of the "grande dame" days. A capricious spotted veil or a jewel clipped in the crown is all you need to embellish one of these hats of hatter's plush. It's the kind of furry fabric that looks slick with deep fur collars, which is first consideration in winter. The Modern Room has a fine collection in afternoon variations. $7.50 up.

IT is a thrifty, economical idea to serve cranberry sauce with all your meals because cranberry sauce is not expensive and those who are wise know it makes every other food taste much better. Make cranberry sauce this way—

"10-Minute" Cranberry Sauce
(Stewed Cranberries)

Boil 2 cups of water and 1½ to 2 cups of sugar together 5 minutes, then add 4 cups Eatmor Cranberries. Boil without stirring (5 minutes is usually sufficient) until all the skins pop open. Remove from fire when the popping stops, and allow the sauce to remain in vessel undisturbed until cool.

Your grocer or fruit dealer can furnish you free recipe cards that give other tasty ways to serve

STATE'S UTILITY EXPERTS PILE UP RATE CUT FACTS

Complete Case Against Public Service Co.

Another sheaf of tables and statistics designed to show justification for a lower electric rate by the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois was placed in evidence before the Illinois commerce commission yesterday as the commission's own experts completed their case for a temporarily reduced rate pending examination of the company's corporate setup.

On the stand throughout the morning was Dr. William A. Dittmer, utilities analyst of Chicago and New York, whose firm the commission itself retained last June to discover whether lower utility rates were justified generally in Illinois.

Adjourn Hearing to Nov. 16.

Following his testimony, the hearing was adjourned to Nov. 16, at which time the utility company may cross-examine Dr. Dittmer and other commission experts and present its own case. James Simpson, chairman of the company, has declared that in view of the lower earnings and increased taxes the company is now carrying a rate reduction is "unthinkable" at this time.

The commission's procedure is unprecedented in this state by reason of its action in first citing the utility to show cause why the rate should not be reduced, then passing judgment on the reasonableness of its own demand. Chairman Benjamin F. Lindheimer has implied that the innovation is part of the Roosevelt new deal to which his associate, Charles Byrne, River Forest member, added yesterday that Gov. Horner had instructed the commission to be fair to all sides.

Makes Repeated Protests.

The company's attorney, Harry Dunbaugh, protested repeatedly yesterday when the commission's attorney, Harry R. Booth, introduced evidence relating to the company's operations prior to 1932, when the management, formerly headed by Samuel Insull, was assumed by Mr. Simpson. In an address to the commission Tuesday, Mr. Simpson had declared that "nothing was to be gained by seeking to attribute the present situation to anything that may have occurred in the past, neither the present commission nor the present [company] management being in any measure responsible."

"Some of the statistics offered by Mr. Dittmer may be misleading, and are certainly subject to challenge by the company," Mr. Dunbaugh explained. "I question to propriety of permitting these statistics to go into the record, after which they may be published to the possible detriment of the company."

Testifies on Earnings.

The objection was overruled. Thereupon Attorney Booth led Dr. Dittmer into a discussion of a chart showing the company's invested capital and the earnings thereon from 1923 to 1932. Total earnings for the period on a "historical cost basis," he said, averaged 9.57 per cent yearly, and on a "reproduction cost basis" averaged 8.82 per cent. Setting 6 per cent as a fair return, the witness computed that in the ten year period, the company earned an excess of $29,371,916 above 6 per cent on a "historical cost basis, and an excess of $25,165,743 on a "reproduction cost basis."

To show where the earnings went, Attorney Booth had Dr. Dittmer present another table giving the surplus and dividends record from 1927 to 1932. The table was as follows:

1928	4,263,815	3,471,234	10,254,195
1929	4,863,196	4,058,595	13,326,490
1930	5,222,884	4,744,853	16,238,388
1931	5,801,088	5,249,597	18,483,474
1932	6,117,952	4,278,755	1,486,775

Mr. Booth laid particular stress on the cut of the surplus account from $18,483,474 to $1,486,775 between 1931 and 1932, an action which Mr. Simpson ordered soon after he took control. It is the attorney's contention that the drastic writedown would not have been necessary except for manipulations accomplished by the Insull regime in preceding years.

The attorney laid less emphasis on the decline in dividends paid, this decline being reflected by recent successive cuts in the annual rate from an original $3 per common share to the present $2. Mr. Simpson had contended that if earnings are further curtailed the company may not only be forced to suspend dividends, but may find its credit impaired.

Protest Further Cut.

Counsel for another former Insull company, the Western United Gas and Electric company, appeared yesterday before Deputy Commissioner Robert H. Farrell to complete their record calculated to guard against any further reduction in the company's gas rate.

Attorney B. F. Alschuler told Mr. Farrell the company cannot absorb a further cut because of increased operating expenses due to reëmployment under the NRA and imposition of the federal capital stock tax and the state occupational tax. Mr. Farrell gave opposing counsel, Attorney Lamcolm McCartney, until Nov. 16 to reply.

SEIZE AMERICAN IN CUBA; WARSHIP GOES TO RESCUE

Disorders Dot Isle; Grau Cabinet Totters.

BULLETIN.

HAVANA, Cuba, Oct. 26 [Thursday].—(AP)—An explosion partly wrecked the residence of Carlos Mendieta, veteran Nationalist leader, in suburban Vedado early today. No one was injured. Mendieta said his wife had left the balcony, near where the worst damage was done, a few minutes before the explosion. His daughter and a maid were asleep in the house.

HAVANA, Cuba, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Serious labor troubles dotted Cuba today. Several American owned sugar mills were involved and tonight Americans and the Cuban government were worried. At least one American was endangered as a prisoner of striking workers.

The United States destroyer Twiggs was standing by o: Antilla, in Oriente province, near the Alto Cedro sugar mill, where C. M. Jervis, the American manager, was held by strikers who had formed a soviet régime.

The commander of the Twiggs said Jervis was afraid to leave under an escort of Cuban soldiers, believing his departure would precipitate a clash between the strikers and troopers.

Cabinet Ready to Quit.

The cruiser Richmond sailed from Havana harbor after the arrival of another American naval craft, the Wyoming.

President Ramon Grau San Martin called his ministers for an extraordinary session at which the resignation of the entire cabinet was considered. The resignation was said in high government circles to have been offered as a result of serious considerations of the semi-parliamentary government proposal under which a commission of twenty, including representatives of oppositionist factions, would be established virtually to control Cuban affairs.

A member of the cabinet said tonight, "We will not be an obstacle to any understanding with the opposition," although he refused to confirm reports that President Grau had asked the cabinet's resignations be prepared last night. Another cabinet member said that "rapprochement with the opposition must come. It is the only remedy."

Beat Up Teacher and Priest.

Besides the trouble involving the American at the Alto Cedro sugar mill, disorders were reported at sugar mills in Mercedes, in Matanzas province, at Santa Ana in Oriente province, and at Cunagua, Camaguey province, where a number of Americans are employed.

Although it parried a general strike in Havana, the government faced another in Matanzas province. It was only partly effective tonight, however.

A group of men armed with iron pipes entered a parochial school in Matanzas, beat a teacher and the priest who was in charge, and forced them to close the school. Soldiers thereupon were sent to guard all schools.

One Killed in Camaguey.

An exchange of shots between dissenting groups of workmen at the Jaronu sugar mill in Camaguey province resulted in one death and injuries to several men. Soldiers were called to reëstablish order.

Bombs boomed in Havana last night and early today. Two exploded under street cars, doing slight damage, and one was hurled into the headquarters of a Negro society. The commercial strike which gripped the city yesterday was ended at midnight, and few stores failed to open this morning.

SUPREME COURT PUTS THE COUNTY $360,000 AHEAD

County officials received a copy of an opinion by the Supreme court yesterday which cut the deficiency appropriations the county will have to make, because of court attacks on its economy measures, from approximately $760,000 to $400,000.

The county board ordered all employés to take a two weeks payless vacation in September of 1931 and in 1932 it cut employés' salaries 15 per cent and made the cut retroactive to the first Monday in the preceding December.

In a test case, Attorney Victor Frohlich obtained a writ of mandamus in the Circuit court, ordering the county to pay Mario Poilastrini, a deputy sheriff, for the vacation period, and to give him his pay deductions up to the date on which the 1932 budget was adopted. This ruling was later affirmed by the Appellate court.

The Supreme court, in an opinion written by Justice Frederic R. De Young, reversed the lower courts so far as the retroactive pay cuts were concerned, holding that the county board had the right to make them, but ordered that Poilastrini be paid for his payless vacation.

Under the Supreme court ruling, the county must pay its employés about $400,000 for the 1931 vacation period, but is freed from restoring the retroactive pay cuts, which saved the county about $360,000.

JACOBS PERSISTS IN REFUSING TAX CUTS TO 72,000

Although it was indicated yesterday that the Illinois Supreme court may be petitioned for a second rehearing on its decision ordering the board of tax appeals to expunge its 15 per cent reduction order on the 1931 assessed valuations of homes and small flat buildings, County Assessor J. L. Jacobs continued to stand firm on his statement that he would not apply the reduction to the 72,000 complaints filed with the board. William F. Stelzer, chairman of the tax limitation committee of the Chicago recovery administration, said he would ask for the rehearing unless the assessor reduced the assessments. Such a petition, it is said, would again delay collection of taxes on homes.

SEXTON TO TAKE LOW FARE PLEA TO I. C. C. TODAY

Ordered by Council to Attend Hearing.

The city council, after considerable debate yesterday, directed Corporation Counsel Sexton to appear today before the Illinois Commerce commission when it resumes the hearing on the petition of the Cook County Car Riders' association for a 5 cent fare and universal transfers on the surface and "L" lines.

Ald. James B. Moreland [41st] first introduced a resolution directing the corporation counsel to support the 5 cent fare plea. Before it was adopted, however, it was amended to direct him to appear in the interest of obtaining the "lowest possible fare consistent with adequate service, living wages for employés, and universal transfers."

Aldermen Voice Objections.

Ald. James B. Bowler [25th], chairman of the local transportation committee, and Ald. Oscar F. Nelson [46th] objected to the resolution in its original wording. They protested that it would be unwise for the council to go on record in favor of 5 cent fares without an investigation, and preparation of facts in support of the proposal.

"I'm willing to order the corporation counsel to appear, "said Mayor Kelly during the discussion. "The city administration is for lower fares."

Urges City to Intervene.

Another resolution, introduced by Ald. John A. Massen [48th], was referred to the committee on local transportation. Ald. Massen urged that the city intervene in the receivership proceedings of the elevated and surface lines in the federal court. By so doing, he said, the city would then be in a position to start proceedings for consolidation of service and for unification of ownership in case any of the companies were ordered sold.

HOTEL PAYS TAX BILL; TAKEN OUT OF RECEIVERSHIP

TAX COLLECTIONS.

Real estate tax collections yesterday were $218,087, making a total of $31,129,516 collected since enforcement of the Kerner-Skarda act began on April 28. The day's collections of real estate taxes and the uncollected taxes for the last four years follow:

	1928.	1929.
Oct. 25	$ 15,255	$ 37,902
Uncollected	16,858,958	44,908,631
	1930.	1931
Oct. 25	$ 47,499	$ 117,431
Uncollected	71,389,505	73,339,636

The day's collection of 1931 personal property taxes totaled $1,124.

The Lansing hotel, 1038 North Dearborn street, was taken out of tax receivership yesterday by County Judge Jarecki when Attorney U. S. Schwartz, representing the hotel, made a payment of $30,352, the balance of the delinquent taxes. The hotel was one of the first properties ordered into receivership under the Kerner-Skarda act.

County Treasurer McDonough, who was receiver for the hotel under the act, had appointed Daniel P. Wagner as his agent. Attorney Schwartz told the court that the owners were pleased with Wagner's management and Judge Jarecki allowed Wagner to remain as permanent manager.

AVIATION NOTES

The first regular air service between Shanghai and Canton, China, a distance of about 1,000 miles, was inaugurated yesterday by the China National Aviation corporation, according to the Pan American Airways, which is associated in the airline with the Chinese National government. The American concern operates the airline and the government manages it. This American interest in Far East air transportation is expected to aid foreign trade of the United States.

An evening air travel service from Chicago to Washington, D. C., has been placed in effect through coördination of schedules of United Air Lines from Chicago to Cleveland and Pennsylvania Air Lines from Cleveland to Washington. The plane leaves here at 4:30 p. m. and is in Washington at 11 p. m.

K. D. Parmentier, chief pilot of the Royal Dutch Air Lines, from Holland to India, Batavia and the Dutch East Indies, passed through Chicago yesterday on a tour of American air lines. He is learning American night flying methods to place them in effect on the Dutch air line next year.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years, and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They help cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you should find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets.

SEEK $1,350,000 FEDERAL GIFT TO FINISH 5 SCHOOLS

$4,500,000 in Warrants Offered Contractors.

The board of education yesterday adopted unanimously a resolution under which the board will seek a grant of $1,350,000 from the federal public works administration and will supplement this with $9,500,000 in tax warrants to complete five school buildings on which work was halted for lack of funds in 1931.

If its construction plan goes through it was indicated by the board that the following schools are to be completed:

1. The new Lane Technical High school at Addison street and Western avenue, which will have 6,191 seats and is 80 per cent completed.

2. The addition to Senn High school at 5900 Glenwood avenue, which will have 1,630 seats and is 85 per cent completed.

3. The Steinmetz High school at Barry and Melvin avenues, which will have 2,230 seats and is 85 per cent completed.

The other schools to be designated by the superintendent, one, probably, on the south side and the other on the north, will also be completed.

Sees No Hope for $14,000,000 Loan.

The building resolution was introduced by Trustee Charles W. Fry. He said that as a result of his two weeks' investigation of public works administration red tape in Washington, he was convinced that the real trouble lay in the financial situation of the Chicago schools, and that the board cannot hope to get the entire $14,000,000 loan which it requested to complete all ten of its unfinished schools.

The $1,350,000 which the PWA will be asked to furnish will be 30 per cent of the cost of labor and materials, and will be the only federal contribution to the program. Instead of getting a loan for the remainder the board will ask contractors to take 1931, 1932, and 1933 building fund tax warrants.

"The government is going to have everything to say about which buildings are going up," pointed out President James B. McCahey. "They are going to distate to the board."

"The taxpayers are losing money by allowing these unfinished buildings to deteriorate," said Trustee Joseph P. Savage.

Order Loop Leases Canceled.

The board also adopted a resolution instructing its attorneys to start action at once to cancel the leases of four tenants occupying school lands in the loop and to recover possession of the premises. The tenants in question, as a result of a controversy with the board over the appraisals of the land, on which rentals depend, have paid no rent at all since February.

Trustee Andrew O. Jackson, chairman of the special committee on leases, presented the resolution for the cancellation of the leases.

"For five weeks the committee has been meeting with the lessees and their representatives," said Trustee Jackson. "The board has demanded that the four lessees in question come to the board with clean hands and pay us the $94,000 owed in back rents. The conference yesterday ended in a stalemate and the committee recommends that the board take action to cancel the leases and recover its property."

The lessees who are in default and the rentals which each owes are:

32 State Street Building corporation, 32-34 South State street, $29,028.

Rosalie Cavanna, 20-22 South State street, $10,022.

1925 Reappraisal Set Aside.

The leases on the school lands provide for reappraisals every ten years, with rentals fixed at 6 per cent of the appraisals. The appraisals have been the subject of a court contest every decade, and those for 1925 were set aside by the Supreme court.

Since that ruling, four other lessees of school property in the loop have been paying rents on the basis of the 1915 valuations. The four whose leases were ordered canceled have refused to pay any rent at all since Februrary, while their representatives have been dickering for new leases, offering terms which would yield the school board from $6,500,000 to $13,000,000 less over the 99 year period of the proposed leases.

In the case of the four lessees who have been paying on the 1915 basis, the board committee decided Tuesday to go into court and obtain new appraisals of the property as of 1925.

PUBLIC CASH CUT OFF, CHARITIES FOUND AT SEA

Speaker Likens Them to Indigent Families.

Denied the use of public funds which recently have been being used for relief work, many private charitable agencies "are in the position of dependent families who have become accustomed to relief," Grace Cone, of the Family Welfare association, Springfield, said yesterday.

She addressed an afternoon meeting of Illinois and Wisconsin Family Workers' councils in Hotel Knickerbocker, held in connection with the Illinois and Wisconsin Conference of Social Welfare Workers, which will be concluded today.

"I am sure," she said, "that every private agency which was receiving public relief funds had a funny feeling at the recent ruling of Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator, cutting off public funds.

Tends to Lose Private Gifts.

"The subsidized private agency tends to lose private support. There is not the same incentive for persons to leave endowments. Yet the private agency does not want to 'go public,' as that is too dependent on politics. Ideally, public and private agencies should work side by side."

In discussion that followed, one representative of a private charity institution said that it had kept its old budget for its regular services, and therefore faced no embarrassing situation. Another said that in her community private agencies were "caring for the cases of a public agency.

Lucia B. Clow, of the Milwaukee Family Welfare association, addressed the group on evaluating the family welfare program in a local community. She questioned the large investment family agencies have made in training young social workers.

Finds Charities Guilty of Fads.

"We have been guilty of enthusiasms and fads," she said. "One worker will be particularly interested in health. She works with a family and insists they all have medical examinations. A few months later a worker interested in the legal approach takes the family. Another takes her place, and she is interested in getting all members of the family to have psychiatric examinations. Another may think environment most important and she gets the family moved.

"We think perhaps there's something wrong with the client and we try to do something about it. Then we wonder if there isn't something wrong with us.

"We have been becoming self conscious, and we have lost something."

In the discussion which followed, one worker said:

"I have nothing to say about our training young college girls in social work, but I've heard our clients say something. They talk of their 'experimenting' with them just to get their 'social training.'"

Honor Convocation

One hundred and forty-two Northwestern university students received awards for superior scholastic ability at the annual honor convocation held yesterday at the Congregational church in Evanston. Prof. Franklin Bliss Snyder of the department of English delivered the convocation address and President Walter Dill Scott presented the awards. Albert Barker of Wilmette was presented with a silver cup by Phi Eta Sigma, national honorary society, as the student who had made the greatest improvement in grades during the second semester last year. Other special scholarships were awarded to ten students in various departments who made grades of "superior merit" last year.

BERWYN SCHOOL TEACHERS ASK FOR CASH PAY DAY

Sixty-five Berwyn teachers, employed in the five schools in District 98, attended a meeting of the district board last night to protest against any further payment of salaries in teachers' orders and to demand cash. For nine and a half months the teachers have not had a pay day in cash and they asserted they could dispose of the orders now only at discounts up to 50 per cent. The orders are an obligation of the board, payable when tax raised funds become available. William Kallal, president of the board, said that negotiations for a loan were being made.

School Parties Planned as Halloween Prank Antidote

Superintendent of Schools Bogan requested all school principals yesterday to arrange Halloween programs of various sorts in an attempt to dissuade their young charges from vandalism on the holiday, Monday evening. Similar programs of plays, pageants, and games during the last nine years, Mr. Bogan said, have materially reduced property damage.

ITALIAN PRINCE IN CRASH; NEWS BANNED IN BERLIN

BERLIN, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Crown Prince Humbert of Italy, his wife and his sister, Princess Philip of Hesse of Germany, traveling incognito in a taxicab from Berlin to Potsdam, were involved in an accident in which no one was hurt, it was learned today.

Their driver crashed into a motorcycle and sidecar while the three royal visitors were en route to Potsdam to see the sights. The motorcycle was smashed. Neither the taxi driver nor the motorcycle rider knew that distinguished persons were involved in the accident until the cyclist hailed a policeman who demanded the names of the passengers.

To spare the Italians the embarrassment of their presence in Berlin becoming known, the police president ordered suppression of the news of the accident in the German press. An "important notice to editors" was issued by the semi-official Wolff News agency which read:

"Concerning the traffic accident of the Italian crown prince couple and Princess Hesse on the road to Potsdam, the Berlin police president ordered that nothing be made public."

Anthony Djikow, 35 years old, no known address, died of shock yesterday, the result of plunging into the cold waters of Lake Michigan. He was fished out of the lake at Ohio street a few minutes after he was seen by Henry Menceal, 54 West Austin avenue, to jump in. Coast guard officials expressed belief that shock and not drowning caused his death.

PRESBYTERIANS BOOST BUDGET BY $2,000,000

Predict Increased Church Income in 1934.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Presbyterians of the nation yesterday forecast a 33 1-3 per cent gain in church income for 1934, and adopted a national budget based on this expectation. This action was taken at the annual meeting of the general council of the Presbyterian church in the U. S. A. in session at the Drake hotel.

J. Willison Smith, chairman of the council's budget and finance committee presented the budget, asserting that the council's increased requests represent a vote of confidence in President Roosevelt's recovery program. The council unanimously adopted the report. For the last fiscal year the budget of the church amounted to $6,000,000. For the fiscal year of 1934, the budget is to be $8,000,000.

Large Sums for Missions.

The largest items on the budget submitted by Mr. Smith were for domestic and foreign missions. The foreign missions requests for 1934 total $3,048,000, while domestic work will require an additional $3,580,000. The educational program of the Presbyterian church calls for $1,036,000, with the remainder of the budget alloted to pensions, the American Bible society, and the Federal Council of Churches.

In addition to the increase in the budget, the general council will launch a nationwide spiritual renewal movement which will consolidate the denomination in a concerted campaign of evangelism. By adopting unanimously Moderator John McDowell's proposal, the Presbyterian church will undertake what is believed to be the most far reaching evangelistic movement ever attempted by a Protestant denomination working as a unit.

On Executive Committee.

The program calls for the creation of an executive committee composed of Dr. McDowell, Dr. Lewis S. Mudge, Raymond Kistler, Mr. Smith and Mrs Burdette Lewis. This committee will launch the movement at once by enlisting all pastors of the church in the program. Special committees will be created in each presbytery to coordinate the program in their localities.

The program proposes to revitalize the church "by the recognition of its belief in prayer as the central act and vital factor in personal religion; by inspired preaching supported by able scholarship and by making the Bible better understood."

Dublin Hears Lord Mayor Is Hurt in Rome Accident

NEW SALEM TO BE DEDICATED TO LINCOLN TODAY

Bloomington, Ill., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—The village of New Salem, restored to much the same condition it was a century ago when Abraham Lincoln walked its quiet lanes, will be dedicated as a state park tomorrow.

Gov. Henry Horner will present the restored village to the citizens of Illinois, and Thomas Reep of Petersburg, an official of the Old Salem Lincoln league, will present the furnishings, and the collection in which the league took a leading part.

Thirteen log cabins have been built on the site of the village, closely following descriptions of the town as it was when the youthful Lincoln arrived there in 1831.

The original logs of the Onstott Cooper shop, where Lincoln studied by light, have been placed. The Cooper shop stands at the extreme west end of the state park. Remnants of the Rutledge tavern, which was rebuilt a number of years ago, are being removed. The building was out of repair and one corner of it fell recently. This tavern will be reconstructed.

More to Be Rebuilt.

It is probable that twelve more buildings, including the combination saw and grist mill on the Sangamon river, will be rebuilt when funds are available.

The dedication tomorrow culminates a movement of many years to make New Salem a Lincoln shrine. It has been a state park since 1919, and appropriations have been made under Governors Emmerson and Horner for reconstruction.

New Salem, founded in 1829, enjoyed a few years of prosperity and then declined and by 1840 had practically disappeared. Lincoln lived there from 1831 to 1837, six of the most important years of his life. He became postmaster, an unsuccessful merchant, a steamboat pilot, a militia captain, and a member of the general assembly. There, too, his ill starred romance with Ann Rutledge developed.

Home of Lincoln's Young Manhood.

In New Salem Lincoln came under the influence of a conscientious schoolmaster who stimulated his interest in mathematics, grammar and literature. There he began the study of law.

On Jan. 4, 1918, the Old Salem Lincoln league was incorporated. On No. 17, 1932, the corner stone of the Lincoln Berry store was laid.

The village, it is asserted, looks much as it looked one hundred years ago. Furniture in the restored cabins is one hundred years old, trees have been transplanted, rail fences placed in the locations they were in Lincoln's age, covered wagons and ox carts restored along the main street.

No automobiles will be allowed tomorrow in the center of the 200 acre plot that now comprises the state park. Not a single thing modern or out of time is wanted. To preserve the furniture visitors will not be allowed in the buildings, but will view them through the doors and windows.

(Run-down condition, usually caused by Constipation)

Millions of men and women are in the same lamentable plight today... and not one in ten can guess the cause. That's the insidious thing about Asthenia... it drags you down, slows your mind, robs you of your joys and pleasures, yet you hardly realize you're slipping.

Would you like for once to brush the cobwebs from your eyes—be ready and eager for any task—experience all the glories of this glorious old world? Then rid yourself of Asthenia—and stay rid of it.

You think that you're not the least bit clogged—you say that you're "regular" as can be—but physicians will tell you that it is only too easy to deceive yourself in this respect and stay doped with poisons. Thus millions of micro-organisms accumulate in the intestinal tract and produce that dull, achy, pepless feeling known as Asthenia.

The NEW TASTELESS WAY TO TAKE PLUTO

Taken as directed—one-fifth glass

in four-fifths glass of hot water

Decide right now to turn the tables on Old Man Gloom. Take Pluto Water every morning for ten mornings, and see a new world in ten days.

Gentle, Effective

Don't miss a day. Take it before breakfast as recommended—one-fifth glass Pluto Water in four-fifths glass hot water—for ten straight days! Cleanse your system of every vestige of health-destroying impurities. Then you will understand why for nearly 90 years, from all over the world, people have traveled to French Lick Springs for this ten-day Pluto Water treatment. And why physicians everywhere recommend it as a mild and effective laxative—non-irritating and non-habit-forming.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

THE WAY OUT.

A motor railroad train with a 600 horse power engine made a speed of seventy-eight miles an hour in a test out of the Philadelphia plant in which it was built. The three cars of the train are of such light material that they weigh less than one ordinary sleeping car and the operating cost is estimated at one-third that of a steam train. The new train is intended for service between Fort Worth and Texarkana, Tex.

For many years railroad transportation was chiefly a controversy with government. Railroad men regarded it an accomplishment to get by the interstate commerce commission anywhere and the commission as an accomplishment to see that they didn't. Railroading meanwhile went from monopolistic to competitive conditions and the roads from dividends to R. F. C. loans. Competition found the railroad men impounded by the government and some of them in too great discouragement or despair to see any way out.

Control had not sharpened their wits. It had dulled them. Restraint had put them at such disadvantage that they did not expect to escape from it. No incentive could come out of the government regulations. The experiments in transportation methods which hold new and real promises for railroading do not owe their inspiration to any government control board.

Great possibilities are contained in the effort of the roads to overcome the handicaps under which they have operated, but the greatest effort has been to escape from the conditions fatal to the freedom of initiative. The genius of America has been one of individual achievement. Progress has been by the development of new uses. Throughout the hard times the business of electrical refrigeration has been prosperous. This year is reported as the best and prospects are for better. Private enterprise here produced a new use. A new demand was created and with it the production of new materials and the stimulation of employment.

When industry is free to act it seeks with energy and intelligence to improve its product, thus raising the standards of living and fighting its way out of stagnation when slumps occur by developing new uses.

When Al Smith paid a tribute to the Fair it was to the success of private enterprise working as it did under discouraging conditions and without government aid.

'We have here," he said; "examples of the progress private industry and free men have made in industry, invention, transportation and art. It is notable that government as such has contributed little to this progress and as a matter of fact might be criticized for meddling with it through its many bureaus."

MILITARY TRAINING.

The regents of California's two state universities have taken an interesting step in making a course of military training compulsory. Of course this has raised a great to-do, led by pacifists who argue as usual that any military training breeds militarist sentiment and an ambition for military glory. The regents are not taking very strong ground in justifying their rule on the physical benefits of military training, although there are substantial physical benefits. As there are quite respectable alternatives that do not raise the issue on which the protest rests its case, it would be better tactics to meet the critics on their own ground.

We think the charge that the military training as it is conducted in our schools breeds a desire in the young to seek military glory or to favor bellicose national conduct or policy is unfounded and can be proved so by any fair inquiry. Pacifists draw false analogies from other countries the conditions of which are unlike ours. They do not take these conditions into account and they do not support their charges respecting the influence of American training in the schools with facts. Our own observation of the morals and viewpoint of the young man in the schools or in the National Guard finds no evidence that he has become belligerent or ambitious of military glory. His instruction, in its moral appeal, emphasizes devotion to his country and his duty as a citizen to defend her if involved in war.

The California regents have a strong case even for compulsion, although expediency may well urge reliance upon suasion and the principle of volunteering, even though the logic of loyal citizenship supports the principle of universal training for national defense. Whether the regents are wise in following this logic and insisting upon a valid principle depends upon conditions. We are sorry that the youth in any university or school are indisposed to take such rudimentary preparation as these institutions sometimes offer. Doubtless it would be better if they could be inspired to do so voluntarily. That is the principle upon which our armies have been composed in the first stages of every war but the latest. But it has been impossible to rely upon it long, and the late Woodrow Wilson, whom not even a professional pacifist could charge with militarism, asserted the right of compulsion as an act of democratic justice as well as efficiency.

It is to be hoped the California controversy will at least advertise the duty of citizenship among our youth and explode the pacifist fallacy that to be prepared to perform that duty is militarism in any intelligent sense of the term.

BUREAUCRACY IN ACTION.

In the French ministerial crisis the part played by the French civil servants has a special significance for the American public. Reporting the rioting near the chamber of deputies, Edmond Taylor goes on to say that "what was considered more serious than this demonstration, however, was a threatened strike by civil servants, whose pay was to be cut as one of the drastic economy measures in Daladier's bill." The Socialists, who were an essential composite of Daladier's support, split under pressure from the powerful unions of civil servants which dictate the policies of the party, and although some concessions were on the point of being arranged which would have saved the ministry, the radical faction rebelled and Daladier was defeated.

Thus the effort to save a program of retrenchment to balance the budget and strengthen the support of the franc was broken by the great power of the civil employes. What the consequences are to be no one can safely predict. They are likely to be serious and of international moment. Americans would do well to consider whether they will be the better for the steady and of late rapid building up of a huge federal bureaucracy which will inevitably wax in power and as inevitably use that power for the protection and extension of its privileges.

GRAND JURY LEAKS.

Judge Wilkerson's indignation at recent leaks from the federal grand jury room we hope will have results. The incident which has aroused him is but another proof of the association of politics with organized crime. Petty officials are frequently shown to have associations in the underworld, and the extent of influence and espionage in the purlieus of the law is beginning to be realized. Hangers-on or minor members of the court and police administration are often useful aids to gangster or crook in trouble. We hope Judge Wilkerson can find the offender or offenders in this instance and make an example which will in some measure discourage these surreptitious favors. It will be helpful in the effort to break the system which enmeshes the mechanism of the law. There are more serious strands in this web, but any weakening of the system is important. Merely to call attention to its workings is worth while, for citizens must understand the realities of the problem of organized crime in all its ramifications, especially its political ramifications, before the fight to break it up can reach the essentials. As long as corrupt politics is an ally of organized crime the center of the battle is there.

FOR OUR COMPETITORS.

A point generally overlooked by advocates of the St. Lawrence seaway is that the canal will run both ways. While the theory of a saving of 7c per bushel on wheat from Lake Superior ports and Chicago to the seaboard has been exploded during the present season by actual rates as low as 3½c, it must be admitted that there would be some saving on export grain traffic.

But while opening up great lakes ports to the markets of the world the seaway would also be opening such ports to the products of the world to the detriment of American industry.

Canada is our second best customer and Ontario is called the banner province of the dominion. Its industries furnish a market for seventeen million tons of American coal, its starch factories and distilleries a market for thousands of bushels of American corn and its machinery and car plants a market for thousands of tons of American steel.

Fifteen years ago even Montreal burned American coal for domestic use and eastbound vessels could rely on coal cargoes from Lake Erie ports to destinations on the lower St. Lawrence. Now Montreal uses Welsh anthracite and there is a demand for canal size vessels to carry Welsh coal to Toronto, Hamilton and other Ontario centers.

Ten years ago there was a substantial movement of American corn to Montreal for export. Now the trend is the reverse. Argentine and South African corn supply the Quebec market and cargoes are moving from Montreal to Toronto.

Even considering a saving of 3c per bushel on American grain with the further proviso that America will again establish herself in the export grain trade, there are grave doubts if such advantage would compensate American labor and industry for the loss of its Canadian market on these commodities alone.

Editorial of the Day

[Illinois State Register.]

The nation at large, and the midwest in pardicular, will applaud the decision of the directors of A Century of Progress Exposition to keep the gates of this memorable institution open until midnight of Nov. 12, so as to include the annual celebration of Armistice day.

Those who have been fortunate enough to be able to attend this great Exposition are unanimous in paying tribute to the excellence as well as the magnitude of the display, and to the spirit of national pride and optimism which it has inculcated in the citizenry in this darkest year of the economic depression. It should unquestionably have widened the viewpoints and enlarged the vision of the future for all who have entered its gates.

Although the turnstiles have already registered in the neighborhood of 23,000,000 visitors, it goes without saying that millions of other citizens all over the country have regretted that due to present conditions they have been unable to visit A Century of Progress Exposition. Some of these will probably get to Chicago before the gates are closed on Nov. 12. But to the great majority the talk of reopening the Fair in the summer of 1934 awakens the highest hopes.

Without question there is a great and increasing demand from the country at large that some provisions be made for the still further continuance of the Exposition—at least for next year. The reputation which it has established thus far, and the generous attendance given it, are convincing arguments that another season would be successful from all standpoints. It is to be hoped that this great enterprise will be continued along the same lines as the present Exposition which has evoked such general praise.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

A MAN WHO KILLED his wife in Michigan and tried to hide the crime by hacking her body to pieces and scattering the bits in different localities has been tried and sentenced to the penitentiary for life. He had thought to commit "the perfect crime," but, as usual, overlooked something. The woman had been arrested some years before and finger printed. The finger prints of the dead woman were made and identified from the police records. Which is reminiscent of Richard Harding Davis' rise to fame as a reporter in New York. The torso of a man had been found floating in the East river. The head was missing and there were no marks on the body from which an identification could be made. Finger prints were taken from the hands and compared to the finger prints in the police bureau of identification, but without results. The dead man had never been finger printed by the police.

All the detectives and reporters in New York were put on the case, but without results. Finally R. H. D., after studying the hands of the dead man, began a systematic tour of all the Turkish bath houses in New York. He inquired in each place if any attendant was missing. Finally he found a place where one of the masseurs had not been present for duty for some time. It was supposed he was sick or had quit his job. But Davis made inquiries at the man's house and of his friends, and finally discovered that the body found floating in the river was that of a Turkish bath attended called William Guldensuppe, as I recall it.

How did Davis do it? Why, he studied the dead man's hands long and carefully and found they were very bleached and puffy. In what sort of trade or profession would a man's hand become like that? R. H. D. decided that the man must be an attendant in a Turkish bath, and, going to an establishment of that kind nearest at hand, he asked the attendants to show him their hands. They were like the hands of the body found in the river. Then it only remained to find out what Turkish bath attendant was mysteriously missing. It seems simple. But Dick Davis was the only one able to do it. He had a highly developed nose for news.

BODY.

Illusion builds it—glamour makes it sweet.
A strange machine in most uncertain mood,
It moves—it walks along the street

And follows others of its selfsame kind.
It bows—is stricken like a flower
Against the August thunder in the wind
And rushes towards its fatal hour.

Its root is fastened closely in the mind.
It makes of sense a temple for delight.
It knows of lust—and it has dined
Within the forests of the night.

Dreams possess it. Loveliness
Rewards its searchings soon and late.
It feels the most obscure caress . . .
It is the cigarette of fate.

RICHARD DUFFEY.

ALBERT H. WIGGIN, former chairman of the Chase National bank in New York, yesterday requested the bank to discontinue his one hundred thousand dollar a year pension. And I hope all the hundred thousand dollar pensioners of the American Legion will hasten to follow this noble example.

THE ROCKEFELLER COMMISSION asks that in the future teaching the very young in the schools to dread the Demon Rum should accentuate more the effects of alcohol in retarding physical development and preventing a boy from becoming a great baseball idol like Babe Ruth or a marvelous football player like Red Grange than in continuing the system of teaching on this subject formerly in vogue. For the sake of the innocent little children of today I hope this recommendation will be carried out. I saw so many pictures of the Inner Lining of a Drunkard's Stomach, 1st Stage, 2nd Stage, 3rd Stage, and so on, that I have never been able to enjoy a beautiful sunset since. It looks so much like the Inner Lining of a Drunkard's Stomach, 3rd Stage.

THE ASTRONOMERS are terribly excited because the light of Nova Ophiuchi, a newly discovered star, has revealed that the corona around the sun is caused by oxygen in the sun's atmosphere. More important discoveries are expected to be brought to earth by the light from Nova Ophiuchi, but as it takes three thousand years for the rays from Nova Ophiuchi to reach the earth there's no use sitting up nights waiting for 'em.

A PAINTING by the artist Georgione, lost for centuries, has been discovered in Italy. It shows the meeting of Æneas and Anchises at Averno, the gateway to hell, as described by Virgil in "The Æneid." So far as I'm personally concerned the people who found the picture showing the gateway to hell can lose it again. Things are bad enough these days; why rub it in?

BELLAQUE MATRIBUS DETESTATA.

Take down the banners—let the kings depart!
Silence the bugle in the courts of dawn . . .
The world grows weary of the sound of drums—
Let no spear shine—let no sword be drawn!
Let my sons learn to till the fields of home,
And follow no bitter furrow plowed by war;
Let no man's dying cry be echoed in
The wind of stormy nights about their door!

THE LAST LINE shall be pegged! If the dollar can be pegged, why not the last line? So it shall be kept just this way until further notice, pegged down hard and tight. It may be a little boring the first few days, but you'll get used to it. And it's going to save a lot of work. Anyhow, it's the custom these days. So here goes. Where's a peg? WHANG! WHANG! WHANG! (That's the hammer driving in the peg.) Now she's pegged! Three rousing cheers!

ENCEPHALITIS NOT DUE TO SMOKE.

A. B. suggests that the epidemic of encephalitis in St. Louis was caused by breathing the smoke polluted air of the union station. Her work has made it necessary for her to go through that station twenty-five times recently. She writes: "As soon as the train pulls into the station I have the most distressing feeling from that dreadful odor of coal smoke from the engine. The air is cold, clammy, and smoky. I am well and strong, but breathing that air makes me gasp for breath and act like an asthmatic. I scarcely have energy enough to attend to my baggage and get out of the station into the fresh air."

This correspondent is wrong in her conclusions. The epidemic of encephalitis started in the country and spread to the city. Prior to the outbreak in St. Louis county it was fairly prevalent in several adjoining states, and the people in the small towns and rural districts had their share of it. Nowhere has it been associated with exposure to smoke. Up to date no certain information is in hand as to what causes the disease, but nothing suggests the cause to be smoke.

The symptoms which A. B. gives are principally psychic. She rebels against the discomfort caused by the disagreeable smoke and on this rebellion she works herself into a semi-hysteric, half-frenzied state, out of which the symptoms referred to develop. She says she is scarcely able to get through the station and she means what she says, but if her life depended on it she could run out of the station and keep on running to East St. Louis and then top her run by walking to Alton.

While the air of the station does not cause encephalitis, nor does it cause all of A. B.'s symptoms—which, by the way, are not those of encephalitis—it is often unpleasant and, in some measure, unwholesome. The station is located in something of a valley, with higher ground near by on two sides and not far away in other directions. The train shed serves further to trap air. The number of locomotives coming into, going out of, and standing in the station is large. St. Louis is near a soft coal field. This coal makes much smoke, and in this smoke there is considerable sulphur.

As the smoke comes from the stack it contains much sulphurous acid, and this is irritating to the breathing apparatus and harmful to fabrics. Some of this acid absorbs moisture and is changed to sulphuric acid, a form that is also irritating to the breathing apparatus and corrosive to metals. Certainly smoke produced in locomotives under strong draft contains unburned coal, fine dust carbon, carbonic acid, and carbon monoxide. None of these is entirely wholesome. Of the group, carbon monoxide is the most harmful, but there is no very great danger of a harmful proportion of this gas in the station air.

The authorities, the citizens, and the railroads are aware of the situation, but to apply a remedy is not easy. Most of the railroads would like to change to electric traction in the terminal, but the owners say the money to do this cannot be found. A type of terminal engine now coming into use will help the situation, but using this type of engine will not affect encephalitis.

HAVE AN EXAMINATION.

M. G. E. writes: During housecleaning time especially black and blue spots appear on my arms. One of the fingers on my right hand is apt to stiffen up for a minute, then turn black and blue and finally a dark red. They are not painful, but I know from the feeling of stiffness what is about to happen.

REPLY.

Have your physician advise you whether you have an early Raynaud's disease or Buerger's disease, or what.

CAR SICKNESS.

Mrs. J. O. E. writes: My 4 year old is very susceptible to car sickness. When my husband suggested a trip to Chicago by auto my hair all but stood on end at the thought. However, half a tablet of amytal and a beverage containing caffein each morning just as he began to feel dizzy turned the trick. It afforded instant relief. I pass this on to you, as it may help some other child.

BY OPERATION ONLY.

O. P. writes: How can a scar from a severe hot water burn be removed? It is very unsightly. Is there any chemical acid which will peel off the outer skin?

REPLY.

It can be removed by an operation and in no other way. Massaging may change the appearance of a small scar, but it cannot do much with a larger one. Scars can be made less conspicuous by skillfully tinting them.

MAY NEED OPERATION.

J. O. S. writes: My son is 19 years of age and has had a chronic discharging ear since he was 4 years old. It has never given him any pain; the discharge is very offensive, and here of late it is continuous.

REPLY.

In all probability he has some dead bone in his deeper ear and nothing short of operation will cure him. His disorder has lasted so long that it has done about as much harm as it is liable to do.

FRIEND OF THE FARMER

Inquiries on farm management, financing or governmental regulations addressed to this department must be accompanied by stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

J. B. asks: How should I treat grape vines in pruning? Mine are two years old and are spreading all over, yet there are no grapes. Is it advisable to cut them back and if so, how far?

Answer: The pruning of grape vines should have been started the first winter after planting. If the growth was small all the canes on each vine should be removed except the strongest one and this one cut back to two eyes. If a strong growth was made on one straight and strong cane, all other growth is removed and this cane cut back to the height at which it is intended to head the vine. By the third year all the vines should have erect stems with two or more canes growing from the principal part, out of which the head or crown is to be formed and from which the growth of the vine is to be renewed from year to year.

CODES AND PUNISHMENTS.

The University of Chicago, the Law School, Oct. 23.—We read your editorial of Friday, Oct. 20, on "Codes and Punishments." It seems to us that the editorial is extreme and in so far as it states that under the national recovery act "the separation of governmental powers has completely disappeared" it is wrong. We think that your statement is a serious one and is calculated to do harm. Accordingly we should like to see any legal authority which supports your position.

You further stated in your editorial: "A year ago A, charged with a crime, had his day in court . . . now A, charged with a crime, discovers that the courts have nothing to do with it. The governmental employés who issued the edict are the judges. . . ." Trial by jury is denied him. He does not get an independent judge from a third and separate branch of government." We challenge the accuracy of these statements. We grant that there are serious constitutional problems involved in the national recovery act, but we think that the executive order as published on Oct. 18 can be justified, so far as separation of powers is concerned, by such cases as United States vs. Grimaud [1910], 220 U. S. 506, 31 Sup. Ct. Rep. 480. We have seen nothing in the act or in the executive order to indicate that any criminal violation of the act or of the order is to be punished by fine or imprisonment otherwise than by the judgment of a court.

SPELLING OF FOREIGN NAMES.

Chicago, Oct. 24.—I am of the opinion that it would be a good policy if you would hire a man whose sole occupation it would be to see that all foreign names were spelled correctly.

Time and time again there appear in your columns misspelled names. Undoubtedly it irritates some of the readers of this World's Greatest Newspaper when they think of the fact that it is not a hard task to inquire of somebody and find out if the names that are to be used are spelled properly.

By the above statements I refer to an account of a frustrated holdup which you had printed on the first page of the Oct. 17 issue. You stated that the holdup of the Adam and Micklewicz Building and Loan association was averted by the presence of a policeman.

The man after whom the association is named was Adam Micklewicz [Adam Mickiewicz], only one person and not two as your account reports. He was one of Poland's greatest poets. Thus in fairness to his immortalized name and to the readers of his descent, of which there are many, and also in fairness to all the other foreign Americanized readers, I suggest that you would be more careful when you are necessitated to use other names besides that of Jones, Brown and Smith.

My name is spelled correctly.

ROMAN B. KELLAR.

PULASKI.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—In response to Mr. Raymond Nelson's article in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE of Oct. 20. Mr. Nelson's description of Gen. Casimir Pulaski being a Lithuanian is entirely wrong. Count Casimir Pulaski, a Polish soldier was born in Pulaz, Poland, in 1747 and took a prominent part under his father, Count Joseph Pulaski, in the formation of the Confederation of Bar and in the military operations which followed, becoming commander in chief of the Polish patriot forces. This fact alone is sufficient proof showing the Polish nationality of this great patriot.

Since when have Poles gone in for honoring Lithuanian heroes? If Pulaski were a Lithuanian why do not the Lithuanians have him honored, why don't they build monuments for him, petition our government to have stamps printed commemorating this great Pole, this hero of two continents?

It would be wise of Mr. Nelson in the future if he wishes to write articles on Polish patriots to look them up in our books of history, where he will find enough data with which to be protected from making errors.

AT SCHOOL IN THE LIBRARY.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—In colleges you can lead indifferent youth to books, but you can't make them read—really read. A situation quite the opposite obtaining with those whose seat of learning is the public library.

Here is noticed a passion for books, a zest for knowledge. The minimum list has no meaning, there is no boredom or apathy shown; rather a hunger that is not soon appeased. And the results are in favor of the scholar turned loose in what it may be in place to term the People's university.

The great stream of influence is of immense purport. Especially in this day marked by the changed attitude of librarians, who now are hospitable hosts where once they were chiefly jealous guardians. Every level of life in this country is reached by our public library, practically all ages as well as all classes are ministered to by the system. Many a year have I spent doing research work in libraries, but never have I been so absorbed as to be unconscious of my fellow laborers, the motley about me drinking thirstily at the fount of knowledge.

COLLECTING LEGACY.

Chicago, Oct. 13.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—What can I do to collect my portion of an estate probated and closed in 1924? The executor obtained from me [by mail] a receipt for same, but has not to this date sent me my portion, although others have been paid. 1. I have his letter of March, 1924, stating that upon receiving my receipt check will be mailed to me. 2. Is this using the mails to defraud? 3. Does the statute of limitations apply where apparent fraud was intended? 4. The former executor disregards my mail and during all these years did not write or say anything regarding this matter. F. D. B.

1. The proper course would have been to ask him to send your securities to a local bank with instructions to deliver to you upon your signing a receipt.

2. No, you have no proof that fraud was present at the time of the transaction.

3. See 2. The limitation period on an agreement not in writing is 5 years.

4. It is difficult to understand why you have not employed an attorney to follow this matter up.

CATHOLIC MEN'S COUNCIL BACKS PROGRAM OF NRA

Speakers Predict Change in Social Order.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

America has suffered during the last four years because of prolonged neglect of the Christian principles of social justice, the National Council of Catholic Men declared yesterday in the closing session of a three day conference devoted to discussion of national problems.

In a resolution stating this as its belief and declaring that the NRA is "designed to inaugurate certain policies conforming in part to these principles," the council pledged its support to the Roosevelt administration and urged all Catholics to coöperate actively in accomplishing the success of the recovery act.

Other resolutions were adopted against war, against circulation of birth control literature, pledging aid in helping the Catholic school authorities, and also declaring that the time is at hand for enforcing a rigid code of morals in motion pictures. It was decided to ask the President to have inserted in the NRA trade code the "Hays Code of Morals," adopted by the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America.

Warns Against Inflation.

The only sign of a division over interpretations of methods to achieve social justice was over the money question. Dr. J. E. Hagerty, president of the Catholic Conference on Industrial Problems, which prepared special programs for the day, warned against inflation, as did Ernest F. Du Brul, management engineer, of Cincinnati.

"I am not in sympathy with the point of view of those who contend that the causes of the depression are found in a too limited supply of money and credit, which makes money dear and prices cheap," Dr. Hagerty said. "This certainly is not the cause of the present depression. Some say that the cure for the ills of depression is an inflated currency. Any government which starts on a policy of using its printing plants to print unredeemable paper currency is engaging in a very dangerous pastime which will help no one and ruin millions."

After discussing the necessity for a new economic reasoning, he suggested that "if it is regarded as socially necessary, the payment of a living wage to wage earners can be regarded as a social cost against industry, just as insurance costs and depreciation are charged before dividends are paid."

See New Social Order.

It was the consensus of the speakers who took part in the discussions on distribution, financing, labor, and other topics that this country is entering a new social order from which permanent changes in industrial control will result."

Edward F. O'Grady, assistant administrator for labor of the NRA, was one of the chief speakers. He listed the results of NRA to date as follows:

"Wages have been steadily increasing at a rate that indicates that on a yearly basis they will amount to more than $3,700,000,000.

"Approximately four million of our working men and women have been put back into industry.

"Hours of labor have been shortened and child labor abolished.

"At the end of the third quarter this year the number of commercial failures were reduced by 47.2 per cent and the liabilities by 58.6 per cent from last year.

"Industrial sales in virtually all lines in the third quarter were substantially above those of the same period of the year preceding.

"Compilation of commodity prices this month for 784 commodities exceeded March prices by 19½ per cent.

"The index of industrial activity shows a gain of 36 per cent over last March."

Mr. O'Grady said that farmers should not object to increases in wages and employment that have come to labor; for the welfare of one depends on the other.

Compares Papal Encyclicals.

Dr. James F. Losty, dean of the college of commerce of De Paul university, had prepared a paper on wages, hours, and the papal encyclicals, which was read by Charles P. O'Donnell, instructor in political science at De Paul. In this paper Dr. Losty interpreted the encyclicals of Leo XIII. at the close of the 19th century and the one issued June 8, 1931, by Pope Pius XI.

He referred to the earlier document as "the doctrine of the living wage," and said that despite the lapse of time, conditions under which this was issued and the conditions of 1931 were similar. Catholics of today, he said, "are stimulated to further the cause of our working people and have gained inspiration for our efforts to support the program of the New Deal advocated by President Roosevelt. He characterized the New Deal as a modest beginning toward the true vision of social justice.

Percival de St. Aubin of Providence, R. I., representing the employers, and Hugh Mulligan of the Asbestos Workers' union, Chicago, both promised full support to the President's program.

ZOO WELCOMES GETZ COLLECTION OF 74 MONKEYS

Sally the Chimpanzee Is Also Early Arrival.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

Sally, the chimpanzee, and 74 monkeys of 49 varieties, arrived from the George F. Getz zoo near Holland, Mich., yesterday and were welcomed at their new home, the Chicago Zoological park at Brookfield, which is expected to be open to the public next July.

The larger animals of the Getz zoo as well as the birds and snakes will be brought to the Chicago zoo at Brookfield within the next few days.

Mr. Getz, who has maintained the zoo at his summer home near Holland for twenty years, is staying away from the scene, but his animal caretakers are saying farewell to the beasts.

Cassie Brings Baby Son.

Among the animals which arrived by truck yesterday were Cassie, a Rhesus macaque money, from India. Cassie made the journey with her 6 weeks' old son, clasped to her bosom, and appeared cheerful enough.

Chief, a 21 year old female mandrill, has lived at the Getz zoo for 10 years. Another veteran who made the trip is Rhoda, a doguera baboon.

Ri-Ri, the 18 month old lioness which was born at the zoo and fed on a bottle for four months in a Chicago hospital when her mother wouldn't take care of her, will arrive soon.

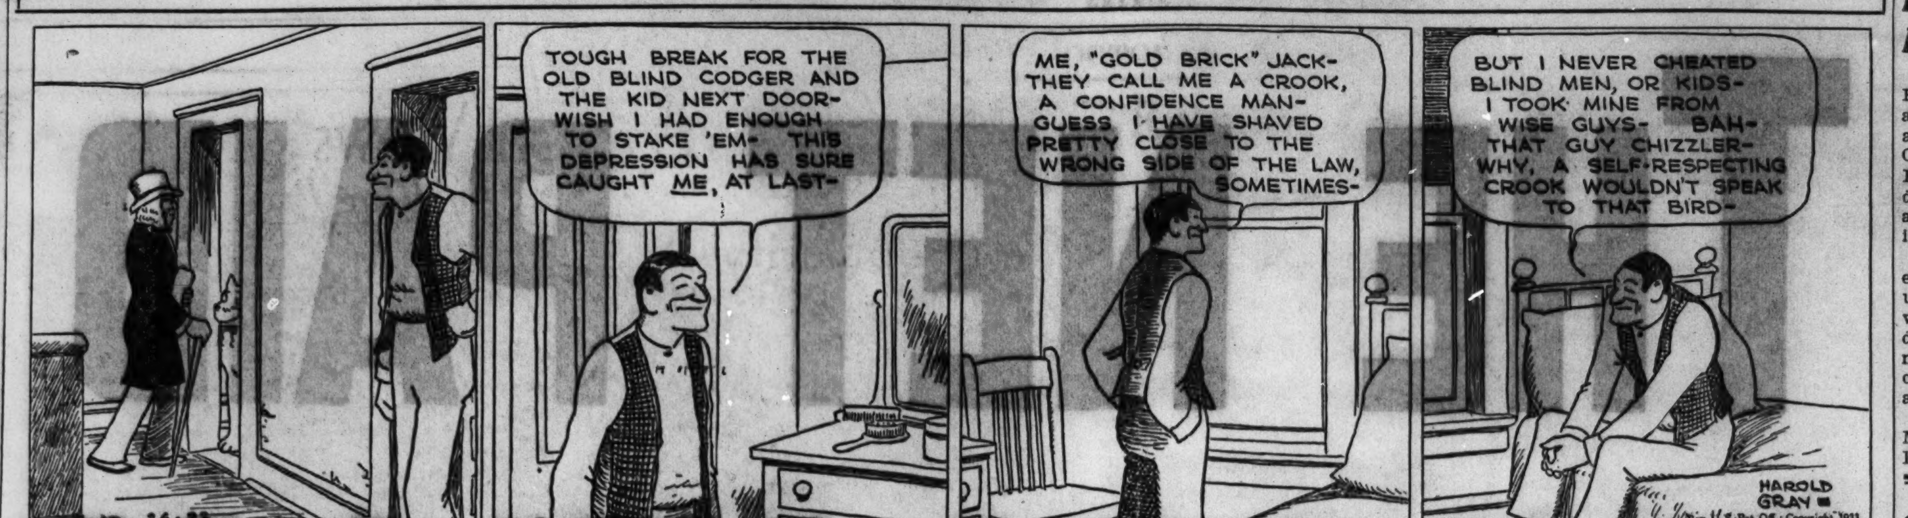

Others which will arrive here soon include Toodles, 5 year old rhinoceros which when six months old made the trip over from Africa with Mr. Getz, who had shot and killed her mother. A visit to the Getz zoo, soon to be completely dismantled, showed Chunky, the hippopotamus, which eats half a bushel of carrots at a time and thinks nothing of it, sadly chewing hay.

Killer Bear in Agreeable Mood.

Sammy, the Russian bear, which lost his temper one day and killed the queen of the place, an overbearing Michigan female bear, her mate, and, for good measure, his own mate, appeared subdued and anxious to please. He tried to be friendly with the big polar bear, in quarters next to his.

A. M. Peterson, manager of the Getz zoo, said he would sadly miss his unusual friends. Among them is a 24 foot python which eats a half dozen live chickens at a meal. His meals are infrequent, however, occurring about once a month in winter and less often in summer.

ED WYNN QUITS POST WITH AMALGAMATED BROADCASTING BODY

New York, Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Ed Wynn, the comedian, resigned today as president and director of the new Amalgamated Broadcasting system, giving as a reason that he has discovered he is a showman and not a radio technical executive.

Also, it was explained by the comedian, who returned this week from Hollywood, where he has been since the first week in July, that his absence had kept him out of touch with the network operation and he thought it best to devote more of his time to his NBC program.

The Amalgamated system was first projected early last spring, but it did not get into operation until Sept. 25, when it went on the air with a chain of approximately fifteen eastern stations. It has been under the direction of Ota Gygi, as vice president, and Henry Goldman as general manager.

Pending the selection of a new president, Mr. Goldman will be in charge.

S. T. TRUBY DIES; BANKER 55 YEARS AT MAPLE PARK

S. T. Truby, president of the First State bank of Maple Park, Ill., fifty miles west of Chicago, died yesterday in the Elmhurst hospital after an operation. He was 84 years old and had made his home for the last four years at 48 Orchard terrace, Lombard. The funeral services will be held at 1 o'clock this afternoon in the Johnson chapel in Sycamore, Ill., and the burial will be in Elmwood cemetery in that city.

Born in Harmony, Pa., Mr. Truby went to Maple Park as a young man and engaged in the saddle and harness business. He had been connected with the bank of that town for the last fifty-five years and, according to members of his family, was a reader of THE TRIBUNE for sixty-one years. He is survived by his widow, Elizabeth; a daughter, Estella, and a son, Franklin.

CHRISTIAN INDIAN EVANGELIST DIES IN CANADA AT 104

PARRY SOUND, Ont., Oct. 25.—(AP)—One of the first Indian evangelists in the Georgian bay country, James Walker, is dead on the Parry Island reserve at the age of 104. He was born on the banks of the Severn river when much of Ontario north of Toronto was unbroken wilderness.

When his parents moved to the Cape Croker reserve on the Bruce peninsula, north of Owen sound, Walker was converted to Christianity. He preached among Georgian bay Indians for years as a missionary of the Methodist church.

Fifty-six years ago he came to the Parry island reserve and engaged in farming. He owned the first wagon on the island. At the age of 99 he walked unaided to church.

Man with Tipsy Chairs in Vaudeville Act Dead

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 25.—(AP)—William Dobbs, 48, who was billed during his 26 years on the vaudeville stage as Bert Melrose, the "International Clown," is dead. He succumbed last night to a congestion of the spine which may have been caused by his act of falling over backward from the top of three chairs mounted on a table.

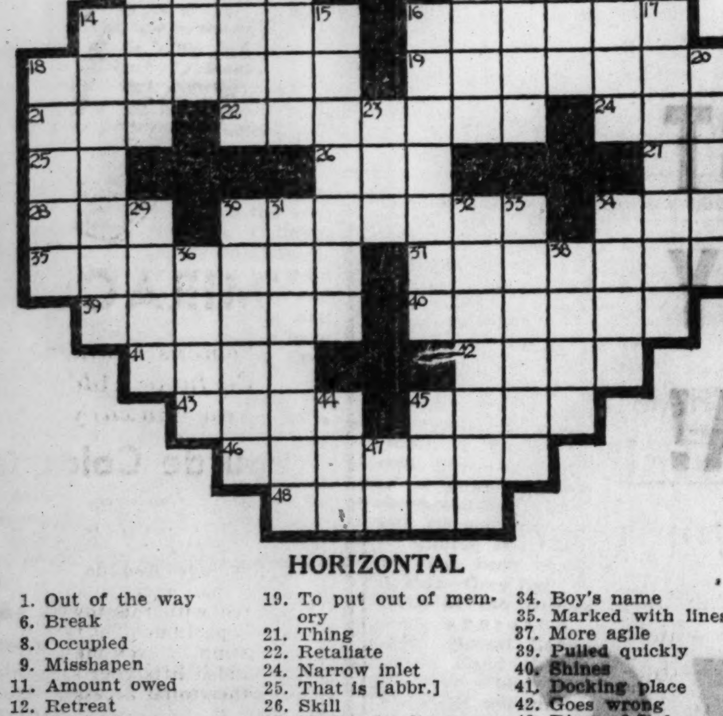

W. J. Bowser, Ex-Premier of British Columbia, Is Dead

VANCOUVER, B. C., Oct. 25.—(AP)—W. J. Bowser, former premier of British Columbia, died suddenly at his hotel here today after suffering a heart attack. He was 65. Bowser had been waging a strenuous campaign as head of the Independent Non-Partisan candidates contesting the British Columbia general elections.

YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED

SERVICES HELD FOR F. A. LORENZ, CIVIC LEADER

Funeral services for Frederick A. Lorenz, 1321 East 56th street, long a leader in business, civic, and philanthropic affairs in Chicago, were held yesterday in the chapel of the Oakwoods cemetery. Mr. Lorenz, who had been a resident of Hyde Park since 1889, died on Tuesday after an illness of more than a year.

Mr. Lorenz formerly was manager of the Chicago office of the Aetna Life Insurance company. He also was an alumni trustee of the Ohio Northern university, a trustee of the Y. M. C. A. and chairman of its immigration and Americanization committee, and was active in affairs of the Union League club. He was a member of the Ohio society and was one of the pioneer members of the Quadrangle club of the University of Chicago.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Florence M. Lorenz, a leader in Chicago club circles; a daughter, Mrs. Faun Lorenz Nixon, and two sons, Frederick A. Jr. of Chicago and Walter C. Lorenz of Beverly Hills, Cal.

Following the services yesterday, which were conducted by the Rev. Edward Scribner Ames of the Church of the Disciples and of the philosophy department of the University of Chicago, the remains were cremated and the ashes taken to Mr. Lorenz's birthplace at Ontario, O.

E. B. BALDWIN, NOTED EXPLORER, KILLED BY AUTO

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Evelyn Briggs Baldwin, noted explorer, was killed tonight when he was struck by an automobile while crossing a street. He was 71 years old.

Baldwin, who was one of Peary's companions on the latter's second expedition to Greenland in 1893, was dead upon arrival at a hospital.

He was connected with the United States weather bureau as an observer until last July.

His experience as a meteorologist gave Baldwin his chance to go with Peary into Greenland. Baldwin dreamed for years of reaching the north pole himself, but his ambition never was realized.

In 1898 he went north with Walter Wellman and then in 1901 was commander of the Baldwin-Ziegler expedition.

W. M. Kroll, Division Chief of Surface Lines, Is Dead

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock from 3834 Irving Park boulevard for Walter M. Kroll, 63 years old, an employe of the Chicago Surface lines for 36 years. Mr. Kroll died at his home 4246 North Hamlin avenue on Monday after a long illness. For many years a conductor on the lines, Kroll was at the time of his death on a leave of absence as superintendent of division 10, which includes the Elston avenue and Noble street depots.

Undertaker Is Stricken at Funeral and Dies

Edward C. Hammann, an undertaker, collapsed yesterday afternoon while conducting a funeral at the Church of Our Savior at Laramie street and Berteau avenue, and died of heart disease a few minutes later. Mr. Hammann was 47 years old. He had conducted his mortuary on the northwest side of Chicago for eighteen years. The funeral which Hammann had been conducting was that of Paul A. Pollack, 5311 Cuyler avenue, an old friend.

For Hard Coughs or Colds That Worry You

Creomulsion is made to give supreme help for coughs or colds that worry you. It combines seven helps in one—the best helps known to science. It is for quick relief, and safety.

But careful people, more and more, use it for every cough that starts. No one can tell which factor will do most. That depends on the type of cold.

Creomulsion costs a little more than lesser helps. But it meets the utmost help. And it costs you nothing if it fails to bring the quick relief you seek. Your druggist guarantees it. Use it for safety's sake.

NEW WILLS FILED IN PROBATE COURT

Five wills were filed with Clerk Mitchell C. Robin in the Probate court yesterday and were approved by Oscar S. Caplan, assistant to the probate judge, as follows:

Daniel M. Willard, died Sept. 13. Estate, $11,000, to friend, Maude Carlson, who is executrix.

Edward Hilgen, died Sept. 28. Estate, $7,000, to brother and four sisters. Edward Grabow, brother-in-law, is executor.

SOCIALIST'S WILL REVEALS HIM AS WEALTHY MAN

New York, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Morris Hillquit, Socialist leader who died Oct. 7, left most of his estate to his immediate family in his will filed today.

Only the formal valuation of "more than $10,000" was given in the petition.

Three Socialist organizations were left $1,000 each. They were the American Socialist society, New York, which is to use the legacy to assist in the conduct of the Rand School of Social Sciences; the Socialist Society of America, Chicago, which is to use the money for the "general benefit of the Socialist party in the United States," and the Leader Publishing association of New York.

The widow, Vera Hillquit of New York, receives the residuary estate, and bequests of $12,000 each go to two brothers, both of New York. A sister, Mrs. Mary Skasdan of Belmar, N. J., receives $2,000.

Famous Old Indian Fighter and Buffalo Hunter Dies

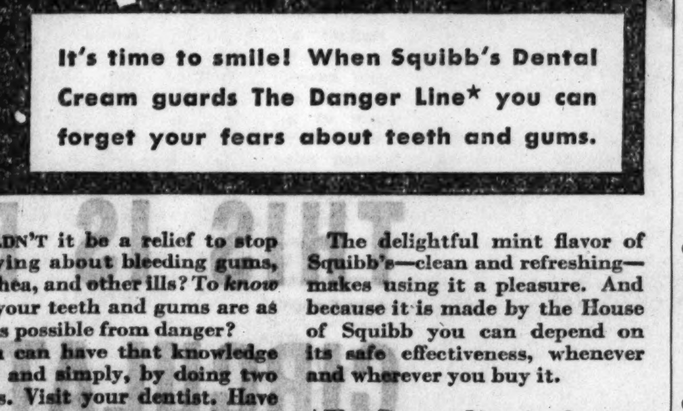

Wilmington, Cal., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Indian fighter, buffalo hunter, and sheriff at historic old Deadwood, S. D., during its gold rush days, Ole Lackous, 86, died today at his home in Wilmington, where he had lived 17 years. Lackous was a friend of the noted scout, William [Buffalo Bill] Cody. Among Lackous' experiences in the old west was a narrow escape from death in a blizzard when he crawled inside the carcass of a freshly killed buffalo to keep warm. The carcass froze and Lackous almost died from the cold before he could extricate himself the next day.

Herbert Dewey, Official of General Electric, Dies

Schenectady, N. Y., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Herbert H. Dewey, vice president of the General Electric company, died today. He had been with the General Electric for 22 years.

W. F. Every, 61, Railroad Official, Dies in St. Paul

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 25.—(AP)—William F. Every, 61, general claim agent for the Northern Pacific railway since 1909, died at his home today.

WOULDN'T it be a relief to stop worrying about bleeding gums, pyorrhea, and other ills? To know that your teeth and gums are as safe as possible from danger?

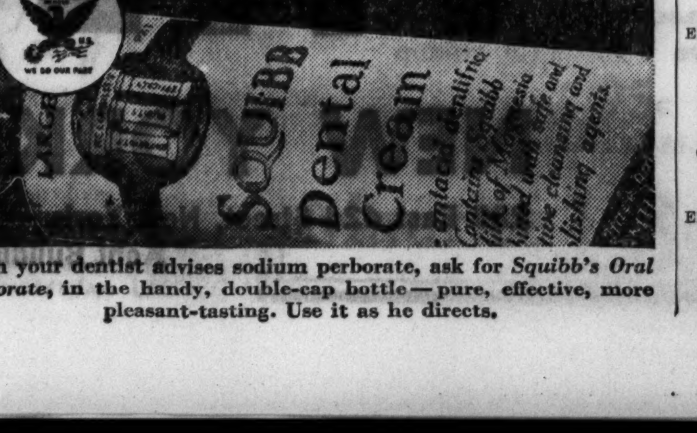

You can have that knowledge easily and simply, by doing two things. Visit your dentist. Have him examine your mouth and see that it is in sound condition. Then follow this expert care by twice-a-day brushing with Squibb's Dental Cream.

Squibb's cleans effectively and polishes safely, with complete freedom from grit. It prevents bleeding of the gums by safe cleansing—not by the use of dangerous astringents. It combats the germ acids that cause tooth-decay. And its use is true economy.

The delightful mint flavor of Squibb's—clean and refreshing—makes using it a pleasure. And because it is made by the House of Squibb you can depend on its safe effectiveness, whenever and wherever you buy it.

The Danger Line is the area where the thin edge of the gum encircles each tooth, forming tiny ledges, difficult to reach by brushing. Here food particles collect and bacteria multiply, generating acids. Not one, but all your teeth are endangered by unhealthy gums. When you use Squibb's Dental Cream, you force into the sheltered areas countless antacid particles which combat the germ acids and protect the gums.*

COMIC PAPERS POKE FUN AT FAT PEOPLE

After All It's Their Own Fault —says Doctor in Talk Over Station KYW

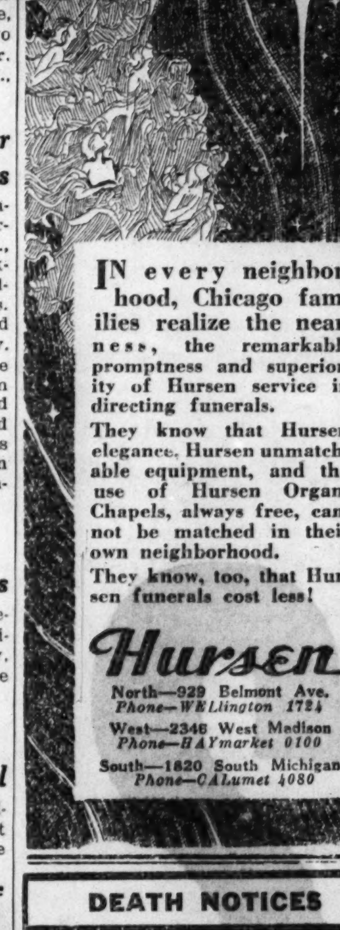

Chicago married men who apologetically introduce their fat wives as their "bigger and better halves" are not so keen over the joke themselves, according to Dr. Frank S. Orland, authority on overweight, who explained over Station KYW that what might be funny in a comic strip can often be tragic in real life.

"Most of the tragedy for fat women," says Dr. Orland, "lies in the fact that there is no reason to continue to carry around unsightly, excess weight. Science has now conferred a boon on women, with an easy, pleasant, harmless way to remove unwanted pounds."

Vannay is a tablet containing certain absolutely harmless natural elements that act on the liver and gall-bladder . . . stimulate and regulate the digestive juices . . . aid nature in her great work of making sound tissue and getting rid of waste . . . prevent formation of excess fat and restore metabolism (body balance). Vannay contains no dangerous drugs (which should only be taken under the direction of a competent physician), no iodine, no laxative drugs at all.

You can eat three meals a day without fear of fat because Vannay helps dissolve this fat before it can harm you. Start the Vannay treatment today and you should never again be a slave to overweight.

This remarkable product is for sale at all Liggett Drug Stores. Any of our clerks will be glad to give you the interesting booklet, "How To Reduce With Absolute Safety." Avoid fattening foods.

What's New in Chicago Shops? Rhea Seeger Tells You Every Day

Give Simple Parties for 2 Brides Elect

Weddings Will Be Small, Family Affairs.

BY JUDITH CASS.

As informal and simple as their weddings are to be are the parties being given for two popular young women who are to be brides soon, Miss Ann Elizabeth Walsh and Miss Dorothy Moorehead. Miss Walsh is to become Mrs. Roy Leonard Flannery next Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in the chapel of St. Chrysostom's in the presence of only the immediate families.

Although Mr. Flannery's home was New York and his father, John Leason Flannery, lives there, the younger Mr. Flannery now lives here so her marriage to him isn't taking Ann Elizabeth away to live, to the delight of her many friends, but Miss Moorehead is to leave Chicago when she becomes Mrs. Asaph Churchill Jr. of New York, to the regret of her friends. Her marriage is to take place at noon Saturday in the chapel of the Fourth Presbyterian church with only the families present.

Last night Curtis Bird, Miss Barbara Senn's fiancé, gave a cocktail party for Miss Walsh and Mr. Flannery at Miss Senn's father's, Mr. William N. Senn's, residence on Astor street. Miss Senn is to be a bride early in December, but the date hasn't been set yet.

Monday Mrs. Edward H. Hagey is giving a kitchen shower and tea for Miss Walsh. Mrs. Hagey, the former Elinor Whiting, and Miss Walsh and Miss Betty Offield, who gave a large luncheon and shower for Miss Walsh last week, have been devoted friends ever since they were little girls. Mr. Flannery is taking his bride on a West Indies cruise and they will be at home in Evanston after Dec. 1.

Churchill Party Arrives from East.

Mr. Churchill and his mother and sisters, Mrs. Asaph Churchill, Miss Olivia Churchill and Mrs. Harvey P. Wood II., and Mr. Wood arrived yesterday from New York, as did Mrs. Washington Dodge II., also of New York, who is to be Miss Moorehead's only attendant, and George Higginson III. of Boston and Colorado Springs, who is to be best man for Mr. Churchill. Mr. Higginson used to live here. Mr. Churchill Sr. did not come west for his son's marriage because of illness.

Last night the junior Sidney S. Gorhams of Winnetka gave a cocktail party for Miss Moorehead, who is the daughter of Mrs. Hirst Moorehead and Dr. Frederick B. Moorehead, after which Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wales, also of Winnetka, gave a dinner for Miss Moorehead. This afternoon Mr. and Mrs. William J. Lawlor Jr., have invited some of Miss Moorehead's closest friends for cocktails in their apartment on Dearborn parkway. Miss Moorehead was a bridesmaid at the recent wedding of Mary Fortune to Mr. Lawlor.

Mr. Churchill and his bride will go to Colorado on their wedding trip and will be at home in New York after Nov. 25.

Oakleigh Thornes to Live in City.

There is much rejoicing in the Palmer-family over the arrival today of Mr. and Mrs. Oakleigh Lewis Thorne and their baby son, Oakleigh Thorne III., for they are coming here to stay for several years. They have given up their home in Millbrook, N. Y., and are moving bag and baggage to an apartment at 1260 Astor street, just diagonally across the street from the home of Mrs. Thorne's parents, the senior Potter Palmers, whose address is 1301 Astor. Mr. and Mrs. Potter Palmer III. also live in the "1260" building.

Culbreth Sudlers Are Here from Coast.

All of the members of the Sudler family are going to enjoy the usual Thursday night buffet supper at the Saddle and Cycle club this evening with Mrs. Robert T. Newberry as their hostess. Mrs. Newberry is giving the party for her daughter and son-in-law, the Culbreth Sudlers, who are here from their home in Pasadena, Cal.

It's the first time they've been back here in three years and it's the very first time their tiny son, Culbreth Sudler Jr., has ever visited Chicago, so they're packing the next ten days full of family reunions, luncheon and dinner parties with old friends, and visits to the Fair. The Sudlers have also brought with them their little daughter, Betty.

The Louis Sudlers entertained for them last night at a family party, while the Carroll Sudlers were their host and hostess on their arrival last Saturday night. Tomorrow night they will dine at the home of the Albert Wedelstaedts. Monday evening they are reserving for a dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Needham.

Abbe Dimnet Speaks Today.

Delightful Abbé Ernest Dimnet, who is no stranger in Chicago, for he has been here many times, is lecturing this morning at 11 o'clock at the Woman's Athletic club on "Benito Mussolini—a Study of the Founder of Fascism." After the lecture the abbé will have luncheon with Mrs. Andrew B. MacCaughey, president, and the other officers and directors of the club. Some of the other members who will have luncheon guests are Mrs. Welch Dickinson, Mrs. Hayden B. Harris, Mrs. Jefferson Jackson, Mrs. Percy B. Eckhart, Mrs. George E. Throop, Mrs. John J. Cummings, Mrs. Royden Keith, and Mrs. Harry Powers.

Mrs. Dickinson is giving a tea this

Author Arrives to Visit Meekers

Mrs. Ambrose C. Cramer (left), looking unusually smart and well after a summer in Sweden, met Mrs. Arthur Paul Dashwood yesterday at the train when the latter arrived to be the guest of Mrs. Cramer's mother, Mrs. Arthur Meeker, for a few days. Mrs. Dashwood's pen name is E. M. Delafield and she is the author of those popular books, "The Diary of a Provincial Lady" and "The Provincial Lady in London." There is to be a great deal of entertaining for this English author whose home address is Groyle, Cullompton, Devonshire. She is the daughter of the present Lady Clifford and the late Comte et Marquis Henri de la Pasture. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Three Exhibits Get Attention in Art World

Scenes of Chicago, World Fair Shown.

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

Three exhibitions of interest are running within a few blocks of each other. Delightful etchings by Morris Henry Hobbs are on view in the Allerton gallery, among which the Chicago scenes are the most forceful and significant. "Wabash Avenue Bridge" and "Chicago Water Tower" are brilliant prints. The little "Portrait of a Clown" is fascinating.

A half a block south on Michigan avenue the O'Brien gallery is showing wood cuts by Bertha Lum and her daughter, Peter Boy Lum. Bertha Lum needs no introduction to a public already versed in the charm of her Japanese pictures. Her recent work is even more picturesque and smoothly colorful than her earlier. Print after print is a delight to the eye and the senses. Her daughter is less skilled and her manner of approach is less polished. Her work, too, however, is fresh and original and shows unusual ability.

The third exhibit is the most important one of the group. It is of paintings by Chicago artists, showing the high lights of summer in town in 1933 with the Fair in full swing, and may be seen in the Increase Robinson gallery, Michigan Square building.

Josephine L. Reichmann easily walks off with the honors in the show. Her "One Corner of the World" is a gay and vivid picture of the animated, bright side of A Century of Progress on its own grounds, laced with colorful buildings, dotted with happy visitors, and backed by the sparkling blue of Lake Michigan. An amusing companion piece is Helga Haugan Dean's "Poor Little Feet," an exhausted girl with her stockinged feet in her hand.

William S. Schwartz takes us to Lincoln park with "Monkey Business," a stunning painting of two monkeys, and Gustaf Dalstrom sweeps us into his particular peace of spirit with "Church and Railroad." Tunis Ponsen has been successful in his "The Fair—Grey Day," a good representation of the waterfront on the southern approach to the Fair grounds. Hubert Ropp has painted the Sally Rand theme cleverly in "Two Little White Fans."

The exhibit will run to Nov. 11 and is well worth seeing.

Mother, 94, Will Attend Golden Wedding of Son

Auburn, Neb., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Mrs. Mary Liebenrood, a silver haired great grandmother with a twinkle in her eye, went to Memphis, Tenn., this week, to celebrate her 94th birthday by attending the golden wedding aniversary of Thomas Liebenrood, one of her seven children. She has 13 grandchildren and seven great grandchildren. Mrs. Liebenrood's husband died 28 years ago. They came to America from England soon after their marriage in 1859.

Junior's Bib Gives Paris Inspiration for Something Novel in Necklines

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Grown up girls and adult mothers are wearing baby's bib with their fall frocks.

Of course it isn't exactly like the bit of white you tie around junior's neck to provide a wall against the onslaught of oatmeal. Paris dressmakers have designed the womanly bib, that is so smart, and they've put their hearts in their work doing it.

Patou puts cunningly draped bibs of nutria fur on some of his wool day dresses. Chanel makes hers of white piqué and linen, and Mainbocher fashions them of the goods of the dress, with several shaded velvet flowers sewed on to the part that goes under the chin.

There are also spangled bibs, seen at Louiseboulanger's and that is some step ahead for the bib family. This house also has white piqué bibs that are crossed by surpliced bands, and quite complicated. One is shown at the bottom of our sketch. It is worn over a black silk frock, and has a small turn over collar. The bib is square in front and rounded in back, and a bias band of the dress silk is looped along the back of the shoulders, surpliced down the front, and tied around the waist.

Just above is a picture of Mainbocher's clever flower-trimmed bib. It is made of dark red silk and the velvet flowers shade from dark to light red. It ties in the back and goes over the V-neckline of a dark red frock.

At the top is shown Chanel's plaited white piqué bib that buttons on to the frock on two buttons at the front and back.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Mrs. Fair Vanderbilt, who returned from Europe recently, left the Savoy-Plaza today for her East 93d street residence.

Mrs. Theodore Frelinghuysen will come to the Plaza on Friday from Tuxedo Park to remain two months before going to Palm Beach.

Mrs. John E. Gerli gave a luncheon at the Ritz Tower for her mother, Mrs. Alexander Nicoll.

Mrs. Baxter Jackson of 1088 Park avenue gave a luncheon at the Ritz-Carlton for her mother, Mrs. Thomas G. Ratcliffe of St. Louis, and her aunt, Mrs. George Leith of London, England.

Edwina Booth Sues M-G-M for 'Trader Horn' Injuries

New York, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Edwina Booth, motion picture actress, filed a $1,000,000 damage suit in Supreme court today against Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. The actress charged her health had been so impaired since she appeared in "Trader Horn" that she had been unable to work. In March, 1929, in the ten day trip from Naples to Mombassa, she said, she was ordered to lie nude on the deck for half hour and one hour periods, to acquire the proper tan for the film. She was not provided with a sun helmet or proper care on location, she alleged.

Reports Clean Pictures Gain in Popularity

Only Two "Oversexed" Films Big Money Makers.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Movie fans may or may not know that the club women of America and the Parent-Teacher association have representation with the Hays organization of motion picture producers. The groups endeavor to keep the quality and content of film stories on the level that seems approvable for children. The latest written report from this source is interesting.

"We watch with a certain tenseness the box office receipts. It is evident the kind of pictures the public patronizes are the kind that will continue to be made. So please cheer yourself by this report. Of twenty-six 'oversexed' films made this year, only two, 'Hold Your Man' and 'She Done Him Wrong,' were outstanding financial successes. One, 'Picture Snatcher,' was good. 'Frisco Jennie' was rated 'not quite good' [from the point of view of income]. Nine were fair and thirteen poor."

On the other hand, word comes of the immense vogue of gay, clean fun in "Three Little Pigs," of beauty in music and background in "Be Mine Tonight." Enthusiastic praise hails "Berkeley Square." There's a swing of exultation about that report from the women in the Hays office annex.

Sarah Haden had a hot introduction to the location surprises of movie life shortly after arriving from the New York stage to go on location with the Katharine Hepburn company filming "Trigger" in the San Jacinto mountains. She sat down on a hill of red ants. The nurse connected with the cast said Miss Haden suffered 47 bites.

Herbert Mundin, English comic, and Warner Baxter were conversing at the side of one of the Fox stages. Mundin said that when he got his first start as an actor a stage veteran told him: "Never get acquainted with the ladies of the ensemble. Merely say 'Good morning' to them when you arrive and when leaving tip your hat.'" "Did you take the advice?" asked Baxter. "Judge for yourself," said Mundin. "In three months I had married one of them."

So much interest was excited in the report of Cary Grant's possible elopement with Virginia Cherrill that Grant halted his automobile trip vacation long enough to say, "No, Miss Cherrill is not eloping with me. I'm sorry. I wish it were true, but——"

Grant also denied that he and Miss Cherrill had had a definite break during a quarrel at the studio last week. "We did have a spat, like all girls and fellows have," he said. "We had a few words and I left the studio in a huff. The next day I telephoned her and apologized, and we both felt better and went out that night. Anything more than this is an exaggeration."

The list of featured players in Fox's "Movietone Follies of 1934" is long and notable, including Warner Baxter, Lilian Harvey, Spencer Tracy, Lew Ayres, Jimmy Dunn, Sally Eilers, Heather Angel, Victor Jory, John Boles, Norman Foster, Herbert Mundin, Preston Foster, Flo Desmond, Rochelle Hudson, Harvey Stephens, Sid Silvers, Mona Barrie, Miriam Jordan, Dixie Frances, Claire Trevor, and Stepinfetchit. Eddie Sutherland will direct.

Winfield R. Sheehan, big boss of the Fox lot, who returned to his desk yesterday after a trip to Europe, says the thing that most impressed him on his continental stay was the "beer warmers" of Prague. "Those Bohemians sit down to drink Pilsener," Sheehan says, "and they reach into an inside pocket and pull out a thermometer. They stick it in their glass of beer. If the beer is what they consider too cold, there is a to-do about it, and the waiters run out and bring in a little machine which warms the beer. Why, its intensely interesting."

Baby Leroy Winebrenner, now aged 18 months, has learned to speak three expressions. They are "Mama," "Hot Dog," and "O, Boy." You can imagine what kind of feminine influence Baby Leroy is subjected to, on the movie lot by the things that his vocabulary starts with.

Marlene Dietrich is now wearing white slacks with a darker coat of decided military cut. The coat is like that which Lionel Atwill wore in her last film, "Song of Songs."

ANYONE who has read E. M. Delafield's "Diary of a Provincial Lady" and "The Provincial Lady in London" knows that she has a sense of humor, but a little incident that occurred on the boat coming over is further verification. Miss Delafield (she prefers to be called Miss Delafield rather than Mrs. Dashwood) was violently seasick. That is by way of preface. The boat was a Holland-America line steamer and the initials were N. S. A. M., standing for Dutch words. One day during the crossing a little game was started among a group of passengers. They were each to write a slogan, using the letters N. S. A. M., a prize to be awarded for the best slogan. Miss Delafield won the prize. Her slogan was:

"Not seasick a moment."

TALL, dark-eyed, gracious, attired in black velvet with a tiny black velvet hat, Miss Delafield met visitors, drank tea and completely charmed friends invited to the home of the Arthur Meekers yesterday afternoon to meet her. If you are a "Provincial Lady" fan, as we happen to be, you may be interested to know that there really is a Robin and a Vicky, that husband Robert's name is Arthur in actual life, and that while he is not an actual portrait, "mademoiselle" is. "Mademoiselle," however, was not Robin and Vicky's governess really; she was Miss Delafield's own governess. . . . You probably know that Miss Delafield's mother, wife of the late Comte Henri de la Pasture, wrote under the name of "Mrs. De la Pasture," but you may not know that the name Delafield is derived from De la Pasture, with a change in noun, if not in meaning, in the final syllable.

THE Gossip Shop. Jed Harris has persuaded Katherine Hepburn to desert the films and appear on the legitimate stage at less salary, and she also will put money in the production. Which was something of a coup for Mr. Harris. We could hardly wait to tell you about it . . . Mrs. James Miller, assistant commissioner to the Fair from Brazil, the dark eyed beauty who wears orchids oftener than any woman we know, is departing Sunday to sail on the Ile de France. She will join her husband in Paris . . . That man you saw Mrs. Colin Campbell eating luncheon with at the Blackstone the other day, her first public appearance since the birth of her baby, was Cecil Howard, godfather to the child [Audrey Campbell is godmother] and son of the countess of Suffolk and Berks. . . . Jascha Heifetz is advocating an NRAM [a national recovery act for musicians], because of the thousands of unemployed musicians. "Through Four Revolutions" is the distressing title of a book of memoirs by H. R. H. Princess Ludwig Ferdinand of Bavaria, aunt of the deposed king of Spain. Mrs. Edward R. A SOUTHERN university has put in its bid for Louise Woodruff's [Mrs. George Woodruff] Fountain of Science in the Hall of Science. . . And her next large piece will be a Chicago "symphony" in shining metal, that will tell the story of Chicago. Beginning with the humming of birds in the wilderness, the orchestration, as depicted in metal, will show the creaking of ox carts, the whistle of steamboats, the rumble of traffic, the thunder of trains and the drone of airplane motors. . . . Not only did Robert Hall McCormick bring back a second bulldog, Gamine, from Paris, as a companion for his famous Gamin, but the Eames MacVeaghs have acquired a second Peke, Betty Boop. . . Serge Koussevitzky, conductor of the Boston Symphony, said yesterday that he believes great composers accompany a period of great architecture and foresees great musical compositions of American origin. . . Harold Ross, editor of the New Yorker, told Ernest Byfield waggishly the other day that he [Ross] didn't really exist at all, but was just something Alexander Woollcott thought up after a bad dream. . . Cyrena Van Gordon passes through Chicago today, flying from New York to the coast to open the San Francisco opera season.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—The British ambassador, Sir Ronald Lindsay, entertained a dinner company last evening for the Rt. Hon. Sir Robert Horne, the Rt. Hon. Sir Arthur Steel-Maitland, and Sir Frederick Leith Ross, who are here for a short time. Among the other guests were the undersecretary of state, William Phillips; Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Rexford Tugwell, Jesse Jones, and Adolph C. Miller of Chicago and Washington.

The secretary of the American embassy in Berlin and Mrs. Orme Wilson, who spent some time here earlier in the month, sailed today for the former's post of duty.

Princess Cantacuzene, formerly Miss Julia Grant, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Bruce Smith of Louisville, Ky., who joined her here recently, have gone to New York for the remainder of this month. They are at the Sherry-Netherlands.

OXFORD, England, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The Oxford woman undergraduate, "however plain she may be," was cheered today by the Oxford university paper, the Isis, for "at least trying to make the best of herself." "The other day we saw here and there painted faces," said the Isis. "It was a happy sign, and later in a restaurant when we saw an undergraduate positively powdering her nose we could scarcely check our applause."

Oldest Woman's Club in U. S. Will Mark Centenary Tonight

Jacksonville, Ill., Oct. 25.—(AP)—The Ladies' Education society, officially recognized as the oldest woman's club in America, will celebrate its 100th anniversary tomorrow night. It is the oldest organization on the records of the General Federation of Women's Clubs and has helped more than 2,000 young women obtain a better education.

The society was founded here in 1833 and at first aided in the education of young women as teachers.

The centennial will be observed with a dramatization of the first annual meeting. Men will speak for their wives, as was the custom in public meetings at that time.

Marion Claire Takes Lead in 'Bitter Sweet'

Opera Prima Donna Makes Debut Nov. 5.

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

When Noel Coward's operetta, "Bitter Sweet," comes to the Grand Opera house Nov. 5 it will have an opera prima donna of international reputation as its heroine. Marion Claire, who was the beauty of the Chicago Civic opera company during the last two or three years of its existence, was engaged yesterday by the Messrs. Shubert for the Chicago engagement of Coward's piece. She will be at home in the rôle, for she sang it last July with the St. Louis Municipal Operetta company; but the première will mark her debut in Chicago on the light lyric stage.

Miss Claire is a native Chicagoan whose operatic career began in Europe. She had sung with opera companies in Italy, Germany, and France before joining the Chicago organization. Her record includes principal rôles in "La Bohême," "Lohengrin," "Manon," "Die Rosenkavalier," "Pagliacci," "Faust," "Die Meistersinger," "Otello," "Carmen," and "Tales of Hoffman."

Allan Jones, who appeared here last spring in "The Student Prince," "Blossom Time," and "The Red Robin," will sing the tenor rôle in "Bitter Sweet" and carry the romantic interest of the story with Miss Claire.

Louis O. Macloon, a Pacific coast producer who has been rehearsing a comedy called "It Pays to Sin" for staging in Chicago, has decided to give the play its first acting in New York. He has arranged for a première in the Morosco theater there next Wednesday night. The cast will be headed by Jane Starr, who has appeared in several plays under Macloon's direction. A Chicago booking may follow the New York engagement.

Al Kvale, formerly bandmaster at the Oriental and Uptown theaters, will succeed Verne Buck as the musical director of the vaudeville programs at the State-Lake next Sunday. This theater greeted the millionth customer of its current régime yesterday with a pass for two, good any and every day during the next year. This attendance total has been reached in fifteen weeks of cinema and vaudeville shows.

SYNOPSIS.

Sheila, known as "Bun" O'Reilly, an American, makes a comfortable living abroad by helping fellow countrymen out of difficulties. Fred Crawford, a Paris newspaper man, is her friend and counselor. Bun agrees to help James B. Finlay an elderly, wealthy American, to find his young wife, Helene. He wants no publicity. He had met Helene after the war in Bucharest. He had installed her family, the Bobianoffs, in a villa on the Riviera at Grasse. Her brother, Ferenz, he had brought to America. No trace can be found of Helene and her parents since the last time she returned to visit them. Bun's suspicions are aroused by Finlay's niece, Mrs. Craymer, and her ominous appearing butler. A recent newspaper picture showing Helene standing with a tall woman in a group at Biarritz is the only clue Bun has to go on. That same night Finlay is murdered. Bun's apartment is broken into by a masked man and woman; her maid, Liberte, bound, and the money Finlay had given her as advance payment stolen. Bun meets Finlay's son, Robert, when he arrives from America. His unlikeness to his father and his desire for secrecy puzzle her. She feels under obligation to continue the search. In Biarritz the photographer who took the group picture identifies the tall woman as the Countess Vernadon, who has a villa at Grasse. Bun motors to Cannes. There she meets the real Robert Finlay and learns that the other was an impostor. Bun is attracted to him, but believes he's in love with Helene. He urges her to continue the quest with him. Mrs. Craymer appears at the hotel. That night Bun and Robert call on Countess Vernadon at her dreary villa. She denies knowing Helene. As they are leaving they see a woman fall from a window.

INSTALLMENT XXII.

A WOMAN OF THE WORLD.

Just as Bun and Finlay reach the stretch that swung up before the door, they saw the man who had let them in lift something from the ground and carry it into the hall. Two other figures, the woman with whom they had just talked and another, followed towards the door. Bun ran forward just as the woman was turning to close the door.

"Madam!" she cried. "We saw—the accident. Is there anything we can do?"

"You say you saw the accident." Her voice was deliberately cold and harsh. "What did you see?"

"We saw some one fall from that window." Bun pointed to the window above the main door. Then she leaned forward and peered into the hall. The countess saw the movement and pulled the door towards her, so as to shut out the view within, but not before Bun had seen the man carrying a limp figure up the steps into the shadows above. "Was she badly hurt?"

"I hope not. In fact, I'm sure she was not injured at all," the countess answered. "Fortunately she fell into that mass of shrubbery. It luckily broke the fall."

Finlay pressed forward. "Who was it?"

The countess took her time answering, all the time looking at them both with a calm arrogance that was unmistakable. "It was my maid," she said, after a slight pause. "This is not the first time she has done things like this. She suffers from some sort of mental aberration—caused by fatigue. It is nothing serious—only vastly disturbing."

Again Finlay made a step forward. "But surely there is something we can do," he insisted.

The countess appeared to consider this a moment. "If you are passing through Grasse, it would be most kind of you to ask my doctor there—Dr. Vernier—to come here." She stopped, as if considering something. "I suppose this will make my departure tomorrow impossible. It is most annoying. At any rate, thank you very much. I shall be most grateful if you will take the message to Dr. Vernier. He lives near the Grand hotel. They will show you his house."

She stepped back within the door. Finlay realized there was nothing more he could do without forcing himself into the house. He turned back towards Bun with a gesture of resignation and a shake of the head. Without speaking they started back towards the gate. Suddenly Bun drew back and began looking about.

"I'm wondering where she fell," she said slowly and in a lowered voice. "In those bushes, I suppose." She stopped before a dense growth of plants, once a flower bed, now overgrown with high weeds and shrubs left to their own rank growth. "Yes, they probably would break a fall. What's this lying there?" She stooped and picked up a white scarf that had caught in one of the shrubs.

"We'll take this along with us. It may furnish an excuse for us to return here—if we ever want to. Personally—I don't think I do."

"I do," Finlay growled. "I'm going to haunt this place until I run down all that woman's lies."

"You think she was lying?" Bun asked quietly.

"I know she was—and she knows I know it. All that asking her to stop by the hotel tomorrow morning and look at the photograph was pure bluff on my part. Of course, she won't come—and of course I don't expect her."

"What next?" Bun asked, releasing the clutch.

"Grasse and this Dr. Vernier. He may lead to something?"

Bun shook her head. "Hardly. You don't think for a moment she would send us to any one who was not in her confidence!"

"What do you make out that sort of woman to be?" Finlay asked, when the few twinkling lights of Grasse showed before them.

"She's a lady," Bun answered promptly; then with a half smile: "If you know what I mean."

"In this case, I don't believe I do."

"I mean—she's used to the world—and of it. There's a look of race about her. She may have fallen upon evil days. A lot of them have over here since the war. There's nothing cheap about her. If she's a shady person—it's a big shade. Also, she knows what she's about. It wouldn't be an easy thing to put anything over on her."

"French?"

"The hotel director at Biarritz said not—a foreign wife of a French nobleman. There's something in her accent that is not French, surely. She may be Russian. Sometimes I think half the population of France today is. It's their happy hunting ground since the revolution."

"Isn't there some way of getting information about her?"

"If she is a foreigner, there is a dossier about her on file in Paris. I believe they've got the low down on every one living in France these days."

"I'll wire to Paris about her tomorrow."

They stopped before the Grand hotel, made some enquiries about the house of Dr. Vernier, and finding it just across the road went there at once. No lights indicated that the doctor had already gone to bed. But this had no effect upon Finlay's impatience. He rang the bell several times and waited until the door was opened and an oldish man in dressing gown and slippers scowled out at them from a half opened door. When told the message he refused point blank to go to the Villa des Roses that night.

"Then I take it you are not a friend of the Countess Vernadon," Finlay stated abruptly.

"Are you?" the doctor snapped back.

"Perhaps you will send us to a doctor who is willing to help an injured woman."

This seemed to impress him. He leaned forward and peered at Finlay. "Is this woman in need of immediate attention? I've been called there before at these damnable hours. What's happened this time?"

"Aha! Her maid again! Just what I've always told her. That woman ought never to be left alone. She'll kill herself yet."

"It does seem extraordinary that the countess keeps such a woman," Bun put in easily.

"That's not the only extraordinary thing about that house," the doctor grumbled beneath his breath. "But she pays well. I suppose I'll go. Are you returning there?"

"Not until tomorrow—unless," Finlay hesitated, "you want me to drive you there. I'll be glad to."

"I have my own car. I'll go at once."

GASOLINE ALLEY—THE MAGIC TOUCH

Story of Life May Be Told Child Early

A Four Year Old Can Understand It.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Mothers usually put off the—to them embarrassing moment when their little children start asking "those awful questions." Here is a mother who has her own plan—she has not even waited for the questions. Her letter [she has been unusually successful, it seems to me, in herself solving several difficult problems] may be interesting to others—whether you agree with her or not.

"Dear Mrs. Bevans: It is a long time since I have written you—two years, I think. I have read and experimented a good deal since then and much has happened. Knowing you are interested in case histories of children whose lives you have indirectly influenced, I feel the urge to tell you some of my 'finding.'

"Jeanette is four now and we are expecting John [it may be Mary] almost any day. She knows all about him and I expect her to accept him nonchalantly.

"Her sex education began as soon as she was old enough to be told little stories in my lap. I told her about how she was once a tiny seed in my body and how she grew, was born and cared for. I described her layette and how happy we all were. As she grew older the story was amplified so that when the news was first announced to her that she was going to have a baby brother her questions were along the same lines as the story. Once satisfied she has given it little thought.

"I think this way is better than waiting for the initial questions. We took the trouble to tell her many other things far less important—the names of flowers and birds, for instance—and have read her far less interesting stories. Why hide all the big issues of life until they are old enough to have to ask?"

This is a little different from the average opinion on the subject but it has worked out extremely well. I believe that the way we as individual mothers can each work this thing out best is the way for us to follow.

One other interesting extract from the same letter follows: "We had some difficulty about my small daughter claiming undue attention when guests were here. So we have explained that we each have our own friends—mother has hers, father has people who come just to see him, he has her little guests, and our new baby will have people come to see him. We intend when the baby comes to let her have the honor of conducting friends into his 'audience chamber.'"

Our Sex Education Booklet contains a number of references for mothers of young children. It will be sent out on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

MINUTE MYSTERY

By H. A. RIPLEY

A DISAGREEMENT.

That dagger had killed Ryan!

After having finished his microscopic examination of the weapon and having submitted it to several other tests he placed it in a drawer in his criminological laboratory—the finest in the country. He then sank into the only chair in the room.

Some day, he mused, science would probably be able to determine whether or not a specimen of blood came from the body of a particular person. As it was, science had only been able to classify human blood into four groups known as 1, 2, 3, and 4. The blood found on the blade of the dagger was No. 2, the same classification as that which covered the handle of the dagger—No. 2. The dead man's blood, by test, proved to be in the same category.

He was aroused from his thoughts by the entrance of Inspector Kelley, who, having solved a baffling case the day before, was in high spirits.

"Well," he boomed. "I suppose you're going to tell me that Ryan didn't stab himself, which I know was the case, but that he was murdered by a limping, six foot man, with a mole on his right cheek, wearing a brown hat!"

Fordney recalled the scene. The dagger he had examined, which undoubtedly had caused Ryan's death, had taken a downward course, entering just above the heart. The man had lived less than a minute. The weapon had been found lying against the baseboard, exactly 14 2-5 inches from his outflung right hand.

"Wrong, my friend," quietly replied Fordney. "Ryan was murdered!"

HOW DID HE KNOW IT WASN'T SUICIDE?

Museum Announces Results of Expedition to Ancient Lowry Ruins

Excavations at the Lowry ruins once occupied by prehistoric Indians in southwestern Colorado, recently completed by the Field Museum Archaeological expedition to the southwest, have shed new light on the lives and history of the early inhabitants, it was announced yesterday.

Artifacts bearing mute testimony concerning the lives of the people who occupied the site during the five periods, the earliest of which has been computed to have been about A. D. 890, were found by the expedition.

Eight well made bone tools were found under one of the rooms in the ruins. Three dog skeletons interred in the walls, pottery, and a green stone implement were brought to the museum for examination. Dr. Paul S. Martin, assistant curator of North American archaeology, said that discoveries of the last summer have made clear features heretofore unexplained.

St. Luke's Show Nets $17,270.82.

The fashion show staged a week ago today by the woman's board of St. Luke's hospital netted $17,270.82. The board members are delighted, of course, for although they always are hoping to equal the $34,000 netted during those far away days—as long ago as four years—before the depression, they really don't expect to do it in this day and age, and they are more than pleased to have gone ahead of last year's total, $1,343 ahead, as a matter of fact.

The major activity of the woman's board, of which Mrs. John W. Gary is president, is the financing of the social service and out-patient department of the hospital, but the board also supports the occupational therapy department and assists in the support of the kindergarten. The fashion show is a three way source of income, for not only do those who attend the two performances pay admission and the advertisers in the program pay for their space, but the shops and stores that display costumes pay for that privilege, too.

The first regular meeting of the Fortnightly is to be held today at 2:30 o'clock. Miss Marie de Mare will talk on "Marcel Proust." Next week on Thursday at 3 o'clock the first open meeting will be held, with Jurien Hoekstra giving a program of songs. Mrs. Wilhelm L. Baum is president of the Fortnightly, oldest of the several smart women's clubs in the city.

Bensons May Be Here for Holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Volney Foster were busy yesterday assuring the friends of their daughter, Mrs. Rex Benson of London, that she isn't on her way to Reno to get a divorce from Maj. Benson, but is living happily in London with Maj. Benson. It was a case of mistaken identity that caused Mrs. Benson's picture to be published in place of that of her ex-step-daughter-in-law, Mrs. Coudert Nast (Charlotte Brown), who flew to Reno Monday night to obtain a divorce from the son of Conde Nast. The former Leslie Foster was married to Conde Nast before she became Mrs. Benson. Mr. and Mrs. Foster are expecting the Bensons to come to Lake Forest to visit them for Christmas.

A telegram received yesterday by the Charles Edward Browns informed them that their daughter and new son-in-law, the Allen Earle Whitmans, will arrive in Chicago early tomorrow morning after their marriage on Monday in New York.

Junior League Holds Sale Today.

All day yesterday the young women who are in charge of today's second hand clothes sale that the Junior league is to hold at 549 North Michigan avenue were at the shop, pricing and hanging the clothes and getting ready for the "fray." Miss Edna Doering was in charge of pricing with Miss Peggy Wiley as her co-chairman. Miss Peggy Wilder and Miss Carolyn Erminger directed the collections in town and Miss Eleanor Cushman was in charge of suburban collections.

A wedding of interest that will take place tomorrow night at the South Shore Country club is that of Miss Janet Johns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Blaine Johns, to Frank Herbert Warren III., son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Warren. The service will be read at 8:30 o'clock.

Miss Helen Wilkins will be Miss Johns' maid of honor, and her bridesmaids will be Mrs. Arthur B. Treman, a sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. John Gerhart, Mrs. Gaylord A. Freeman Jr., and Mrs. H. Ferris White Jr.

Mr. Warren will have Percival B. Palmer III. for his best man, and ushering will be Merrill B. Johns Jr., John P. Harbuck, H. Ferris White Jr., and Arthur B. Treman.

John C. Pitchers Move to Town.

The John C. Pitchers, who have been spending the summer and early autumn with her mother and sister, Mrs. Louisa Burrows, in Lake Forest, have moved back to the Drake hotel for the winter.

The last time that Mrs. Albert deW. Erskine heard from her daughter and son-in-law, the Paul Fenimore Coopers, they said that they would be in Chicago before the end of the month, so if they intend to adhere to their original plans, they have a very short time in which to arrive.

Mrs. Raymond C. Dudley and her daughter, Miss Lillian Dudley, are at White Sulphur Springs for a little rest. They will return to Chicago next week.

Dr. Meiklejohn to Be at U. of C.

Another visitor comes to the University of Chicago tomorrow under the foundation established last spring to bring students into contact with notable personalities. He is Dr. Alexander Meiklejohn, whose educational innovations as president of Amherst and later as head of the experimental college at the University of Wisconsin attracted attention.

Dr. Meiklejohn will give a lecture Monday evening in Mandel hall on "Education and the Social Order" and another at 4:30 Wednesday afternoon on "Significant Living." This, too, will be heard in Mandel hall.

Before the lecture Monday, Dean and Mrs. Chauncey S. Boucher are entertaining at dinner for Mr. Meiklejohn and following his lecture Wednesday afternoon President and Mrs. Robert Maynard Hutchins will be his host and hostess. The Mortimer Adlers are having a dinner party for him Saturday evening.

Donnelley Brothers to Take Hunting Trip.

After the Union League Halloween party tomorrow night, which is to benefit the Union League Foundation for Boys' Clubs, Elliott Donnelley will turn in the profits of the party to the foundation and start for Wyoming with his younger brother, Gaylord Donnelley. The brothers are leaving Saturday by plane for the Jackson Hole country in Montana on a hunting trip.

The American Theater Society of Chicago will celebrate Founders' night on Nov. 8 at the Erlanger theater. The first anniversary of the founding of the society will be celebrated with Ina Claire playing in "Biography." The Founder members who have planned theater parties are Mr. and Mrs. Howard Linn, Mr. and Mrs. James Ward Thorne, Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson, Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey McCormick, the Arthur Meekers, the Charles B. Goodspeeds, Mrs. Frederic W. Upham, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCormick Adams, and the Arthur T. Aldises.

The Chicago Drama league has cards out for a lecture and reception on the afternoon of Nov. 6 at 3 o'clock in the crystal ballroom of the Blackstone hotel. Dr. Louis K. Anspacher will talk on "Woman as Divinity, Chattel, or Mate."

The scholarship fund of the Evanston-North Shore Smith club is to benefit by the proceeds of a theater party on Nov. 7 at the Grand Opera house. The club members have reserved the theater for that evening. Mrs. Norman Waite, who was Lavinia Fyke before her marriage, is chairman of the benefit. Mrs. John Hill of Winnetka is in charge of the ticket sales.

Mrs. Ralph E. Church has been chosen president of the Chicago Wellesley club, which is to have its first fall board meeting at 10 o'clock on Nov. 6 at the Chicago College club. Others who will serve with Mrs. Church as officers this year are Miss Emily Goebst, vice president; Mrs. Walter M. Sackett, recording secretary; Miss Phyllis Graver, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Charles A. M. Waterhouse, treasurer.

Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Quinn of 111 South Austin boulevard announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Louise, to Charles Alfred Stepan Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Alfred Stepan of 3000 Sheridan road. Miss Quinn will graduate in February from Rosary college and Mr. Stepan is a graduate of Notre Dame university.

Professor Chase of Smith College Will Speak Today

Miss Mary Ellen Chase, professor of English language and literature at Smith college, will address the students of the Chicago Teachers' college at 3:30 this afternoon in the school assembly room. Her subject will be "Hopeful Tendencies in Current Literature." Mrs. H. Newton Hudson will entertain at luncheon for Miss Chase at her home, 538 Hawthorne place. Among her guests will be Dr. Mabelle Babcock Blake, the new president of the Chicago Teachers' college and former head of the personnel department at Smith.

Women Attain New Happiness in Depression

Adversity Gives Changed Outlook on Life.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

HOLLYWOOD. — [Special.] — We've had a couple of experiences the last few days in enforced readjustments to living conditions as presented today and yesterday. Not that they are more common to this community than elsewhere, but away from one's own community incidents are somehow more impressive at the time.

Years ago we envied with a righteous envy a certain woman whose position in the business field was unusual and extraordinarily well paid for the time. She had many workers under her direction, and was in those days distinguished for her dress and grooming, along with her ability.

The other day we happened to run into her in a shopping district, working in a menial position. She disclosed a prosperous marriage for a time and then depression disaster. Along with loss of financial security there came a protracted period of illness of both man and wife. She recovered first and set out to get work. The man is still not well enough, nor otherwise able to get work. But the fine philosophy of the woman, under the difficult circumstances, was invigorating.

"Gratitude for the privilege of being allowed to work," she confided, "it was something I never thought would come in my life. But, believe me, I am grateful today! I can buy my husband a few comforts now in return for his generosity to me. It's hard for him to take them, but as you get older you realize the one big kick you do get out of life is doing things for others. Isn't it true?"

In the home of one of the writing luminaries here, acting as maid of all work and an extremely competent one, by the way, is a girl who a couple of years ago would have scorned the suggestion that housework was a desirable occupation. She was more than a secretary, having done a bit of writing in between secretarial duties.

"I'm learning a job at which woman is happiest," she confides. "I was lucky to get into a grand home, nevertheless the big kick comes in turning out a coffee cake that's fit to eat, or a salad that can't be beaten at any other table known.

"Now I know," she adds, "I will make some man a darned good wife. If I don't land one, at least I can cook food that will keep me in good health."

Louise Hunt, Daughter of Jarvis, Wed in New York

New York, Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Miss Louise Hunt, daughter of Jarvis Hunt of Chicago, was married to Maj. George Gibson McMurtry of this city today noon at the chapel of the Collegiate church in the presence of relatives and close friends. The Rev. Eugene Carson Blake officiated. The marriage comes as a surprise to society, as no announcement of an engagement had been made, and it was not generally known that Maj. McMurtry's marriage to his first wife, the former Miss Mabel Post, had been terminated by divorce. Miss Hunt has lived in New York a number of years. In the world war Maj. McMurtry was in command of the second battalion of the 308th infantry, seventy-seventh division, A. E. F. He was second in command to Col. Charles W. Whittlesey of the lost battalion.

Cluster of Stars Makes Colorful Bouquet Effect

Cluster of Stars.

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Cluster of Stars" is one of the most effective quilt designs unearthed in a long time. Various colorful prints should be used, a different print for each block, but the square should be of one color all over the coverlet. Being careful about this insures a quilt as pretty as a harmonious bouquet.

For a quilt pattern of this design send 5 cents in coin or stamps to Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, printing your name and address clearly. Or call at the Tribune Public Service Office, One South Dearborn.

New Evening Clothes Rival Glamour of '80

Striking Ensembles Offer Shopping Thrill.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

All the pompous, pink-jowled old gentlemen who have discussed at great length the glamour of the beauties and belles of yesterday are due for a surprise . . . for grandmother in all her frilled and silken splendor wasn't any lovelier or more appealingly feminine than the fashion-wise clothes collector of today!

Lovely ladies from the 1880's have returned . . . or at least good copies of the gowns and wraps that made fashion history of that decade. The ladies of other days simply couldn't have had anything more romantic to wear out of nights than the gorgeous new long evening wraps.

Look for the newest snowy white creations featured in some collections . . . liquidly lovely long sweeps of white velvet made in the most picturesque manner. Some have accents around the shoulder seams of lustrous cinnamon brown mink; others are furless, with huge collars of crushed, quilted, or shirred velvet, with voluminous sleeves also shirred or gathered into cuffs.

Some of these white creations look like a glorified coachman's coat right out of an English print.

And until you have seen the newest glittering evening gowns of white and gold or silver brocade or lame that flash under these white velvet coats, you have missed a shopping thrill! Long, super-slim affairs that remind you of frosty window panes with gold or silver patterns traced on sparkling white.

Then for a superb contrast, wear the high-colored, feathered capes and muffs or boas and muffs . . . imagine royal Prussian blue with white, or deep rosy coral, or the spectacular splash of an orange feathered cape collar, or the intriguing staccato note of bottle green against glittering threaded gold and you have a vague idea of the most fascinating of new evening ensembles.

Economical tips for week-end food shoppers—a weekly radio feature—will be presented tomorrow by Mary Meade over station WMAQ. Tune in at 11:10 o'clock for Miss Meade's market chat.

BY MARY MEADE.

What? A Halloween without doughnuts? O, that wouldn't do at all! No more than would a Christmas without a tree, or Thanksgiving without a dinner. So, since there are going to be calls for doughnuts by the dozen next week, maybe by the bushel for large parties, let's look over our doughnut technique and shine off any rust which may have accumulated.

If part of the evening's entertainment is to be furnished by doughnuts dangling from strings and folks with hands tied behind their backs trying their best to snatch a bite, let's use the sticky raised kind just for fun. And if you're serving the typical Halloween lunch—cider and doughnuts—shall we have chocolate and orange ones for a change?

When frying doughnuts avoid turning them more than once. They should come quickly to the top of the fat, brown on one side, and then be turned to brown on the other side. When doughnuts absorb fat or are doughy in the middle the trouble can be traced to the temperature of the fat. Keep the fat at a uniform heat of 370 degrees F. during the process of frying the doughnuts. If you haven't a thermometer drop an inch cube of bread into the heated fat. If in sixty seconds exactly the bread is a golden brown the fat is at the correct temperature.

DOUGHNUTS.

3 eggs
1 cup sugar
½ cup milk
½ cup sweet cream
4 cups pastry flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon nutmeg
Pinch of ginger

Beat the eggs until light and foamy. Add the sugar and beat hard until creamy. Add the milk and cream. Sift the flour with the baking powder, salt, nutmeg, and ginger. Add this to the first mixture and stir just enough to dampen all the dry ingredients. Turn out on a floured board and roll or pat out to one-half inch thickness. Cut and drop into the hot fat (370 degrees F.). Fry to a golden brown, drain on unglazed paper, and sprinkle with powdered sugar when cool.

ORANGE DOUGHNUTS.

CHOCOLATE DOUGHNUTS.

Follow the recipe for doughnuts, adding one and one-half one-ounce squares of chocolate, melted; one teaspoon cinnamon, and one teaspoon vanilla. Omit the nutmeg and ginger.

RAISED DOUGHNUTS.

1 cup milk
1 teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons fat
¾ cup sugar
1 yeast cake
2 tablespoons lukewarm water
5½ cups flour
½ teaspoon each nutmeg and cinnamon
2 well beaten eggs
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel

Scald the milk and dissolve in it the salt and sugar. Add the fat and let cool to lukewarm. At this time add the yeast cake which has been thoroughly dissolved in the lukewarm water. Stir in carefully half the flour and beat until smooth. Cover and let stand in a warm place until light and well risen. Then add the eggs, lemon juice, and rind, and the remainder of the flour sifted with the spices. Cover again and let rise until double in bulk, then turn onto a board and knead lightly until slightly elastic. Flour the board and roll out the dough to three-eighths inch thickness, and cut. Let rise again, covered, until double in bulk, and fry in hot fat (370 degrees F.) until a delicate brown. Drain and sprinkle with granulated sugar.

FRUIT DOUGHNUTS.

Follow the recipe for raised doughnuts. When adding the lemon juice and rind also add one-quarter cup currants, one-quarter cup seeded raisins, and one-quarter cup chopped citron.

Slimming Lines Make an Appeal to Smart Matron

WOMAN'S DRESS.

Paris designed this model with new slimming features to enhance the matronly figure. It's strikingly smart and yet exceedingly wearable.

Carried out in black crêpe satin, it can be worn through an entire day. There is just a touch of white bengaline silk in the vest. It's also a splendid model for black wool crêpe, or the two surfaces of black crêpe satin, and velvet.

Style No. 3235 is designed for sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, and 46 inches bust. Size 36 requires 3⅞ yards of 39 inch material with ¼ yard of 9 inch contrasting and 2¼ yards of ribbon.

Modish Curves Are Controlled, Not Lazy Kind

Mae West Lines Too Rotund for Film Standards.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

HOLLYWOOD. — [Special.] — It strikes me, so far as I've gone around this film center, that you girls on the outside who sit down comfortably with your curves, because you believe them to be back, are due for an awakening. 'Tain't so, my sisters! Your calorie days aren't over. If Mae should "phiffst" one of these days, there you'll be.

I say this because my experience with women is that they take curves to mean comfort, which, in turn, means more padding by a good many pounds than your screen sirens are entitled to. They're still choosing them for their streamline chassis, with the difference only that curves appear where curves should appear. No place else, however.

One of the casting directors even discourages the girls taken on and under training to avoid exercise, his theory being that the screen won't stand for the muscle development exercise contributes. One girl, he reports, with all the other necessary qualifications, has to lay off for a term because she took her exercise lessons too much to heart and thereby built a barrier for herself. They've got to stay slender when the camera magnifies every little ounce that can be got along without. It's a different sort of slenderness that's wanted today, nevertheless, slenderness. It's one of the reasons the taller girl is getting a break in pictures. She can look slenderer and wear clothes better.

Learning, then, that reducing must go on, I gathered a couple of exercises for your benefit. One from a man who has had a great deal of experience in training for stage work, now occupied with getting girls into shape for the screen. It's for that protruding lower back that so often mars the symmetry of a silhouette. You sit on the floor and walk in sitting position, making hips revolve as you move, raising heels slightly to propel you along. It's as good for hips as for buttocks.

Max Baer volunteered two good hip and leg reducing exercises. One is to lie on the floor on the side and work the legs in quick "scissor" movement [back and forth] without letting legs touch floor until you've done it 15 or 20 times. Another exercise whose value also lies in keeping legs off the floor temporarily is to lie on the back and lift both legs up and down, up and down, without letting heels touch the floor. This will also whittle down the waistline and stomach.

NRA MEMBER U.S.
We Do Our Part

TO EVERYONE

who pays a bill for electricity and gas

The reasonableness of electric and gas rates affects the pocketbook of every citizen, directly or indirectly. That you may understand the situation, there is published below the statement made October 24th before the Illinois Commerce Commission, at a formal rate hearing, by James Simpson, chairman of Commonwealth Edison Company, The Peoples Gas Light and Coke Company, and Public Service Company of Northern Illinois.

Mr Chairman and Gentlemen of the Illinois Commerce Commission:

BEFORE you begin formal hearings in the citation for a reduction in rates by the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, I ask your indulgence to present a statement. What I will say also applies to the Commonwealth Edison Company and The Peoples Gas Light and Coke Company.

Reversing the time-honored order of procedure, I am prefacing my remarks with what would, under most circumstances, be the conclusion of them.

That is a request—a frank, open, straightforward request—that this body postpone hearings looking to a further downward revision of rates by the three companies mentioned, until such time as those companies and your honorable body may know more about the future than it is possible to know today.

To Avoid Increased Rates

The companies are making every effort to absorb the extraordinary and unforeseen expenses recently added to their burdens, hoping that they will not be forced to petition this Commission for relief through increased rates.

There are four major items involved in the management of these public utilities, two having to do with their revenues and two with their expenses.

Let me briefly mention them:

1. The first is rates. This matter is either in your hands or in the hands of the courts. The companies may initiate rates. But in the final analysis the companies have no control of the rates, their very lifeblood. I do not contend that they should have such final control, but I do contend that rates should be fair, and this means adequate to provide a reasonable return upon the capital invested for the service of the public.
2. The second item, affecting the gross revenue of the companies, is the quantity of electricity and gas consumed by their customers. Over this, broadly speaking, the companies have no control. The extent of the customer's use of these services is a matter wholly of his own choice or needs. The company must sell but the customer is not required to buy. The depression and hard times have taken their toll from these companies and only recently has there been any encouraging upward trend. Consumption is still far below normal.
3. The third item is our normal daily operating expenses which may be spoken of as controllable expense. It is the only one of the four major items over which the companies have a large measure of control. Their control over this item is limited by the necessity of protecting the high standard of the service rendered. From intimate and personal knowledge of our business I know that the three companies have done a good job in reducing this part of their operating expenses.

Uncontrollable Expenses Mount

4. The fourth and last item is the uncontrollable portion of the companies' expenses. It is in part composed of state, county and local real estate and personal property taxes, state franchise taxes, state capital stock tax, federal capital stock tax, federal tax of 3 per cent on sale of electricity, municipal franchise tax, federal income tax, and various other governmental charges.

Recently the Department of Finance of the State of Illinois has attempted to apply the 2 per cent Illinois Retailers' Occupational Tax—the so-called "sales tax"—to electric and gas services. The companies believe that the furnishing of these services is not retail sale of tangible property, at which the law is specifically directed. Consequently, we are contesting this tax in the courts. May I add that public utilities represent the only business that does not have the privilege of passing this tax on to the consumer.

Taxes Increase $7,867,000 Per Year

Emphasizing further this matter of taxes, within the past ten months the three companies have had new and increased taxes levied or proposed to be levied against them, some going back to the years 1931 and 1932, amounting to more than $14,500,000, of which the companies had no knowledge a year ago. A portion of these increased taxes is chargeable to the years 1931 and 1932 because of the confused tax situation in Cook County. The earnings statements of the three companies for these two years reflect these increased taxes. Certain of the new taxes such as the federal tax of 3 per cent on the sale of electricity and one or two other new forms of taxation above mentioned, have been imposed under laws passed during the current year and therefore, have been effective during only a part of the year 1933. The full effect of these new and increased taxes has not yet been felt. If all these additional taxes be continued the estimated increase in taxes will amount to $7,867,000 per year.

Further down in this list of uncontrollable expenses is the cost of investigations made by this Commission imposed within the past six months by amendments to our State Law. Even more recently there has been added to this list a substantial increase in expenses due to the codes under the National Recovery Act.

One large and unyielding element in the list is interest on outstanding bonded debts, representing capital expenditures necessarily incurred for the rendering of service to the public.

Net Revenue Drops $18,500,000

I am not going to burden this presentation with too many figures for this Commission is thoroughly familiar with them, but I do wish to bring out one significant figure resulting from the startling trends in the three uncontrollable items to which I have just referred. It is a comparison of combined operating figures for the three companies for the year 1933 with the more normal year of 1930. The reduction in the estimated gross earnings from operations of the three companies for 1933 on the one hand, and the increases in taxes and other uncontrollable items on the other hand, result in a reduction of income in excess of $25,000,000.

Partially offsetting this decrease in income, the controllable expenses will be some $6,500,000 less in 1933 than they were in 1930. Therefore, the combined net operating income of these three companies for 1933, after the payment of interest and before the payment of dividends, will be at least $18,500,000 less than in 1930. This graphically tells the story of the past three years.

Dividends and Stockholders

This condition quite recently made necessary the suspension of dividends by The Peoples Gas Light and Coke Company on its $67,000,000 of outstanding capital stock. Since 1931, dividends on the $162,000,000 of outstanding capital stock of Commonwealth Edison Company have been cut in half, and dividends on the $63,000,000 of outstanding common stock of Public Service Company of Northern Illinois have been reduced to one-fourth of their former level.

Gentlemen, in the face of a sub-normal demand for electricity and gas, resulting in a sub-normal revenue, in the face of increasing uncontrollable expenses, and in the face of rapidly rising costs which will be accelerated if we have any form of inflation or reflation, you are asking these companies further to reduce their rates.

Economic realities must be faced. Any further rate reductions or increases in taxes are impossible at this time without seriously affecting these three companies.

Nothing is to be gained by seeking to attribute the present situation to anything that may have occurred in the past. For past history, neither the present members of the Commission nor the present managements of the companies are in any measure responsible. Under the trying conditions now prevailing, it is our task to look forward, not backward.

Utilities' Credit Essential to Community

This community, embracing the City of Chicago and the surrounding area, is dependent in a large measure for its prosperity and growth upon these three companies. Any injury to them affecting their credit or their service inevitably means great damage to the community at large.

The maintenance of the credit of these institutions is entirely possible with reasonable rates. Whether present rates with improved conditions will be adequate for the restoration of the earnings, remains to be seen. But any reduction in rates at this time is unthinkable.

The consumer is interested in the maintenance of adequate rates because that is the only way to insure good service.

Illinois Residents Vitally Interested

While every consideration must and should be given to our customers, our stockholders numbering over 100,000—more than 90,000 of whom reside in Illinois—must not be lost sight of. Illinois is vitally interested in the successful operation of these three companies for in its confines reside over 70,000 bondholders, 90,000 stockholders, 15,400 employes, and upwards of 65,000 other persons gainfully employed in ways dependent upon the activities of these companies. An ultra conservative family multiplier of 3 applied to this army of 240,000 persons leads one to the conclusion that one person out of every 10 in the State has a direct interest in the prosperity of these three companies.

The Public Utility Law of this State was designed to protect the investor as well as the consumer—the one who renders the service as well as the one who enjoys it. The question is far from a one-sided one. It is by no means true that a reduction in rates would injure a few and aid many. A rate reduction not warranted by prevailing conditions would bring about as great an injustice to the consumer as to the investor.

Our responsibilities as managers of these companies, and we take these responsibilities with all seriousness, are to render to our customers the best possible service at the lowest possible rates, to give to our stockholders a reasonable return on their investment, and to pay our employes a fair living wage. These things we can do only with fair and reasonable rates.

Industry in this country cannot survive unless Government permits it to earn a reasonable—and I use that word advisedly—a reasonable return on its invested capital.

Commission's Broad Interest

I appreciate the grave responsibility resting upon the shoulders of the members of the Illinois Commerce Commission, appointed by the Governor of this State to administer the Public Utility Law. I am aware of the pressure that is constantly put upon persons in your position to force reductions in rates. This pressure is always more severe in time of economic stress like the present.

Your responsibility under the Public Utility Law of guarding equally the interest of the consumer and of the investor calls for a judicious balancing of their interests, remembering that in the last analysis their interests lie along the same lines. The discharge of this responsibility calls imperatively for a facing of facts, which do not lie in your power or ours to alter.

Neither you nor we can materially increase the consumer's use of electricity and gas.

Neither you nor we can control the welter of ever-increasing taxes.

Neither you nor we nor anyone else, can foretell what the trend of industry and commerce is going to be in the next twelve months. We all hope upward, but not one of us knows.

In conclusion, I repeat my request that cold, stern facts and present-day conditions be given the right-of-way over any other considerations and that this Commission defer its efforts to reduce rates during this period of national recovery.

NOTRE DAME STRENGTHENS DEFENSE FOR PITT

TEN AMERICANS WIN $788,000 IN SWEEPSTAKES

Three Get $143,000 Each for First.

New York, Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Ten Americans, two of them women, held nine winning tickets in the tenth annual Irish sweepstakes, decided today on the running of the Cambridgeshire at Newmarket, England. Their winnings total £165,000, or approximately $788,000 at the current rate of exchange.

The lottery yielded more than $13,000,000 this year, of which nearly $8,000,000 was available for prizes.

"Better Times" Is Right.

American winners of capital prizes of about $143,000 each were Mrs. Barbara Frank of New York, wife of a house painter; T. Kubicki of South Boston, and a Dorchester, Mass., man who signed his $2.50 ticket "Better Times." He is Julius Kreuzer, 40 year old chemist, who had two tickets. He signed the other one "New Deal."

Christian H. Droge, German born hardware dealer of New York City; N. Fishfush of Watertown, Mass., and a two man syndicate of Astoria, Long Island, formed by Philip Merolla, an iceman, who was buried on borrowed money the day of the drawing and Jacob Wortman, a tailor, held tickets worth $71,500 each.

Paul T. Jones of Woollaston, Mass.; B. F. W. Moller, New Orleans, and Miss Florence Henninger of Ozone Park, Queens, a cashier for the American Telephone and Telegraph company, who said a married sister, Mrs. Ruth McCullum, shared ownership in her ticket, will receive $47,775 each.

Little to Cheer About.

Mrs. Frank and her house painting husband came here from Hamburg, Bavaria, five years ago. Only tears and expressions of inconsolable grief came from Mrs. Lucy Merolla when told of her good fortune.

"Four hours after the drawings were announced I buried my husband, who bought the ticket with Mr. Wortman, whom he used to serve with ice. I had to borrow $100 to give him a decent funeral," she said. "What good is all that money to me without my husband?"

KING SEES HIS HORSE LOSE

NEWMARKET, England, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Groans of disappointment from thousands of throats, including that of his majesty King George, went up over Newmarket Heath this afternoon as Sir Abe Bailey's Raymond, an outsider paying 33 to 1, won the historic Cambridgeshire.

Two lengths back trailed Sir Ernest Tate's Denbigh, another long shot, with Sir Tom Putnam's lightly weighted Stalky third, and the king's colt, Limelight, out of the money in fourth place.

Holders of the winning sweepstake tickets the world over, totaling an estimate of $8,500,000, were joyful, but here on Newmarket Heath it was a sad and dreary day. Not only did Limelight, favorite at 5 to 1, fail his thousands of supporters, but the weather added to the drab occasion.

Ridden by the South African jockey, George Nicoll, Raymond was well up with the leaders from the start. A quarter of a mile from home he took command and held off a challenge by Denbigh in the last few yards. The time was 1:53.

The king's horse showed in front after the getaway and was in a contending position to the last quarter mile, where he faded and steadily dropped behind, just managing to beat Gino. Alluvial was sixth and Young Native was seventh.

OILERS DEFEAT ALL STARS, 29-19, TO EVEN SERIES

The Diamond Oilers, of Tulsa, Okla., National A. A. U. basketball champions, evened their series with the Northwestern university all-stars at the 132d armory, Rockwell and Madison streets, last night by defeating the former Big Ten players, 29 to 19. The all-stars won the first game Monday night, 34 to 30. Last night's game concluded the series.

Carleton, a guard, led the Tulsa attack with ten points. He was closely pressed by Pickell, Tulsa center, who scored seven points. Bob Gruenig, playing center for the all-stars, led their attack, collecting three field goals and three free throws.

In an opening contest the Durant Cardinals, National A. A. U. women's champion, scored their second consecutive victory over the Spencer Coals of Chicago, 25 to 19. It was the Cardinals' 73d straight triumph. Lucille Thurman, center for the champions, led the scoring with four baskets and two free tosses.

THE GUMPS—HEARTS OF GOLD

In the WAKE of the NEWS

WAKE LETTER BOX.

DEAR Harvey: There is a factor in football this year that I have not seen mentioned. It will bring more upsets and better football than ever before.

Nearly all schools have more strength in material because of present economic conditions. There are boys who graduated from high school in 1928-'29-'30 who never intended to go to college. In those days, boys could get work. Conditions became bad in 1931 and many of them lost their jobs. So many of them are now in college and eligible for competition. In the meantime, they have worked for a couple of years and are better matured physically and mentally.—Iowa, '06.

I have "played" the horses for eight years and get a big kick out of a modest $2 bet. With all this talk of doping and so much money involved, I wonder why the horses entered for that day could not be put in separate barns for that purpose after the morning workout. Then this barn could be guarded by track or government detectives. I am told the dope has to be administered shortly before the race.—Charles Vodnansky.

Spent an hour with Reb Russell, former Northwestern back, while in the east recently. Reb says pro football players are worked harder in practice now than are college men, and team spirit has been worked up into an intense desire to win.

Glen Presnell, Portsmouth star, joined our session. Ernie Bearg, former Nebraska coach, once told me that if Glen's legs were three inches longer he would be greater than Red Grange. Evidently his legs are lengthening. Presnell returned to college last February to work on his master's degree and says many of the boys are doing likewise.—Bob Bennett.

"Your Knowing."

Around you I've builded a trusting wall
That in my heart I might keep
Each everything, each single thought,
Your genuine ideals—a living harvest reap.
So strong you are to me, I'll e'er believe
Your art as part my daily bread of every meal.
You are my shrine, where alone I raise my head
And drink as wine—
Your art, your voice, your music mind—
It is blood I quaff, from clearest crystal glass,
To quench a lonely thirst and let it onward flow
Through hungry veins that only you—they know.
Even when May days fade and turn
To December's slowly burning embers,
Your spirit, a beacon light of June's love star at night
Will burn for me—an everlasting light—
In tranquil upon life's pedestal.
Then my hand in reach to touch my god
With deepest sympathy I shall nod
And let you knowing be, the eternal caress

Brooklyn Football Team Releases Three Players

New York, Oct. 25.—[Special.]—The Brooklyn Dodgers of the National football league today announced the unconditional release of Hugh Rl.ea, former University of Nebraska guard; Leo Raskowski and Johnny Lyons.

MICHIGAN USES 6-2-2-1 DEFENSE TO STOP RIVALS

Line So Strong Backs Can Cover Passes, Punts.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The aim of the defense in football is to deploy the players to cover all possible offensive measures. The defense must protect against runs, plunges, forward and lateral passes, and punts. The theory is fine, but the abilities of the individual players and their ratio of effectiveness to their opponents must be taken into consideration by the coach.

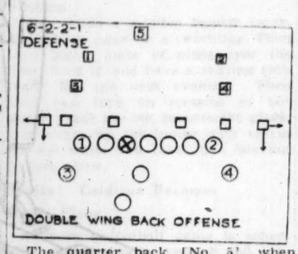

If the opponents cannot be stopped by six linemen, then seven must be used. If seven can't stop a running attack, then the half backs and other secondary players must give help immediately on running plays. Obviously, then, the defense against passes is weakened.

Michigan Uses 6-2-2-1

Michigan, largely because of the individual ability in charging and tackling of its men, is the only Western conference team which consistently plays on defense to cover punts as well as runs, passes, and plunges. Michigan does this with a 6-2-2-1 defense, so called because six players are on the line of scrimmage, the center and full back back up that line, the half backs form a tertiary line, and the quarter back is a fourth defense, receiving kicks and playing the ball on passes. He commonly is called the safety man.

On occasion, however, Michigan has used a seven man line with a box [2 and 2] defense. This is formed deep in Michigan territory when more strength on the line is needed and there is no necessity for a punt receiver. On Saturday Michigan undoubtedly will be able to cope with Chicago's running attack with six men on the line. The perfect type of defense leaves Chicago no point of weakness at which to direct its attack.

A diagram of Michigan's defense follows:

The quarter back [No. 5], when Chicago has the ball in its own territory, is back at least 40 yards from the line of scrimmage to receive kicks, play the ball on forward passes and as safety man if any runner should break loose for a long run. Customarily, against the double wing back offense diagrammed above, the corresponding numbers indicate how eligible pass receivers are covered. This isn't always true, but the best coverage for the ends is to have the back men in the box cover them. This might be altered if a combination zone and man to man defense was used.

N. U. to Use Same Attack.

This double wing back system of attack was used by Ohio State last Saturday and will be used by Northwestern and Minnesota in impending games with Michigan. Michigan ends will cover the flat zones, particularly on the back side of the play. Only one end "floats" at a time, depending on the ultimate direction of the play. The front men in the box cover the wing backs.

John Blood's failure to cover the Bears' end in the Green Bay-Bears game last Sunday permitted the touchdown pass to Luke Johnsos.

Covering passes is only part of the duties of the backs. Defense players Nos. 3 and 4 [Michigan's center and full back] protect on plunges and runs. So do backs Nos. 1 and 2.

Maroons Hope for Break.

On paper it is impossible to manipulate Chicago's offense to gain effectually against Michigan. Man for man, Michigan is superior in the line. Michigan has speed, power, weight and superior kicking. Michigan blocks better and tackles better and has had more experience. Only through inefficient work by the Wol-

LOOK AT 'EM SUFFER, FOLKS, ISN'T IT FUN?

M'MILLEN WINS AT HOMECOMING FOR MAT FANS

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

There was a lump in many a throat last night as more than 5,000 loyal alumni gathered 'round the old quadrangle at the Chicago Stadium for the 1933 homecoming of wrestling. The undergraduates regaled the old timers with everything that goes to make wrestling one of the modern fine arts.

All of the old songs were sung, all of the old yells yelled, and, of course, there were all of the old holds. It was a happy gathering which wended its homeward way while the strains of "Auld Lang Syne" pealed softly from the organ loft.

McMillen's Tackle Works.

There was courage. There was drama. There was moaning, bleating and wheezing to cheer the heart of the old grad. And there was James McMillen of the flying tackle school, who brought down Joseph Stecher, the scissors student, in the high point of the ceremony. James consummated this in 48 minutes and 27 seconds with his pet hold.

James and Joseph made a jolly party of it while they lasted, the former, in a moment of mischief, pitching Joe to the concrete floor. Joe grinned a bit shamefacedly as he came back, but just to show he harbored no resentment, stepped on Jim's features a few moments later, the while trying to pry one of McMillen's legs from his torso. Both boys soon proved they had caught the spirit of the occasion and sent their elders home happy in the knowledge that the local team is ready for the big season ahead.

Bronko Gets Draw.

The homecomers were put into a happy frame of mind almost immediately by a scoreless tie between Bronko Nagurski and Pat O'Shocker. Bronko shows great promise and undoubtedly will win his numeral, but

Chicago Game and Fair Lure Michigan Fans

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Prospect of seeing the Michigan-Chicago football game and A Century of Progress on one trip has influenced student and alumni reservations for Chicago over the week-end. Indications are that the Wolverine delegation will reach 3,000.

Michigan's original ticket allotment of 1,400 was sold out early this week and another consignment of 1,000 tickets was nearly gone at noon today. Most purchasers planned to go by special train.

Mr. McMillen apparently doesn't care for the particular hold that Stecher is applying to him here, but don't be alarmed—it was nothing serious. McMillen recovered sufficiently to win the match.

Winooka Last as Mate Wins Laurel Sprint

Laurel, Md., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Winooka, Australian son of Windbag, today ran a dismal last in his first test against class A American horses.

Odds on favorite at 90 cents to $1 when the five entries paraded to the post, the reputed sprint champion of Australia finished nine and a half lengths behind Mate, Albert C. Bostwick's brilliant 5 year old, which was ridden to victory by Raymond [Sonny] Workman.

Mrs. S. H. Fairbanks' Gold Step took second money, with Lee Rosenberg's Kerry Patch third. The Jersey stable's Character was two lengths out of the money, but still five lengths ahead of the much press agented horse from down under.

About 13,000—a week day record for the present Laurel season—had come to see Winooka live up to the advance notices from his American tour manager, Rufe Naylor.

Mae's time of 1:12 4-5 was well above the track record of 1:11 3-5. Workman rode a careful, heady race to take the $3,500 purse. After the start the five ran head to head with Character, on the inside, having a slight advantage. Mate was on the outside, Winooka in the middle.

Turning out of the far stretch Winooka showed the first signs of being outclassed. He dropped back into last place as Mate moved up. Workman went to the rail at the quarter post and snatched the lead as the horses straightened out for the run home.

Character dropped back, but Gold Step held on gamely. Mate, however, continued to gain until the end.

Talking It Over

BY ARCH WARD.

FOOTBALL coaching is the toughest job in sport. If you keep up with the newspapers, you must believe it. Hardly an edition goes to press that doesn't carry a report about a coach who is soon to be fired.

From time to time there have been some harsh words in these columns about college gridiron leaders. We are almost inclined to take some of them back.

Consider the situation at Ohio State. The Buckeyes won their early season games by decisive margins. Among the victims was Vanderbilt, perennially one of Dixie's strongest representatives. There were no complaints after Ohio State rolled up a 20 to 0 count, coming on the heels of a 75 to 0 triumph over Virginia. The offense was fine. The defense was great. Everybody in Columbus said it was a splendid team.

Came the big game with Michigan. Nearly 94,000 paid their way into the Ann Arbor stadium to see the battle between two of the Big Ten's keenest rivals. That great throng turned out because it expected a red hot battle. Consequently Ohio State must have been considered a great team. You can't have an exciting football game, if one of the squads is hopelessly outclassed. There was no question about Michigan's worth. If Ohio State was a strong team, as its adherents felt, it must have been a well coached team.

You know the outcome—13 to 0 for Michigan. But probably you don't know that the telegraph wires have been cluttered nightly this week with pleces demanding the scalp of Sam Willaman, Ohio State coach.

To an impartial observer this is unfair. Ohio State ran up against one of the strongest elevens the Western conference has produced. Willaman was either a good coach or a bad coach before the game with Michigan. If his preparations and handling of the team were wrong in the Ann Arbor defeat, how can it follow logically that they were right in the Vanderbilt victory?

Michigan men, no doubt, will say that playing Vanderbilt is one thing and playing Michigan something entirely different. They may be right, but football form is so changeable from week to week you can't be sure of any team these days. The point I am trying to make is why is it that a college coach is a wizard when he wins and an ignoramus when he loses?

The answer seems to be that you must win to hold your job. This may account for the unsporting and commercial attitudes some of the coaches assume. They realize their careers probably will be short. They are open to attack from all sides—alumni, undergraduates, faculty brethern jealous of their publicity, and the public. Nobody knows or cares whether half of Prof. Zlich's philosophy class fails to meet required standards. He probably will be back teaching syllogisms again the next year. But the whole world knows if the coach's football pupils fail to meet expected standards.

College football is classed as an amateur sport. In many places it is. But there is less consideration shown the coach than in any professional sport you can name.

George Halas, owner and coach of the Chicago Bears, has the ideal situation. The only one who can fire him is George Halas.

IRISH PREPARE TO SALVAGE LOST PRESTIGE

Anderson Calls Off Pep Meeting.

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—The lethargy into which teams from the city of Pittsburgh have lulled Notre Dame in its last meetings with the Pitt Panthers and Carnegie Tech was manifest today in a pall of pessimism.

Where formerly an air of confidence enveloped the campus and practice field, there now is genuine apprehension over Pitt's power. A long scrimmage against the freshmen, using Pitt plays, served only to heighten worry over the outcome of Saturday's game in which the Irish return to Notre Dame stadium for the first time since the disappointing and surprising tie with Kansas.

Coach Hunk Anderson was the least optimistic of all at the end of today's drill, despite his admission that Notre Dame's offense appeared stronger and more polished than in any practice this season.

They Fold Up.

"But," he added "they have appeared great in every scrimmage without exception this year, and they have looked equally as terrible in games.

"They were warned that Kansas, Indiana and especially Carnegie were strong. They apparently believed it when they scrimmaged, but they folded up like a tent in a cyclone when they met a little opposition on Saturday afternoon."

Anderson recalled that Notre Dame went to Pittsburgh last year highly expectant of victory after a week of exceptionally impressive drill, only to come away beaten, disorganized and demoralized in one of the most stunning upsets of the season. Pitt has not fallen far below its 1932 par in offensive and defensive strength, he pointed out today. Its defeat by Minnesota, scouts reported, was not a case of Pitt's weakness, but of Minnesota's strength.

Fear Pitt Power.

The vaunted Pitt power which has prompted Anderson to spend nearly all his time on defense this week was evident throughout the Minnesota game, Pitt marching against the Gophers for sizeable gains several times. It is this power which Anderson hopes Notre Dame will be able to throttle.

The tenseness which Saturday's game has engendered has led Anderson to ask the cancellation of the Friday night pep session on the ground that if last Saturday's defeat by Carnegie Tech and the players' knowledge of Pitt's strength, coupled with last year's 12 to 0 defeat cannot arouse the men to sufficient heights, no amount of theatrics will accomplish the purpose.

Saturday's game will be Notre Dame's last chance to preserve rating as one of the potentially great teams of the country. Tied, defeated and victorious only once in three starts, Notre Dame must even counts with Pittsburgh or be relegated to the status of a team greatly overestimated in pre-season appraisals.

MAROONS SCRIMMAGE.

Facing the hardest game of its schedule, against one of the finest teams in the country, the University of Chicago football team yesterday took the Michigan bit in its teeth and staged a spirited offensive scrimmage.

The Maroons have rebounded smartly after their disappointing game against Purdue, and the boys feel that if Michigan plans to coast at Stagg field Saturday the free wheeling won't work. The Wolverines, with Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota, and Northwestern to meet on successive Saturdays, may regard the Chicago game as a breather. The Maroons meet Wisconsin, Indiana, Illinois, and Dartmouth after Saturday.

Coach Shaugnessy had his back field mixing passes with running plays for effective gains against the heavy freshman forwards yesterday. Jay Berwanger, who averaged nearly five yards per try against Purdue, broke into the clear for several long runs, and shot passes all over the lot, some good and some not so good. Ewald Nyquist, Pete Zimmer, Barton Smith, and Bob Wallace shared in the ball carrying. The line work on offensive blocking appeared to be improved.

It has become apparent that Smith cannot be kept off the ball team. The best kicker on the squad, a fine defensive player, particularly against forward passes, and a fair blocker, Smith will see considerable service Saturday in the Maroon backfield.

Jim Gold, who starred in Tilden's line two years ago, was given a chance at Manelkis' guard position yesterday. If Gold starts for Manelkis and Flinn occupies Sahlin's spot, the Maroons will be playing with seven sophomores, three juniors, and one senior.

Attendance at the game is likely to exceed 20,000. Michigan followers have commandeered the whole south stand.

Seattle Prep Football Player Dies of Injuries

SWEETHEART ON PARADE REGAINS 5 GAITED HONORS

Defeats Belle Lee Rose, Louisville Winner.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Sweetheart on Parade last night regained her position as the greatest five gaited mare in America. Lifting each delicate hoof with grace she trotted out of the World's Fair horse show ring, bearing the blue ribbon emblematic of victory in her division.

For more than two years she had enjoyed supremacy among American mares, winning handily again and again until she was beaten recently at Louisville by Belle Lee Rose. Last night Belle Lee Rose made a spirited attempt to retain her place at the top, but was forced to take second place.

Although there were eleven horses in the ring, the contest was largely between these two. Sweetheart on Parade, which is owned by Mrs. William Roth of San Francisco, was ridden by Lonnie Hayden, while Belle Lee Rose, the property of Mrs. Locke Brown of Louisville, was put through her paces by Carl Pedigo.

Today will be Swedish day at the horse show, in honor of the Swedish army team which will compete in the international jumping contests.

Proviso Sees Title Ahead; Plays Evanston

There is talk of a Suburban league championship these days in Maywood. The Proviso Township High school eleven, with a record of six consecutive victories, is rated stronger than the squad which won the league title in 1927. The team went into the league lead by defeating Deerfield-Shields of Highland Park while Evanston was playing a 6 to 6 tie with Oak Park last Saturday.

Proviso meets Evanston, the defending champion, on the latter's field Saturday afternoon. Proviso will be without the services of its star half back, Walter [Sleepy] Pearson, who becomes ineligible for high school athletic competition tomorrow because of the age limit. Coach Slimmer has stated either Watters or Paldina, who have played brilliantly in several games, will replace Pearson.

After meeting Evanston, Proviso will travel to Atlanta, Ga., where it will play a return game with Atlanta Technical High school, which played in Maywood last year. Proviso has scored 109 points to its opponents' 6 thus far. It will be seeking its third league victory over Evanston, having defeated New Trier and Deerfield.

Al McGuff, former Notre Dame quarter back, is assisting Coach Paddy Driscoll at St. Mel. McGuff, who was to be the regular quarter back for the Irish this fall, failed to return to school last September. He starred at St. Mel in football and basketball before entering Notre Dame.

Two games will be played in the Big Six High School conference tomorrow night. West Aurora will meet Elgin on the latter's field and Freeport will play East Aurora at Aurora. Rockford will meet a nonleague opponent, Morton, at Rockford Saturday afternoon.

Parker, which drew a bye in the south section schedule of the Chicago Public High School league, will oppose Chicago Latin tomorrow afternoon at Addison street and California avenue. The game will start at 2 o'clock.

St. John's Military academy of Delafield, Wis., has scheduled a game with Morton of Cicero, which is not competing in the Suburban league this year. The game will be played at Oak Park stadium on Nov. 4. Several Chicago boys are on the St. John's eleven. The cadet drill company will perform between halves.

RIVERSIDE PLAYS BERWYN.

The unbeaten Riverside Athletics meet the Berwyn Legion Parrots Sunday afternoon at 31st street and East avenue, Berwyn.

THINGS YOU MAY NOT KNOW About FOOTBALL STARS

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

THE superstitions of the Northwestern football squad make the eccentricities of baseball players and such so many childish trifles. There is, for instance, the case of Coach Dick Hanley in the matter of choosing sides for a game at Soldiers' field. A checkup on past performances before the East-West game this summer revealed the fact that no team of his had ever won a game when sitting on the west side of the field. As coach of the East squad he shifted the bench for the big game to the east side, and it worked. It failed to click, however, for the Iowa game, which opened the Wildcat season. In addition to this, Dick will swing his car about and go around the block if a black cat crosses his path when he's driving.

Dick's brother Pat, the Purple line coach, has his own peculiar, if destructive, method of marking a Northwestern defeat. Whenever the Wildcats are tamed Pat tears whatever tie he is wearing into shreds. Waldo Fisher, Northwestern end coach, always tries to get the No. 8 Pullman berth on a scouting trip. Northwestern won a big game once when he had No. 8.

What's in a Nickname?
Hereby Hang the Tales.

Nicknames also are prevalent among Northwestern players. Howard Kostbade, best dressed player on the team, is known as Nifty, and is also reported to be quite a crooner. Chilly Sutton, plunging full back, drew his extra name one day while standing in front of the university library. The weather was subzero and Chilly, without an overcoat at the moment, nonchalantly remarked to friends, "It's rather chilly out today, isn't it?" Joe Chambers, 235 pound guard, has a hard time getting up speed, and hence is known as Bullet Joe. Eggs Manske, the wild haired end, derives his handle from his given name Edgar.

Jakie Sullivan never wearies of retelling the story of how Manske, seeking the usual number of tickets to a game given to all players, entered the locker room and said, "Hey, Jakie, when do we get our free comps?" Ed Whalen, the team's right guard, is having difficulty having people forget the time he tried to stowaway as a freshman on a Northwestern special going to an Ohio State game. At midnight the conductor discovered him in an upper and was about to pitch Ed into the night when the coaching staff came to the rescue and chipped in for his fare.

Harry Leeper, speedy Wildcat back, is steward of the Phi Delta Theta house, arranging all of its menus, which is as it should be, for Harry is of a family of grocers. Roy Augustson holds a similar position at the Sigma Chi house. Ollie Olson, the punting Wheaton blond, visions a career as a commercial artist.

Bill Riley Likes to Be Known as Bill Riley.

Bill Riley, the big tackle, wishes to be known as Bill Riley, and not as Jack Riley's brother, if you please. This Riley business at Northwestern apparently is going on forever. When Bill finishes school next spring, another Riley, Frank, now a star with the frosh, will continue the family tradition, and when Frank is ready to leave Evanston, there's still another who'll be ready for duty when Frank is graduated. Bill is an accomplished ivory thumper, with a weakness for ping pong, but in the latter pastime hasn't been able to beat Chuck Duvall, sophomore full back and team champion.

The Wildcat squad boasts several versatile athletes. Al Kawal has won letters in football, basketball and boxing and now holds the university light heavyweight ring title. Fred Lind, quarter back, is the 155 pound boxing champ. Chuck Hajek may play center in the autumn, but next spring he'll be after a regular job with the Purple golf team, for he shoots in the seventies.

Lehnhardt Is Taken Out of Play—Out Cold.

Andrew [Stormy] Jordon, Negro guard, whiles away the seconds between plays by singing. The other day in practice Sam Papich, sophomore tackle, blocked Bill Lehnhardt, half back, so firmly that he knocked the wind out of him. When Bill revived, he shook hands with Sam and said, "Congratulations. That's the first time anybody knocked me cold."

Capt. John Heuss never played football before coming to Evanston. He spent his sophomore year with the B team, but got his chance in the Purdue game last year when an injury to Gonya, regular tackle, put him in the game. He's been a regular ever since. Wally Cruice, right half, won letters in football, basketball and track at Washington High, Milwaukee. Art Jens, who runs the high hurdles for the Wildcats, has won letters in track as well as football.

Newman Leads Giants to Victory Over Washington

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25.—(AP)—The New York Giants tonight swamped the Washington Passers, 32 to 7, with Harry Newman, former Michigan player starring for the New York professionals. Newman scored two of the Giants' touchdowns, both on end runs. Jimmy Bankhead, formerly of Texas, scored the touchdown for the Washington pros on a 60 yard runback of a punt.

Sox Give Cash, 2 Players for Montreal Star

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

A fellow by the name of John Pomorski will do a little pitching for the White Sox next season. At least that's the hope of J. Louis Comiskey, the south side club owner, who purchased the right hander yesterday from the Montreal club of the International league.

The lad was taken on for an unannounced sum of cash and two players, one being Pitcher Chad Kimsey and the other Infielder Charley English. Kimsey was obtained from the Browns during the season of 1932 and his duties consisted almost exclusively of relief work. English was recalled late in the 1933 season from the Texas league and was employed in a few games before the finish, but evidently didn't impress Manager Lew Fonseca.

Pomorski's purchase has been in the minds of the White Sox officials for the last couple of seasons, but his owners refused to sell on the basis that he would improve and thus command a higher price. It worked out that way. He won 14 while losing 6 for the Royals last season. His chief stock in trade is a fast ball.

Pomorski is a 24 year old 6 footer weighing 180 pounds, and the report of the scouts on him is that he is a better prospect than Marcum, who did some splendid work for the Athletics this fall after being purchased from the Louisville American association team.

SEALS GET RHYNE.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Hal Rhyne, who broke into big time baseball with the San Francisco Seals of the Pacific Coast league, will return to that club next season in the deal which sent Pitcher Lee Stine to the Chicago White Sox, owners of the Seals announced today.

ANNUAL C. Y. O. BOXING TOURNEY OPENS AT LOYOLA

31 Bouts Are Contested on Preliminary Card.

The third annual amateur boxing tournament of the Catholic Youth organization opened last night at Loyola university gymnasium with 31 preliminary bouts, 11 in class A and 20 in class B. All but the light heavyweight and heavyweight divisions were represented.

Winners last night and the boys who drew byes will compete in the second round of the preliminaries tonight at Loyola. The final preliminary tests for the north district will be held tomorrow when 16 boxers in class A and the same number in class B qualify for the quarterfinals at C. Y. O. center on Nov. 20.

Harry Frederickson, St. John Berchman parish lightweight, and James Webb, St. Vincent De Paul middleweight, appeared best last night. Frederickson, who was eliminated in the early rounds of last year's tournament, showed considerable improvement to win a three round decision from Anthony Benedetto. Webb defeated Joseph O'Connell of St. Edwards. His lack of condition almost lost him the match in the third round when O'Connell landed several right and left swings. Results:

Misko Seeks 7th Straight Victory Against Stuhley

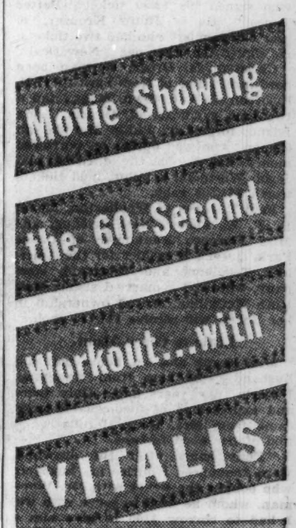

Frank Misko, Saginaw, Mich., middleweight, will seek his seventh straight victory when he meets Young Stuhley of Kewanee, Ill., in the six round windup bout tomorrow night at Midway arena. He scored his sixth over Johnny Long at Midway last Friday. Stuhley, who beat Millio Militti in one of his recent matches, hopes to break that consecutive string of triumphs.

Two matches at five rounds each are on the card. Adolph Wiater faces Walter Madey in one and Jimmy Eliopoulous clashes with Lenny Cohen in the other. Wiater has won his seven professional starts. Cohen will attempt to avenge a previous defeat by Eliopoulos while an amateur. Cohen, who was held to a draw by Eliopoulous recently, is undefeated since turning professional.

Timmy Bruce is paired with George Habel in one of three other contests.

WILDCAT ELEVEN LEAVES TONIGHT FOR OHIO GAME

Base Victory Hopes on Indiana Performance.

Northwestern's football team, its confidence greatly restored as a result of its 25 to 0 victory over Indiana, will leave for Columbus tonight for its third conference game of the season with Ohio Saturday.

The Wildcats are not without hopes of turning back the Buckeyes. Their improved showing against Stanford and Indiana after losing to Iowa has filled the Purple gridders with renewed confidence.

There is also the fact that Northwestern hasn't lost a game in Ohio's Memorial stadium since Coach Dick Hanley took over the coaching duties seven years ago. Three times the Wildcats have invaded Columbus, winning each time.

Northwestern bases much of its hopes for a victory over Ohio to the continued improvements of its offense.

A heavy offensive and defensive scrimmage featured yesterday's practice, the last intensive drill before the game. The players appearing on the first team indicated that the same lineup will start against Ohio that faced Indiana last Saturday with the exception of left half, where either Leeper or Sullivan may get the call.

The squad, which will leave over the Pennsylvania line at 11:35 tonight, follows:

GUARDS—Ed Whalen, Al Kawal, Paul Tangora, Elmer Anderson, Al Lind and Sam Goldstein.
TACKLES—Capt. Jack Heuss, Bill Riley, Irwin Kopecky, Joe Chambers, Sam Papich and Andy Valentine.
ENDS—Art Jens, Ed Manske, Howard Kostbade, Jim Berg, Vern Anderson and Vin Thoma.
QUARTER BACKS—Oliver Olson, Roy Augustsons and Fred Lind.
HALF BACKS—Jake Sullivan, Harry Leeper, Wally Cruice, Sonny Maroney, Walt Stanul and Bill Lenhardt.
FULL BACKS—Hugh Duval and Chester Sutton.

BUCKEYES EXPECT 35,000.

Columbus, O., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Indications today were that Ohio's homecoming attendance for the Northwestern game Saturday will be between 30,000 and 35,000, according to Henry D. Taylor, director of ticket sales.

In the first hard scrimmage session for the Buckeyes since the Michigan game, the first string men had little trouble stopping Northwestern plays as demonstrated by the freshmen.

Changes made in the varsity yesterday held good today. Trevor Rees replaced Padlow at right end while John Kabealo was at full back in place of Wetzel. Kabealo is the best kicker on the Ohio squad. He will be used to combat the excellent toe work of Ollie Olsen, Wildcat back field man.

Lud Yards saw service at tackle in Conrad's position while Franck Fisch, star passer, and Frank Boucher were used in the back field. Today's scrimmage is the last planned for the regulars before the Northwestern game.

still needs considerable polishing up on facial technique and voice culture.

Everett Marshall, who hails from the Colorado chapter of the fraternity, gave Darna Ostapavitch of Kansas City the old grip, but Darna answered it by giving him a massage and shampoo, with everything but hot towels. Both recognized an old school chum in the third row and left the ring arm in arm to pay him a call. They were just going over old times when the referee prevailed on them to return to the business at hand, which Marshall soon concluded with a headlock in 20 minutes.

Nine Boos for Zaharias.

Then came the keynote of the evening, one which assured the homecoming complete success. Tears glistened in many an old eye when Zaharias entered the ring. George must have felt mighty proud standing up there in front of all those folks, for they gave him the greatest booing he has ever received, and you could see his bosom swell with pride as a few extra bronxes and birds were flung from the far corners. It was perfect. There wasn't a cheer to be heard.

Then George's opponent, Joe Devito, entered the ring. They went to work immediately and Joe soon ran up a lead on points with well placed hooks and uppercuts. George then rallied by planting his toe in Joe's middle and from there on couldn't be stopped, finally ending it with a body press in 16:07.

Dr. Karl Sarpolis of the University of Chicago and Ray Steele went 30 minutes to a draw.

Star Frosh Stay Home, So Badgers Gain

Madison, Wis., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—The Wisconsin varsity eleven today was given its heaviest drill of the week in preparation for the homecoming game with Purdue Saturday. For the first time this season, the varsity demonstrated marked superiority on offense over the freshman squad.

Although some observers regard this as evidence that the varsity has improved, others pointed out that several of the best freshmen players were absent. The Badger running attack was faster and more effective, while passes were completed more frequently. Most of the Badger backs showed increased ability in the business of providing interference for ball carriers.

George Dehnert, one of the better defensive backfield men, will be unable to play against Purdue because of injuries suffered in scrimmage, trainers said.

Number of tickets sold at noon today was estimated at nearly 25,000, and additional sales of about 5,000 are expected.

PURDUE SCRIMMAGES.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Purdue's varsity previewed the offense it expects to meet at Madison Saturday when it engaged a freshman team in an extended scrimmage. "Stop Fontaine and Smith," was the battle cry.

The Purdue line experienced difficulty in solving the Badger attack, but on the whole turned in a good performance. Kizer retained practically the same alignment that started against Chicago and kept shifting his backfield.

The Boilermakers will complete their preparation tomorrow afternoon and will leave here early Friday afternoon, spending Friday night in Chicago.

IOWA STOPS GOPHER PLAYS.

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—The University of Iowa football team had difficulty in solving Minnesota plays at the start of a defensive scrimmage today, but before the session was over had checked a freshman eleven using Gopher formations.

Regulars looked good on offense against the yearlings, the passes and running plays making good gains. Execution of new trick formations which Coach Ossie Solem gave the men this week had the coach's approval. Bill Secl, first string right guard, who was carried from the field Tuesday, was unable to scrimmage, but physicians said he will be in good shape for the Minnesota game. He was first thought to have sustained a broken leg, but x-ray pictures revealed the injury was only a severe bruise just above the ankle. Lloyd Hoffman, erstwhile tackle, replaced Secl in the lineup.

GOPHERS SHOW NEW FIRE.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—The University of Iowa Hawkeyes will face their most difficult assignment of the season to date when they meet Minnesota in the homecoming game here Saturday. This became evident today when the Gophers ran through their second workout of the week.

In some quarters it was said that all the Gophers needed was one good victory to make them a tough club to beat. Saturday the Gophers scored that important victory. They have awakened to the fact that they may be going somewhere.

Iowa apparently is as much excited about its team as Minnesota fans are about the Gophers. After previously ordering 3,500 tickets, Iowa City wired for 500 more today to raise the total to 4,000. The local ticket sale has kept step with that until today more than 35,000 tickets had been sold. Manager Les Schroeder is anticipating the sale of at least 10,000 more

Stadium Brings an Old Fairy Tale Up to Date

You remember, no doubt, when you were a child hearing a fairy story having to do with a king, a princess, and a young prince incognito. On second thought, these opening remarks seem rather vague; you could think of three dozen stories starting the same way. This one has to do with a king who was well versed in unseen powers, and his only object in life, apparently, was to confound his daughter's suitors by setting them at three tasks, which, on the surface, looked simple enough, but as a matter of fact the old rascal made these chores well nigh impossible by enlisting the powers of darkness.

The princess was a pretty smart young lady herself who knew all the answers. Nor was she vastly concerned to see the droves of young men setting themselves at these tasks which, though less in number than those solved by Hercules, were much more difficult. The lad who solved these problems won the hand of the princess, but if he missed the king derived great pleasure in cutting off the ambitious suitor's head.

One of these three tasks resolved itself into the cleaning of the royal stables, but there was a hitch. For every shovelful tossed out two more came in, and it will be seen that even Tubal Cain and Sampson would have given up in despair in the face of such terrific odds.

Enter the Prince—and the Princess Falls.

The incognito prince appeared at last, and the princess fell for him. She let him in on the secret methods of accomplishing the labors, whereupon he confounded the king, took the princess, and departed three jumps ahead of his majesty. The old rascal broke his neck pursuing him, so they lived happily ever after.

The business of cleaning the stable was easy after the prince got the hang of it. He simply reversed the shovel and used the handle, whereupon the stable cleaned itself.

This story reminds one of the Chicago Stadium. Did you ever stop to think of the mighty labor involved in cleaning and rearranging the interior for the purpose of accommodating widely differing events? It can be made to accommodate hockey one night, a six day bicycle race the next, then a football game, a charity ball, a cinder track meet, and so on.

The Old King Should Have Built a Stadium.

How the wicked old king would have rejoiced to own the Chicago Stadium instead of his stable, and how he would have rubbed his hands at the thought of inviting his daughter's prospective suitors to undertake the task of transforming an indoor football field into a hockey rink inside of twenty-four hours.

The management of the Stadium, like the princess, know all the answers. If they didn't, they wouldn't lose their heads, but they would lose a lot of money. The magical attributes of the reversed shovel were no more astounding than the speed and efficiency observed in the transformations undertaken in this remarkable Stadium.

They build a wooden bicycle track, and take it apart in a twinkling. Then they lay a maze of pipes over the floor, flood it, and have a skating rink ready for the next evening. Then they can turn on streams of hot water, crack the ice, remove the pipes, and scrape up the lumps with steam shovels while you take in a moving picture show.

Presto! Gridiron Becomes Dance Floor.

Suppose a football game is scheduled. Trucks carry enough soil into the Stadium to patch a Mississippi levee, and deposit it all over the floor. Road scrapers spread it, steam rollers flatten it, and in less time than it takes to tell a football gridiron is laid out under a roof. It is only ten yards shorter than a regulation field, but, as most football players know, ten yards is a tremendous distance.

The moment the crowd has gone the earth is ploughed, carried out, and piled up. The floor is swept, sprinkled with powdered wax and meal, and lo, a dance floor is ready.

The labors of Hercules and the three tasks of the wicked king? Bah! They were child's play compared to the transformations that take place in the Chicago Stadium.

Hint State Investigation at Ohio State

Columbus, O., Oct. 25.—(AP)—In the face of a hint of a possible legislative investigation of the athletic department at Ohio State university, L. W. St. John, director, today issued a statement expressing confidence in the football coaching staff.

St. John said no consideration is being given to changes in the staff and that no negotiations are being made with any one looking to replacements.

Hint State Quiz.

Reports that Sam Willaman, head coach, would be replaced cropped up immediately after Ohio's 13 to 0 defeat by Michigan Saturday and some sources advanced Dr. Jock Sutherland of Pittsburgh as an acceptable successor.

The hint of a legislative investigation was contained in a signed story by Grant P. Ward, Franklin county representative, in today's Ohio State Journal. Ward was assistant coach under Dr. John Wilce.

Ward Attacks Setup.

In today's Journal Ward wrote: "The Ohio State athletic department has long been known as a closed corporation, with the control beautifully centralized and protected.

"The University of Wisconsin had a similar situation two years ago, and it took a legislative investigation to smash the athletic department setup and get rid of the coach. While the legislative committee was about it, they also fired the athletic director."

Since leaving the university coaching staff Ward has written football for the Journal. He is serving his second term in the state legislature.

verines which would permit a long scoring run can Chicago expect to make a point.

In other words, an error by Michigan, rather than inability, will be needed to give Chicago a chance to score.

Illini Weaken Pass Defense.

Illinois was overpowered in the game with Army last week. Consequently Coach Zuppke was forced to use what practically amounted to eight men on the line of scrimmage. Six players were on the line and the first pair in the secondary played within two yards of the line, so close that their effectiveness on pass defense was decreased. But they had to lend immediate support to the line to stop Army's plunging and running.

A diagram of Illinois' defense on the forward pass which placed the ball on Illinois' 6 yard line in Army's touchdown march follows:

Illinois' backs, A and B, within 2 yards of the line, supported the six man line. Backs B and C were about 10 to 12 yards behind the line, and back E was approximately 18 yards back. Illinois was vulnerable to passing, since the formation at the time this pass was completed had failed to stop Army's line drive.

How Illini Were Fooled.

Here's what Army's running attack had accomplished prior to this pass:

Starting from Army's 42 yard line Johnson smashed for 9 yards and Stancook plunged for a first down on Illinois' 41 yard line. Following a pass, Johnson went off tackle for 11 yards. Stancook plunged for a yard and Brown for 3 yards. Illinois was thinking of running plays rather than passes. Moreover, defense back C was too wide on Army's formation to the left, leaving an opening down center.

The pass play, as diagramed, called for only one receiver, Burlingame, to go into the secondary. He would do this, anyway, on a running play to block, another similarity which helped fool the Illini. Army lined up in a single wing back to the left, with an unbalanced line. Brown and Johnson [Nos. 4 and 5] blocked as if Buckler [No. 2] would carry the ball. So did Stancook [No. 3]. Buckler ran only a few steps to his left and then threw the ball to Burlingame, who was tackled on Illinois' 6 yard line.

Army Quarter Back Smart.

The play demonstrated excellent judgment by Army's field general. It also shows perfectly how Illinois, forced to weaken its pass defense to stop the running attack, then was successfully attacked at its weakest point.

Woman Coaches Sunday School Football Squad

"Not enough for a football team," she mused. "Get enough boys to join this class and we'll have a team," she said.

Thus was organized an eleven with a woman, Mrs. Dorothy Lambert, widow of the late Dr. Fonsa A. Lambert, for years chairman of the advisory council of the national football rules committee, as coach.

Two afternoons each week Mrs. Lambert directs practice for her boys. There are 12 of them. She's coach, head linesman, referee and umpire.

Across the field drifts her admonishment: "Hey, Bill, block that man out there." Then the whistle, and the widow of the man who rewrote the football rules gives a tactful lecture on how football should be played.

Her boys haven't done so well in their games. They lost, 24 to 0, 12 to 0, and 6 to 0, in order. But Mrs. Lambert and her boys are confident they are improving and will start winning soon.

"Of course they make mistakes," Mrs. Lambert said, "but it's surprising how much native ability they have."

Mrs. Lambert's connection with football is not new. She helped her late husband on the stenographic work of recodifying the rules a few years ago.

She was present around the family fireside when visiting coaches, sports writers and other dignitaries of the game spun many a yarn about football. She has a keen insight into the technical phases of the game.

And so it was that the zest with which she usually greeted each approaching football season was gone until one Sunday she appeared before her class of boys, wee youngsters not yet in their 'teens, and announced: "Get enough boys to join this Sunday school class and we'll have a team."

MORGAN PK. M. A., LAKE FOREST WILL CLASH SATURDAY

Continuing a football series begun in 1894, Lake Forest academy and Morgan Park Military academy will meet at Lake Forest Saturday afternoon in what promises to be one of the hardest games in the midwest academy conference.

Lake Forest had not lost a home game since 1930 until its 12 to 6 defeat two weeks ago by the Illinois Military academy of Aledo, Ill. The Morgan Park cadets, with three victories and no defeats, are prepared to avenge defeats of the last three years at the hands of Lake Forest.

Lake Forest academy's annual homecoming, originally scheduled for the Morgan Park game, has been canceled due to work in progress in remodeling the school's kitchens.

BILLY EVANS SIGNS AGAIN WITH INDIANS

Cleveland, O., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Billy Evans today signed a contract to remain as general manager of the Cleveland Baseball company for an indefinite period.

Terms of the contract were not announced, but unconfirmed reports said Evans probably will receive about 50 per cent of the $30,000 annual salary paid him under his old contract.

McLaughlin Sees Hawks; Is Optimistic

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—A Blackhawk hockey squad that appears to be stronger than last season, performed for owner Maj. Frederic McLaughlin for the first time this season today on the University of Illinois rink.

Manager Tommy Gorman lined up his men just about as they will be aligned for the opening game in Chicago on Nov. 9.

Charlie Gardiner was in the nets. Lionel Conacher reported in good condition and teamed up with Art Coulter on one defense line. Another was composed of Taffy Abel and Roger Jenkins, husky forward whom Gorman has transformed into a defense player.

A new kid line which has functioned with sparkling efficiency greeted McLaughlin. It consisted of Jack Leswick at center, Bill Kendal at right wing, and Louis Trudel at left wing. All three were stars of last season's American association. Leswick led the league in scoring.

McLaughlin Optimistic.

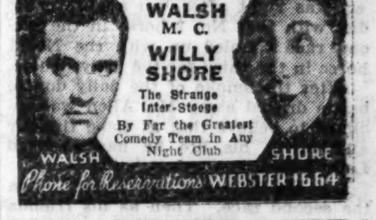

McLaughlin was highly pleased by the showing and stated before departing for Chicago: "Both weight and speed are great factors in a hockey team. A happy combination of both should produce a winner. I think we have that combination."

McLaughlin and Gorman are of the opinion that these combinations will make the 1933-'34 Blackhawks stronger. They believe that for sheer strength, weight, and ruggedness, the Hawks defensive quartet of Gardiner, Conacher, Abel, Coulter, and Jenkins, are the equal, if not the superior of any in the league. The three light forward lines are fast and clever.

LADY MENIFEE DOES HER FOLKS PROUD AT CICERO

Beats Supreme Sweet by Two Lengths.

BY FRENCH LANE.

When the folks from down in Kentucky go about the business of producing a speed horse they seem to know what they are doing.

Lady Menifee, a 5 year old daughter of Menifee-Claxonette, is a fine example. She proved it yesterday when she won the Lake Forest handicap at Sportsman's Park and showed her flying heels to Supreme Sweet, the fastest horse from Chicago over a short distance of ground.

Her Pappy Was Fast.

Menifee, the daddy of Lady Menifee, was about the fastest horse on four legs when racing around Kentucky eight or ten years ago. Claxonette, the mother of Lady Menifee, is a daughter of Peter Quince, from another famous speed family.

Yet despite these speed lines the crowd at Sportsman's Park yesterday didn't give Lady Menifee much of a tumble. The plungers stuck by their guns and loyally wagered on the Chicago mare, Supreme Sweet.

Supreme Sweet, backed so stoutly that she was the favorite at even money, was outrun right from the beginning. The Indiana half-miler Ep showed her the way in the early stages. The daughter of Epinard wilted on the last turn into the stretch and Jockey Willhite drove Supreme Sweet toward the front. Before she could reach the lead, Lady Menifee had come up on the outside and snatched it. She went on to win by two lengths, with Supreme Sweet second and Eisenberg third.

Pays $13.64 in Mutuels.

Lady Menifee ran the five furlongs in 1:01 3-5, which missed the track record by just three-fifths of a second. In the mutuels she paid $13.64.

Quite a betting cleanup was made on Betty Farrell, royally bred daughter of North Star III-Sweep Park, in the Sunset purse at 6½ furlongs.

Betty Farrell was quoted at 10 to 1 all through the early wagering. A minute before post time many hundreds were wagered on her, so the price dropped to 9 to 2.

Betty Farrell made no mistakes. She was away from the barrier flying and stayed in front for the entire trip, winning by five lengths from Prince Plato and Mecat.

Mr. Allen Fails to Connect.

Mr. Joe Allen, the Cincinnati plunger, was right after 'em again yesterday with that No. 1 horse in the second race coupled up with the No. 1 horse in the third for the daily double.

After the smoke of the daily double battle drifted away Mr. Allen was inclined to believe that at some time or another in his life he has offended Lady Luck.

His No. 1 horse, Sir Koster, won the second race. Then as his friends gathered around him and were patting him on the back and calling him "Mr. Moneybags" his No. 1 horse, Bag o' Gold, was scratched out of the third race a few minutes before post time.

Mr. Allen didn't even profit on the No. 1 horse's victory in the second race. All the track did was to give him back his two dollars.

WRONG SHELLS CAUSE OF MANY GUN ACCIDENTS

Hunters Warned to Avoid Obstructions.

BY BOB BECKER.

Mr. Hunter, if you own more than one shotgun and they are of different gauges, empty your hunting coat of all shells before you start out on a day's hunt. Examine all the cartridges carefully and then carry only that ammunition which is made for the gun.

One of the common obstructions is a 20 gauge shell slipped into a 12 gauge gun ahead of the regular cartridge.

Two Shells Are Hazard.

Few shooters realize that a 20 gauge shell will slide through a 12 gauge chamber and allow room for a 12 gauge cartridge to be inserted. While it must be admitted that the presence of the 20 gauge shell ahead of the 12 gauge shell does not always cause an accident, there are so many cases on record where this condition caused a burst that it is a serious hazard.

Herewith is one of the most interesting facts discovered about the pressure required to burst open a shotgun barrel. It shows how barrels take the regular high service pressures day after day and year and after year and hold as well. On the other hand an obstruction will cause a barrel to burst at comparatively low pressure.

Bursting Pressure Is Less.

Engineers sawed off a shotgun barrel to nine inches and fitted a heavy screw cap to the end of the barrel. Then pins were driven through both the cap and the barrel for further strength. Light loads were fired, each charge being increased to give greater pressure. When the load of powder and shot was raised to 4,400 pounds pressure the cap was blown off and the barrel burst. Compare this low pressure of 4,400 pounds to ordinary service [shooting] pressures which range from 9,000 to 10,000 pounds. This shows that bursting pressures are not reflected in breech pressures.

HARRY BERZ IS ELECTED HEAD OF SKATE BODY

Harry Berz, for many years an official in amateur sports in Chicago, was elected president of the Illinois Western Skating association Monday night at the Morrison hotel. Berz was also chosen a delegate to the Amateur Skating Union of the United States meeting in Milwaukee next month.

Toby Orb, Wallace Fee Sr., and Paul Staff were elected vice presidents. Theodore Rullman was chosen secretary treasurer.

OUTPUT OF STEEL SHRINKS AS AUTO SUPPORT PASSES

Buying on Hand to Mouth Basis, Says Iron Age.

Steel mills in most of the important centers of the industry have suffered further recessions in operations, reports the Iron Age. Automotive support has been withdrawn, and other markets have diminished in activity.

"Following the completion of shipments against third quarter contracts, steel buying has reverted to a hand to mouth basis," explains the review. "Consumers generally have built up their stocks and in some cases have enough material, at the present rate of operations, to last them through the fourth quarter.

"The growth of inventories has been accompanied by a slackening of consumption ascribable to seasonal influences or to labor disturbances.

Auto Output Slumps.

"Both factors have been at work in the automobile industry, where curtailment of output has been so sharp that the month's total will be nearer 130,000 than 145,000 units, as originally estimated. No volume buying of steel by the automotive trade is looked for until late in the year."

At Chicago, reports the review, steelworks operations have fallen 8 points to 37 per cent of capacity; at Pittsburgh, 4 to 30; in the valleys, 7 to 45; at Cleveland, 5 to 30; at Buffalo, 13 to 22, and in the Ohio river districts, 15 to 35. Since operations have been resumed at Weirton, the Wheeling district rate has risen to 55 from 50 per cent.

The Iron Age gives the estimate of national production, 31.8 per cent, made by the American Iron and Steel institute at the beginning of the week.

Tinplate Mills Busy.

Tinplate production still persists strong, according to the review. In fact, it has been increased practically to capacity following the resumption of activity at the Weirton plant. Most of the current shipments are destined directly for consumption.

The first orders for rails under the new price, effective Oct. 30, will probably come from the Norfolk and Western, which has tentatively placed 7,500 tons with a Pittsburgh mill and 2,500 tons with an eastern mill, according to the Iron Age.

"Throughout recent months the steel industry, as well as other manufacturing groups, has made sacrifices in the interests of the government's anti-depression program, not only going into the 'red' to carry out its provisions, but submitting to constant harassment at the hands of organized labor," asserts the review.

The finished steel and pig iron composites of Iron Age are unchanged. The scrap composite has fallen from $10.54 to $10.25 a gross ton.

Reserve Bank Gives Middle West Data.

Department store trade in the Seventh federal reserve district during September expanded less than seasonally. The gain over trade in August was only 19 per cent, in comparison with the average increase of 25 per cent for the month in the period 1923-'32, it was announced by the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago.

While the increase of 10 per cent in the dollar volume of sales over the volume in September, 1932, was considerably less than the 28 per cent shown for August, it was, nevertheless, larger than that in July.

The improvement of 14.8 per cent which the net sales of Chicago department stores showed over those of September, 1932, was larger than the gains for the three other cities whose sales were separately tabulated and for the group of "other cities."

Nine Months Exceed 1932.

By virtue of the new expansion net sales for Chicago department stores for the first nine months of this year were 1 per cent greater than those of the corresponding period of 1932, while sales of the other three cities and the group of "other cities," as well as those of the district as a whole, were still below the totals for the nine month period of last year.

On the other hand, sales of Chicago department stores for September were only 7 per cent larger than those for August. In Milwaukee they rose 13 per cent, in Indianapolis 22 per cent, and in Detroit 60 per cent (owing to special sales during the month, according to the bank's report).

Stocks continued to expand. The monthly gain of 17 per cent was the largest for September on the bank's records, extending to 1922.

Retail Shoe Trade Larger.

The retail shoe trade during September showed a greater than seasonal gain of 66 per cent over trade in August, and was also 10 per cent above trade in September, 1932. Sales of furniture and house furnishings at retail expanded less than seasonally, or 13 per cent.

Among the chains, groceries, drugs, five and ten cent stores, cigars, and musical instruments reported heavier sales in September than in August, while sales of shoe and men's clothing chains were smaller. Save for musical instruments the chains recorded no declines from a year ago.

The trends in wholesale trade were less favorable than in recent months.

NORMAL BUILDING RECOVERY NEED, SAYS W. J. KOHLER

America's economic recovery cannot become permanent until the construction industry operates along somewhat normal lines, in the opinion of Walter J. Kohler, former governor of Wisconsin and head of the Kohler company. He expressed this thought yesterday before the 39th annual convention of the Central Supply association.

"I believe it is recognized by the Roosevelt administration that no permanent recovery can be attained until the construction business approaches normal," he said. "Plumbing and heating equipment today is selling for 40 per cent less than during the building boom a few years back. Fully half the homes need modernizing. The prevailing low prices should be an incentive to such improvements."

American Tobacco Votes Regular Common Dividends

American Tobacco company yesterday declared regular quarterly dividends of $1 each on the common and common "B" stocks, payable Dec. 1 to holdings of record Nov. 10.

U. S. TO HIRE 8,000 IDLE TO MAKE MAP SURVEYS IN STATES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25.—Eight thousand men in all states will obtain employment under a combination plan of the United States coast and geodetic survey and the Federal Emergency Relief administration, Secretary Roper announced today. The maximum pay of those employed will be $15 a week.

The coast survey will expend about $4,500,000 in surveying operations with unemployed men, who will be furnished by the relief administration through its state agencies. Small surveying parties will be organized under the direction of the coast survey to expand the triangulation network upon which all maps are based.

"The program," Mr. Roper said, "contemplates the expense of labor, which constitutes about 85 per cent of the total cost of the work, will be financed by each state relief administration from funds allotted by the Federal Emergency Relief administration. "The other 15 per cent of the total cost is being allotted by the public works administration in view of the fact that the undertaking is considered to be of public works character."

Mr. Roper explained that the states are not being asked to contribute any cash, but that they are expected to make substantial contributions, such as the loan of surveying instruments, motor trucks, and camp equipment, if required.

SHOE FIRM GIVES EACH WORKER $5 TO BOOST BUYING

As a means of helping to stimulate business recovery through increased buying, I. M. Kay, president of Berland Shoe Stores, Inc., yesterday distributed over 700 checks for $5 each to the employés of the company which must be spent within a week. The checks are printed in red, white, and blue and carry this admonition: "This check void unless spent within one week of date of issue and is only valid with concerns displaying Blue Eagle."

Accompanying each check was a letter signed by Mr. Kay which stated that President Roosevelt has issued a call to arms by launching a "buy now campaign," the second step in the NRA program. Mr. Kay asked his employés to heed the call by buying now and he requested them to spend the $5 check for something which they would not have purchased without it.

AVIATION CORP. REPORTS PROFIT; LOSS LAST YEAR

The Aviation corporation earned net profit of $395,819 in the nine months ended Sept. 30, as compared with a net loss of $2,875,002 in the comparable 1932 period, L. B. Manning, president, reported yesterday.

The last of the $600,000 of new high speed equipment purchased this year by American Airways, Aviation corporation subsidiary, will be placed in service before the first of next month, Mr. Manning said.

He said that the 36 per cent increase in passenger traffic shown by the lines this year was due in part to the purchase of the new equipment. Indications are, he added, that winter passenger traffic on the company's lines this year will be the greatest ever.

Lynch Corporation Votes 25 Cents Extra Dividend

Directors of the Lynch corporation have declared an extra dividend of 25 cents a share in addition to the regular quarterly disbursement of 25 cents.

LOWER PROFITS DECLARED KEY TO NICKEL BEER

Engineer Sees Return to $1 a Barrel Net.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Profits of $5 or more earned by breweries on a barrel of beer last summer may be expected to decline to $1.50 to $1, or even less, in the future, was the opinion expressed yesterday by George W. Bacon, chairman of the board of Ford, Bacon & Davis, Inc., engineers, in a talk before the Robert Morris associates at the Drake hotel. He said he believed a nickel glass of beer would be restored soon.

Based on the experience of this year, Americans may be expected to consume 40,000,000 barrels of beer in 1934, Mr. Bacon asserted.

Mr. Bacon forecast a struggle in future months in the brewing industry in which quality will win. The public, he insisted, will buy only beers of good quality, properly aged, and brewers producing inferior products will fall by the wayside.

Brewers' Credit Formerly High.

In the past, Mr. Bacon said, brewing company credit rated among the highest, and in view of the habits and tastes of Americans there is no reason why this situation should not prevail again. One reason for high brewery company credit rating before prohibition, he said, was the fact that the beer business was handled on a cash basis and expansions were financed out of earnings.

Discussing profits to be made from beer, Mr. Bacon asserted that breweries must—in addition to maintaining quality—have their plants equipped for low cost volume output and distribution.

"In pre-prohibition days the profits of the industry averaged about $1 a barrel after all charges, and in our judgment any present merchant of credit to breweries should look carefully to the capacity of the brewery to operate under like conditions," he asserted.

Cites Cut in Prices.

Discussing price, Mr. Bacon pointed out how the charge had softened from an original wholesale price of $18 to $14 at St. Louis.

To meet a consumption of 40,000,000 barrels now, he explained, 60,000,000 barrels of production capacity would be needed, or 30,000,000 more than is now in operation. To make this capacity available in modern equipment not less than $200,000,000 capital expenditures and $50,000,000 for working capital is needed.

This should return $1.50 a barrel, or $45,000,000, or 18 per cent upon such new capital, he said.

Mr. Bacon said there should not be a shortage of whisky after repeal, since the laws of only eighteen states would permit its sale.

CHICAGO CURB DROPS HEIBERG BREWERY STOCK

The Chicago Curb exchange announced last night that the $1 par common stock of Heiberg Brewing company, Inc., had been delisted by action of the governors.

The action was taken because the underwriting agreement entered into between the company and Harry H. Smith & Co., underwriters, at the time that the listing application was made was amended without notice to the exchange.

Charges have been preferred by the governors against Harry H. Smith for violation of a section of the exchange bylaws which provides that a member adjudged guilty of making a fictitious transaction or of giving an order for the purchase or sale of securities the execution of which would involve no change of ownership, or of executing such an order with knowledge of its character, shall be suspended or expelled.

PRICE OF COPPER IS ADVANCED ½C TO 8½C A POUND

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 25.—Taking the lead in marking up the price of copper the American Smelting and Refining company today announced that it was quoting 8½ cents a pound for the red metal. That was a jump overnight of half a cent a pound.

The price of lead also was advanced by the American Smelting and Refining company. It quoted a price of 4.15 cents a pound compared with 4 cents yesterday.

U. S. WILL LEND 50c BUSHEL TO CORN FARMERS

100 Million Dollars Available.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25.—Government loans of 50 cents a bushel on warehoused corn were offered tonight by Farm Administrator George N. Peek, in a new effort to appease the farm belt and boost the price of corn.

The loans, expected to involve a total of more than 100 million dollars, are to be made to corn farmers through the new Commodity Credit corporation, created recently to make similar advances to southern cotton producers.

Mr. Peek's announcement came suddenly following several denials at the agricultural adjustment administration that such a corn loan program was being contemplated at this time. The last minute nature of the decision to proffer the loan offer to the corn belt was evidenced in the fact that the announcement was made in an "insert" to a prepared speech which the farm administrator is delivering tonight. A similar program for wheat is said to be in the making.

Farmers Given New Cash.

While the primary purpose of the corn loan plan, according to Mr. Peek, is to send new cash into the farmers' hands and permit them to hold their product off the market until prices rise, the effect of the loans will be to peg the price of corn at the 50 cent loan level. Corn closed on the Chicago exchange today at 47⅝ to 47¾ cents. The price sought by the AAA is better than 70 cents.

Only those five states having farm warehouse acts will participate in the corn program. These states—Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota, South Dakota, and Kansas—however, produce more than a half of the national corn crop, according to estimates. The farm administrator said that some 300 million bushels of corn are still in the hands of farmers in warehouses, throughout the country.

Peek Explains Loans.

"The loans," Mr. Peek stated, "will be in the nature of an advance to farmers who agree to participate in the agricultural adjustment administration's corn-hog production control campaign. The loan of 50 cents a bushel, Chicago, will advance the farmers the same sum as that proposed by some farm leaders who advocated loans of 67 cents a bushel on three-fourths of the corn stored."

The Chicago base plan means that farmers will be able to borrow 50 cents a bushel, less the freight and handling charges from their localities to the Chicago market. Loans on inferior grades of corn will be less in accordance with variations in Chicago prices.

How to Compute Process Tax.

The method of arriving at the processing tax to be paid on products made wholly or in chief value from corn were made public today by the farm adjustment administration.

To find the conversion factor on 100 pounds of ground corn, for example, the 100 is multiplied by 178.57 per cent. The figure resulting is divided by 56, since there are 56 pounds in a bushel of corn. The result is multiplied by 28, the tax on a bushel of corn being 28 cents.

The conversion factor on the following products are:

Degermed corn meal, maize meal, or Indian cornmeal, 300 per cent; corn flakes (breakfast food type), 450 per cent; pearl or table hominy, 300 per cent; pastes, adhesives, or binders, 350 per cent.

The announcement said that if cracked corn, corn chop, or ground flour was to be exempt from the floor stocks tax, they must be the products of field corn processed for feed purposes only.

DOLLAR DROPS; U. S. GOLD PRICE PUTS IT AT 65.91

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 25.—The dollar was lower again today in the foreign exchange markets as the government went ahead with its plan for establishing a domestic gold market and began buying gold at $31.36 an ounce.

Measured by the initial price at which the RFC bought gold, the dollar had a value of 65.91 cents. In terms of the French franc, principal gold currency, the dollar was worth 66.85 cents in gold, as compared with 66.97 last night.

The dollar was also weak against other gold standard currencies, but was strong against the British pound sterling, a nongold money. The pound closed at $4.73½, a loss of 4½ cents from yesterday's quotation.

HOW U. S. BUYING GOLD IS EXPECTED TO BOOST PRICES

How does it work?

That is the question everybody is asking about the administration's attempt to raise prices of commodities by raising the price of gold.

Economists say it would work like this:

Raising the price of an ounce of gold means that it would take more dollars to buy an ounce of gold. That means that each dollar would be worth less gold. Each time the price of an ounce of gold is raised each dollar will buy that much less gold.

A dollar which will buy less gold is a depreciated dollar. Each time you reduce the amount of gold that a dollar will buy you reduce the value of the dollar still further.

A dollar, being only a piece of paper, is worth just what it will buy. If it buys less and less gold as the weeks roll by, say the economists, it will also buy less wheat, corn, cotton, copper, beans, silver, rye, etc. As each dollar over a period of weeks and months buys less and less of these and other things it will therefore take correspondingly more dollars to buy a bushel of wheat, a bale of cotton, an ounce of silver, and so on—which simply means that the prices of these things will gradually get higher and higher.

Before we went off the gold standard last April a paper dollar would buy 23.22 grains of gold and 23.22 grains of gold could be exchanged at the mint for a paper dollar. By simple arithmetic this made gold worth $20.67 an ounce. Yesterday gold was worth $31.36 an ounce, which theoretically made the dollar worth only about 66 cents, compared with the dollar of last April. If the price of gold is boosted eventually to $41.34, as is urged by the committee for the nation, the dollar would be worth only 50 cents, compared with the April dollar.

According to the so-called quantitative theory of money, therefore, a bushel of grain that sold for 50 cents in April should sell for about 75 cents now and a dollar when the price of gold reaches $41.34.

Even the theorists admit, however, that the scheme is not absolutely automatic.

It's like herding sheep. You have a pretty good idea of the general direction you're going, but how long it will take you to arrive at your destination and how far you will wander from your course in the meantime are open questions.

In a general way and disregarding intermediate fluctuations, a rise in the price of gold should means a rise in the price of other commodities.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 25.—One of the periodical waves of price cutting to which the rubber tire industry is subject has hit the trade in the metropolitan area with the result that concessions of as much as 50 to 65 per cent on sales to large users are reported to have been made by dealers.

While sales agents of manufacturers placed the blame for the price cutting on dealers, spokesmen for the latter declared that the producers were back of the reductions. They commented that since the dealers' discount is only about 35 per cent, the latter could not afford to sell at a discount of 50 per cent from the list prices. It was contended that manufacturers must be protecting those dealers who started the price war.

No direct explanation of the price cutting was offered beyond the stereotyped reason that there were too many tires pressing on the market, but in some quarters it was believed that delay over signing the rubber code had a bearing on the break in the tire market.

TREASURY KEEPS BOOKS OPEN ON CONVERSION LOAN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25.—Holders of $650,000,000 of fourth liberty loan bonds have tendered their securities in exchange for new 12 year treasury bonds, Acting Secretary of the Treasury Acheson announced tonight. This is approximately a third of amount called. The amount called for exchange or redemption was $1,875,000,000 of the total issue of $6,268,099,000. Holders of the uncalled bonds were invited to exchange for new bonds if they so desired.

The treasury expressed itself as gratified at the response shown so far. In some quarters, however, the total amount of tenders received to date was smaller than expected.

"Subscription books will remain open until further notice for the receipt of exchange subscriptions, in payment for which fourth liberty loan bonds, whether or not called for redemption, may be tendered," Acting Secretary Acheson said.

POWER OUTPUT OF U. S. STEADY; CHICAGO GAINS

This District 12 Pct. Over Last Year.

While electric power output in the Chicago district for the week ended Oct. 21 showed a normal seasonal increase over output in the the preceding weeks, and further widened its margin over output in the like week of last year, the national aggregate remained almost stationary, and its lead over 1932 was cut down still more.

The national production for last week amounted to 1,618,795,000 kilowatt hours, compared with 1,618,948,000 in the preceding week, according to the Edison Electric institute. The gain over production in the corresponding week of 1932, amounting to 1,528,145,000 kilowatt hours, was only 5.9 per cent, compared with 7.4 per cent in the week ended Oct. 14.

Chicago Gain Widens.

On the other hand, the electricity output for the Chicago region was 103,357,000 kilowatt hours, or 12 per cent more than output in the like week of 1932, which aggregated 92,301,000 kilowatt hours. The gain shown by output in the week ended Oct. 14 was 9.5 per cent.

"The electricity output shows a normal seasonal improvement over previous weeks and also about the same percentage of increase over last year as for the last four weeks," says the announcement of the Commonwealth Edison company. "The weather was favorable for a good output."

Week ended	1933.	1932.	Per cent increase.
Oct. 21	103,357,000	92,301,000	12.0
Oct. 14	100,663,000	92,345,000	9.0
Oct. 7	99,435,000	90,347,000	10.1
Sept. 30	101,429,000	90,121,000	12.5

It was particularly in the middle Atlantic region and the southern states that the decreases in the margins over output in 1932 were largest.

East Shows Narrower Gain.

Electric power output in the middle Atlantic region was only 1.8 per cent above that in the like week of last year, compared with 4.6 per cent in the preceding week; and output in the southern states showed an increase of 3.6 per cent, against 8.2.

Furthermore, on the Pacific coast output decreased seven-tenths of one per cent, compared with an increase of four-tenths of one per cent in the preceding week.

In New England output improved 5.5 per cent, against 5; in the central industrial region, 9.2, against 9.9; and in the Rocky mountain area, 22.4, against 22.1.

NEW YORK TRIES TO TRADE STOCK FOR U. S. MONEY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 25.—New York City is trying to wish some choice bundles of its corporate stock—so long a drug on the Wall street market—on the reconstruction finance corporation in return for a loan of $2,020,000.

The cash, if it is forthcoming, is to be used in building a steel shed over pier 32 on the North river and for other "incidental improvements" to the structure. Mayor John P. O'Brien has signed an application for the loan and the document has been duly forwarded to Jesse Jones, but just what impression it is going to make on him remains to be seen.

Pier 32, formerly occupied by the Hudson River Night line, was built at a cost of $501,218. But its usefulness as well as its appearance are sadly handicapped in the estimation of the city officials by lack of a roof.

If the improvement can be arranged at Uncle Sam's expense, the pier is to be let out to the North German Lloyd Steamship company for use in docking its big liners, Europa and Bremen. The line proposes to pay the city $325,000 a year for use of the pier provided the roof is forthcoming, but submits that roofless the thing is practically useless.

U. S. Will Buy 15 Million Lbs. Beef for Idle

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Millions more pounds of foodstuffs were sought today by the government for the dual purpose of feeding the needy and strengthening the commodity markets. In a simultaneous move to erect a buffer for the idle against winter's cold, the relief administration announced plans for a chain of relief camps among the states to care for penniless wanderers.

Just what the total cost would be for these shelters has not been determined, administration officials said, but the initial outlay would range from $2,000 to $50,000 a camp.

Harry L. Hopkins, the emergency relief administrator, asked for bids on 15,000,000 pounds of beef to be distributed through wholesale and retail grocery stores. The bids will be opened Nov. 6 at the relief offices here, with the following specifications: "Either of beef, fresh roast, canned, or of beef, corned, canned, or both."

Will Buy Only Good Cuts.

Asserting that the purpose was to provide wholesome food for the needy and to help stabilize the beef market, Hopkins said that only the better cuts of meat from cows of good quality would be accepted. Another requirement is that the meat shall be cut after the contract is awarded.

Meanwhile, it became known that the Federal Surplus Relief corporation up to today has purchased 6,800,000 bushels of wheat, of which 700,500 was cash wheat. These purchases included 5,000,000 bushels of December futures, and 1,100,000 bushels of May futures.

All of the food distributed through grocery stores is to have stamped on the can or label "Not to Be Sold." In addition to the wheat and beef the relief administration is purchasing apples, butter, and pork for the jobless and their dependents.

24 States Granted Funds.

The relief camps for transients are being set up largely in conformance with proposals in the last congress by Senator Cutting [Rep., N. M.], a Roosevelt supporter.

Twenty-four states already have been granted preliminary funds and six more are expected to be accommodated this week. Some camps are operating in California, New York, and New Jersey. Others soon will be functioning in Ohio and Pennsylvania.

NATIONAL LIFE REORGANIZATION PROPOSAL ASKED

A prompt disposition of the affairs of the National Life Insurance Company of the U. S. A. was promised yesterday when Judge William J. Lindsay of the Superior court issued an order that proposals for reinsurance or reorganization of the company's business be submitted in writing by Nov. 14. The order was issued at the request of Ernest Palmer, state superintendent of insurance, and Patrick J. Lucey, receiver for the company.

The company, which has $197,000,000 of insurance in force and is the largest life insurance company in Illinois, was placed in receivership last week.

It is understood that negotiations are now being carried on with three groups for a reinsurance of the company's 110,000 policy holders.

OLD DAWES BANK HOME TO HOUSE NEW RESTAURANT

Leased by Merchandise Mart Corporation.

BY AL CHASE.

The former quarters of the old Central Trust company, original "Dawes" bank, at 125 West Monroe street, is to be converted into a restaurant. It was learned yesterday that the Central Republic Trust company, owner of the building, has leased the quarters for a five year period to the Merchandise Mart Restaurants, Inc.

A restaurant will be opened in the main banking space late next month. The exterior of the building is now undergoing a cleaning in preparation for the opening.

Few interior alterations are contemplated, it was stated. The teller's windows will remain. The center of the lobby, which was formerly the "island" of desks of junior officers, will be used for a sandwich bar.

No Cooking on Premises.

Steam tables will be placed in the executive office once occupied by Charles G. Dawes, former chairman of the bank, and Joseph E. Otis, former president. No cooking will be done on the premises. All of the food will be prepared at the Merchandise Mart kitchens and brought across the river in containers.

A 90 day cancellation clause is contained in the lease, which permits the owners of the building to cancel the contract should the financial situation make the quarters more desirable for banking than for eating. The lessees also have the right to withdraw within six months if the venture proves unprofitable.

Founded by Charles G. Dawes.

The building is a monumental structure especially designed for banking use. It was put up in the late nineties and was for years the home of the Central Trust, the bank founded by Charles G. Dawes when he retired as President McKinley's controller of the currency.

The Central Trust moved out of the building in 1928 to 208 South La Salle street, which had been vacated by the old Continental and Commercial National bank. After acquiring the Bank of America and merging with the National Bank of Republic, the Central Trust gradually faded out of existence.

STOCK PRICES MOUNT AS TIDE OF BUYING RISES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 25.—The fresh wave of speculative enthusiasm engendered by the announcement of President Roosevelt's new monetary policy continued unchecked on the stock exchange today. Prices rose 1 to 5 points and buying was at a livelier pace than either yesterday or the day before, turnover mounting to around 2,880,000 shares.

Announcement just before the market opening of the government's new official price for gold at the high level of $31.36 an ounce was accepted as a further contribution to the inflationary potentialities of the equation. Higher commodity prices were a further help to the bull cause. Together the developments on this side of the account enabled traders to pass up the more bearish items in the day's news including the sharply lower operating rate in steel, a slight tapering off in the indicated figures on carloadings and some further discussions of the possibility of ultimate sterner control of industrial profits.

Believe Deflation Checked.

Such commentators as seemed to think the inflationary possibilities of the market's outlook might be a bit overrated conceded that the President's program seemed to hold out a guarantee against reversion to deflationary policies such as many astute observers had come to expect on the face of recent occurrences down Washington way.

As on Monday and yesterday, the market improved sharply in the later trading, with the result that the close found most active issues chalked up to new highs for the movement. Interest again converged chiefly in issues adjudged to be most nearly in line to benefit from inflation under whatever guise it may continue to come.

Profit taking slowed up the advance at frequent intervals in the forenoon dealings but the bulls were able each time to get things moving ahead anew by rotating leadership from one group to another. Liquor shares, steels, gold stocks and American Telephone were the chief beneficiaries of this strong arm activity.

Close Is Strong.

Around the beginning of the fourth hour, however, the whole market began moving forward on a broad front and the advance continued unchecked from then to the close. "Wet" shares, chemicals, and some of the utilities were especially prominent toward the end.

The spectacular Homestake mining leader of the gold mining group was in difficulties most of the day. The issue met with profit taking and closed 15 points lower. Alaska Juneau, on the other hand, was able to negotiate a further fractional gain, and McIntyre added a point to its previous rating.

United States Steel advanced nearly 2 points in the face of the drop in steel operations to 31.8 per cent of capacity. American Can and other leading industrials were in demand. Allied Chemical ran up 5 points.

Oil stocks had a good day, and the farm implements made the most of the rebound in wheat, Case rising more than 5 points.

Success of New Money Plan Up to Public

BY HOWARD WOOD.

While the public looks to the administration for an answer to the question: "How fast and how far will commodity and stock prices rise?" the administration is looking to the public for the answer to the same question.

It is one thing to lay out on paper a plan to manipulate price levels of all commodities by reducing the gold value of the dollar and quite another to make the plan work smoothly and effectively.

That is why the President made his radio speech Sunday night explaining his plan to regulate the price of gold. The scheme had been carefully blue printed, but its working out depends upon the reaction of Tom, Dick, and Harry, who make the prices by buying and selling.

In another column on this page is a brief outline of the theory back of the President's gold pegging program as nearly as it can be deduced from his remarks and the interpretations placed upon them by financial experts.

Will it work?

It has so far. Prices of products of the mines and the farm have risen substantially since Monday morning. So have prices of stocks, almost without exception. So have speculative bonds.

Will it continue to work?

La Salle street thinks it will, but is inclined to make the reservation that prices are likely to fluctuate sharply from day to day, thereby making trading on a thin margin extremely risky. Did not the President say that prices of farm commodities would be pushed up by one means or another, but "do it we will," and has not the President the power to resort to more drastic inflation if the gold price pegging scheme doesn't deliver fast enough?

"Smart money" has already been invested in commodities and stocks. Much of it has been in commodities and stocks since last March and April. It is significant, perhaps, that some of these big fellows are holding what they have bought, rather than selling it now.

But the conservative old heads along La Salle street make one pointed observation concerning the current buying and the still greater volume of buying that is expected to come into the market as the movement goes along. This buying, they say, reflects fear of cheapening of the dollar rather than confidence in a sudden return of prosperity.

If this is true the same emotion which drives people out of money and into things—stocks, grain, cotton, silver, etc.—may also drive people out of high grade bonds, including government bonds.

Government bonds have been kept above par for about two years. In the fall of 1931, when Great Britain went off the gold standard, United States government bonds slipped. For a while some of them were quoted in the low eighties. Then President Hoover set in motion his program of having the federal reserve banks prop up the government bond market by buying such bonds in the open market. That policy has been followed intermittently since then on a comparatively modest scale.

A decline of government bonds would not seriously affect the federal government if it weren't borrowing but the current recovery program calls for billions of dollars of government financing to defray the cost of public works, the liquidation of closed banks, loans to states, municipalities, railroads, farmers, home owners, banks and so on, besides the money

GEN. MOTORS' PROFITS CLIMB AS SALES RISE

3d Quarter Produces 72 Cents a Share.

New York, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The recent substantial recovery of the automobile industry was reflected in the earnings statement of the General Motors, corporation issued today, which disclosed that the company, in the quarter ended Sept. 30, had net earnings of $33,346,618, equivalent to 72 cents a common share, compared with a loss in the 1932 quarter of $4,464,229.

ALFRED P. SLOAN JR.

Net earnings for the first nine months of 1933 totaled $81,409,704 or $1.73 a common share. In the same period last year net earnings amounted to $10,555,175, equal to 8 cents a share on the common stock.

The company's net sales, excluding inter-division transactions, in the third quarter amounted to $178,967,035, against $74,575,864 in the 1932 period. For the nine months net sales totaled $490,921,509, compared with $371,374,398 in the like months last year.

Stronger Cash Position Shown.

Alfred P. Sloan Jr., president of the corporation, said that "notwithstanding the subnormal operations of the last three and three-quarters years of the depression period, and the payment of dividends in excess of earnings by approximately $53,000,000 during that period, cash and cash investments as of Sept. 30, 1933, were greater by $105,214,652 than the corresponding items as of Dec. 31, 1929, and working capital likewise by $34,004,531."

Sloan said improvement in the corporation's business during the third quarter was at a somewhat declining rate.

"It is unreasonable to expect," he added, "other than a curtailment during the balance of the year in accordance with the usual seasonal falling off affecting retail sales, as well as by the yearly readjustment of models affecting manufacturing schedules, the latter always having an important influence on operations."

Working Capital Increased.

The earnings reported did not reflect provision for losses on cash balances in closed banks, it being explained that the extent of these losses was not determinable at this time.

The corporation, as of Sept. 30, had cash, U. S. government and other marketable securities totaling $232,566,172 [excluding cash balances in closed banks], compared with $172,780,695 at the beginning of the year. The cash and cash investment account was increased $32,077,409 in the third quarter. The item was increased $64,777,077 in the second quarter.

Net working capital, at the end of the nine months, excluding cash in closed banks, stood at $285,292,313. This compared with $225,437,194 on Dec. 31, last, and $240,411,639 on Sept. 30, last year. The total improvement in working capital during the nine months amounted to $59,855,119.

MARKET PLANNED FOR R. F. C. NOTES TO PAY FOR GOLD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 25.—Wall street discount houses and firms specializing in government bonds began at once today to arrange for the establishment of a market for the 90 day Reconstruction Finance corporation debentures, which are to be issued to mining companies in exchange for gold bought daily at prices fixed by the RFC under the new plan whereby the government is fixing the value of the dollar in terms of gold.

It was expected that the market might start tomorrow. Banks showed interest in the new government credit instruments as a short term investment, but they soon established that the new paper would be neither salable nor rediscountable at the federal reserve banks. Therefore, it appeared unlikely that the new debentures, even at the one-quarter of 1 per cent rate of interest, would sell at par.

Compared with Merchants' Paper.

It was said to be more likely that the yield basis would be close to the 1¼ per cent quoted for merchants' paper. Merchants' paper is rediscountable, but not government guaranteed; the new RFC bills are government guaranteed—at least, that is how they are regarded—although they are not rediscountable.

From a hasty study of the machinery set up to purchase gold through the Reconstruction Finance corporation some conclusions at once were possible: First, the market for new gold in this country, which was on a cash basis yesterday, today was on a credit basis, the price of gold being fixed today at a level which was sufficiently above the world price to cover such financing charges or discounts as gold mining companies might have to pay if they disposed of their Reconstruction Finance corporation debentures.

Treasury Puts Up No Cash.

A second feature of the plan was apparently that the Reconstruction Finance corporation's gold buying activities would, in effect, be outside of the treasury's operations. Financing its acquisitions by issue of its own debentures, the treasury would have to put no cash into this kind of an "equalization fund."

To such mining companies as need cash for their new production immediately upon its sale, the market in Wall street or banks will supply the cash. They may, however, prefer to retain their debentures until maturity, when, presumably, the RFC will pay cash for them. Should the RFC be buying more gold than it was selling at the time of maturing debenture issues, it then would have to borrow cash from the treasury or sell some debentures publicly.

Bulova Watch.

Investors' Guide: Please give me what information you can on Bulova Watch, especially as to their convertible preferred stock.—C. L. C.

Answer: Bulova Watch Company, Inc., established in 1875, manufactures watches with jeweled movements. Its plants are in Bienne, Switzerland; Providence, R. I.; Woodside, Long Island, and New York City.

Reduced sales volume and competitive price reductions, especially by foreign manufacturers, have made operations unprofitable for the last two years. Loss for the quarter ended June 30, 1933, was $209,000, against loss of $267,000 for the corresponding 1932 period.

The company lost $1,089,000 in the year ended March 31, 1933, against loss of $215,000 for the preceding year. Net income in the year ended March 31, 1931, was $792,000, or $2.24 per common share.

Current assets on March 31, 1933, totaled $4,333,000 and current liabilities were $180,000.

There is no funded debt. Capitalization consists of 50,000 shares of $3.50 cumulative no par preferred and 275,000 shares of no par common. The preferred is convertible into common, share for share, at any time. Nothing has been paid on the preferred since Dec. 1, 1932.

Weakness of the United States dollar in international exchange should be of material help in competing with foreign manufacturers.

New Jersey Power and Light.

Investors' Guide: How do you rate New Jersey Power and Light 4½s and what are its earnings?—L. W. W.

Answer: New Jersey Power and Light company is an operating company controlled by Metropolitan Edison corporation, a subsidiary of Associated Gas and Electric corporation. It supplies electricity and some gas to 346 New Jersey communities and Easton, Pa.

Gross for the twelve months to June 30, 1933, dropped to $4,146,000, against $4,729,000 for the preceding twelve months. Operating expenses were down about 13 per cent, but taxes increased by one-third. Fixed charges were covered 1.84 times, against 2.27 times for the twelve months to June 30, 1932.

Gross for 1932 totaled $4,369,000, against $4,865,000 for 1931, $4,286,000 for 1930 and $3,199,000 for 1929. Charges were covered 2.11 times in 1932, 2.67 times in 1931, 3.69 times in 1930 and 3.55 times in 1929. The sharp drop from 1930 to 1931 was due to the increase in fixed charges.

At the close of 1932 current assets totaled $768,000 and current liabilities were $628,000.

The $13,920,000 first 5½s, due 1960, are issued under an "open end" mortgage. The bonds are secured by a first lien on all properties. They are sound.

†Matured bonds: negotiability impaired by maturity. xin—Ex interest.

SUCCESS OF NEW MONETARY PLAN IS UP TO PUBLIC

It Works on Paper, but How About Practice?

that must be raised to meet maturing bond issues.

If the government is to sell bonds there must be buyers. Either the investing public, including banks and other financial institutions, must buy, or the federal reserve banks must buy them or the federal reserve banks must buy them in the way outlined in the Thomas inflation amendment, which authorizes the President to direct the reserve banks to buy as much as 3 billions of government bonds.

If the reserve banks buy hundreds of millions of bonds, however, that step would be decidedly inflationary. It is labeled as inflationary in the Thomas amendment.

This would inject a new and complicating influence into the orderly program outlined in the RFC plan to raise prices gradually by cautiously jacking up the price of gold. Selling big blocks of bonds to the federal reserve banks would probably send prices skyrocketing all of a sudden because the public has been educated by the Thomas amendment to recognize heavy buying of bonds by the reserve banks as outright inflation.

Yesterday the new issue of $500,000,000 treasury 4¼-3¼ bonds were actually selling in the market at 25 cents per hundred dollars below the price at which they were sold by the treasury. This is the first time in two years that the price of a new government issue has sagged below the offering price immediately after the flotation of the bonds.

Also yesterday Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Acheson announced that of the 1 billion 875 millions of fourth liberty 4¼s which have been called for payment April 15, only 650 millions have been tendered in exchange for the new 4¼-3¼s, or a little more than a third of the amount called.

Considering these various influences, therefore, it isn't a question of whether stock and commodity prices are going up. It's a question of whether they can be kept from going up too fast or too far under the administration's current currency depreciation program.

Is there a middle course by which the administration can continue its gold pegging price raising plan and still protect government credit?

La Salle street conservatives say there is, that if the administration would announce that after the dollar has been depreciated 50 per cent the dollar will be definitely stabilized at the lower level with a reduced gold content, confidence would be maintained. It isn't the first 50 per cent they fear; it's the possibility that after the dollar has been depreciated 50 per cent it will continue to wobble with the "managed" currency boys in the saddle trying to make a flexible dollar fit an ever changing and variously defined "commodity index."

Money fears nothing so much as uncertainty.

ILLINOIS GRAIN ELEVATOR CO-OPS JOIN REBEL UNIT

Form a New National Association.

Support of 148 farmers' coöperatively owned grain elevators in Illinois yesterday was added to that of farmers' elevators in Iowa, Kansas, Ohio, Oklahoma and Nebraska who bolted a meeting of the Farmers' National Grain Dealers' association in Chicago Tuesday to create an association of their own.

The newly created federation of farm elevators is to establish headquarters in Omaha at once, it was announced yesterday. It will be called the Farmers' National Coöperative Elevator association, and its primary objective is to strengthen state associations of elevators in order to bargain collectively in the merchandising of grain.

Illinois Grain Corporation Joins.

The Illinois contingent which yesterday joined the new association is federated in the Illinois Grain corporation, a coöperative marketing organization created and managed by the Illinois Agricultural association. It is a member of the Farmers' National Grain corporation.

In referring to the split which occurred after the 50 year old grain dealers' association had elected C. H. Conaway, Starkweather, N. D., as the new president, G. C. Johnstone of Bloomington, Ill., said the Illinois Grain corporation's membership, of which he is president, said the new association would favor "true coöperative marketing."

Old Policy Opposed.

Johnstone charged that the retiring officers of the grain dealers' association in opposing the farm board's plan for marketing for years "were not speaking for grain producers, nor the rank and file of farmers' elevators."

He also charged they had been "merely mouthpieces for certain old line commission houses which have wielded undue influence in the policies of the old Grain Dealers' association."

New York, Oct. 25.—The trend of the listed bond market today was largely a repetition of the drift of the previous day. Domestic corporation bonds moved irregularly higher and foreign loans showed exceptional strength, while United States government long term obligations finished generally weaker. Trading was less active than on Tuesday.

Although the appreciation of the dollar in the foreign exchange market came early in the day, United States government bonds showed net declines ranging from 1-32d to 6-32d point, with the exceptions of the called Fourth Liberty 4¼s, which moved up 2-32ds, and the Treasury 3⅜s, due 1947, callable 1943, which held unchanged.

Many foreign issues jumped 1 to 8 points. The rise in French government and municipal loans ranged from 3½ to 6⅞ points, and in Dutch East Indies issues from 5 to 8 points. Irish Free State 5s, due 1960, long comparatively inactive, jumped 5½ points. Chief among the other gainers in the foreign list were Swiss government 5½s, up 3¾; Swedish government 5½s, up 2, and United Kingdoms up 1 to 2¼.

ALL GRAINS JOIN IN UPTURN; WHEAT RISES 2⅞ TO 3¼C

Traders Find That Public Interest Lags, However.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Grain and commodity markets in general made an enthusiastic response to the inauguration of the "New Deal" in inflationary measures yesterday when wheat soared as much as 4 cents, corn 3¾ cents, and rye 4⅝ cents above Tuesday's final quotations. The greater part of the advance was maintained at the close.

Net gains on wheat for the day were 2⅞ to 3¼ cents; corn, 2 to 2¼ cents; oats, 1⅞ to 2 cents; rye, 3⅛ to 4⅛ cents, and barley, 2 to 2¼ cents. Cotton gained about $1 a bale; coffee, 14 points, and hides nearly ¾ cent a pound. Silver was up ½ cent an ounce at the close. Sugar was the only laggard, and closed near the level of the preceding day.

May Highest Since Oct. 6.

May wheat sold as high as 91¾ cents, or 20¼ cents above the low on Oct. 17, and was the highest since Oct. 6, when it touched 93¾ cents. Final trades were at 91 to 91¼ cents. December closed at 87⅞ to 88 cents. December corn closed at 47⅝ to 47¾ cents, oats at 37½ to 37⅝ cents, rye at 62⅞ cents, and barley at 49¼ cents.

Much to the surprise of the grain trade there was no outburst of general public buying following announcement of the new gold price. The same conditions prevailed in provisions, and buying on the Chicago Board of Trade was largely confined to professional speculators.

During July there was a tremendous public interest in the grain markets on prospects of inflation, but now the American public is regarded as skeptical of the method designed to advance agricultural commodity prices in general.

Heavy Margins a Check.

In accounting for the lack of a broad speculative interest in grains one of the largest operators says this condition is undoubtedly due to the heavy margins which are being exacted on all trades. With wheat selling around 90 cents a bushel for future delivery, commission houses, he says, are asking 10 to 15 cents a bushel and on corn around 10 cents, despite the fact this is almost 20 per cent of the price of the future.

With a lack of a broad speculative interest the grain markets fluctuate rapidly at times on the execution of relatively small orders, either way, and the lifting or the placing of hedges against the cash article have had considerable effect.

Confirmation of the rumor the government was contemplating placing an embargo on imports of rye had considerable influence on that grain, and the bulge was well maintained despite liberal profit taking and selling by the northwest and cash interests.

Announcement that a processing tax of 28 cents a bushel would be levied on corn on Nov. 5 failed to have much effect on that grain, as the tax does not apply until it is processed commercially.

OFFICIAL WEATHER FORECAST

COTTON ADVANCES $1 BALE; GOOD BUYING ON BREAKS

Cotton closed higher after an erratic session yesterday. Net gains on futures in Chicago, 10 to 19 points, while New York finished 15 to 24 points and New Orleans 14 to 22 points above Tuesday's close, gaining more than $1 a bale.

New York spots were 9.90 cents, New Orleans 9.60 cents, and Galveston and Houston 9.55 cents.

Ginning reports showed more of the crop ginned than generally expected, there being 8,605,000 bales ginned for the first half of October, compared with 7,209,094 bales the same time last year and 9,496,965 bales two years ago. Prices:

SILVER PRICES

Silver futures were carried forward sharply as the result of reports efforts would be made to have this metal share in the currency to a greater extent. Speculative interest was larger with the close 0.35 to 0.50 cents per ounce. Total sales were 5,925,000 ounces. October closed at 39.05 cents; December, 38.15 cents; March, 39.65 cents, May, 40.10 cents; July 40.50 cents, and September, 41c per ounce. Spot silver in New York was 1¼ cents higher for the day.

SALESMEN

We have recently been active in distributing high-grade brewery stocks and are now preparing to market distillery issues. We wish to hear from reliable salesmen who can successfully sell the better type of such issues with a view to making a permanent connection.

We are prepared to furnish and circularize names to provide qualified leads.

OIL CHIEFTAINS WARNED TO OBEY CODE BY ICKES

Secretary Says U. S. Will Enforce Regulations.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The convalescing oil industry, recovering from its latest acute attack of chronic over-exertion, came in for further clinical observation and recommendations yesterday at the meeting of the American Petroleum Institute at the Stevens hotel. All the big names in the industry were at the meeting, which is the institute's fourteenth annual gathering and the first general meeting since adoption last summer of the revolutionary code governing production and prices.

The attending physicians, chief of whom was Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, oil's dictator under the code, were all agreed that complete recovery of the patient hinges on strict adherence to the prescribed rules of the code.

"Obey Rules," Ickes Warns.

Pointing with pride to the improvement that the industry has enjoyed since it began operations under the new rules, Secretary Ickes gave solemn warning that he intends to see that it continues to follow his recommendations.

He told the oil leaders that unless cheating is stopped and production held down to the figures prescribed by the government, he will invoke the drastic powers given to him by the code. His words were loudly applauded by the oil men, who through their official association have been enthusiastic supporters over the government system of regulation.

As administrator under the code, Secretary Ickes has the authority, with the President's sanction, to establish a licensing system for the industry. Without referring specifically to this important power, Secretary Ickes declared that if action is necessary, he intends to take it on Nov. 1.

Will Stop Overproduction.

"I am informed," he said, "that there is still too much oil being produced, and unless production is restricted to the figures permitted by my last order, I intend to exercise the drastic powers given me by the oil code.

"If necessary, I will invoke these extraordinary powers on Nov. 1, next, and fair notice has been given every producer of oil that the administration means business when it puts a limit on the crude to be produced."

The cabinet member, who ten days ago posted the schedule of minimum prices at which petroleum and its products may be sold, said that he did not believe that price fixing could be depended on to cure all the ills of the industry. The posted price schedule is still subject to revision after the public hearings have been held he stated.

"We cannot, by executive fiat, control price without controlling the things that control the price," he declared. "Price fixing, powerful and drastic remedy that it is, cannot serve to keep prices where they ought to be if production is permitted to be out of bounds."

Sees New Economic Adventure.

He described the public hearings to be held on the new prices as "a fair takeoff on a new economic and political adventure of the first magnitude."

Reviewing the operations of the industry to date under the code, he pointed to the recovery that has occurred in petroleum. Since the promulgation of the production quota on Sept. 8 prices or crude oil have recovered from 64 cents to 85 cents a barrel in the midcontinent field, he said.

"For this reason I have no hesitation in affirming that unless the industry can regulate itself—at least to the point of preventing such waste as has gone on in the past—the government will be justified in taking whatever steps may be necessary to regulate and preserve this essential resource," he warned.

HOGS RALLY ON COOL WEATHER, LIGHT SUPPLIES

Rise in Other Markets Also Is Factor.

Colder weather, light receipts, and higher markets for provisions, grains, and stocks, figured prominently in the better action in hogs yesterday. While this is the season of the year when hog prices are usually headed downward, and they have already dropped sharply in the last two weeks, the trade is hopefully watching developments of the President's new monetary program and its effect on commodity prices.

The sharp decline in hog prices was checked early in the forenoon yesterday, the bulk later moving over the scales at prices 5 to 15 cents above the average of the preceding day. All interests indicated a need for replenishing their supplies of fresh pork, which has advanced in value the last two days on light receipts.

Pork Loins Recover Loss.

Pork loins have recovered all of the loss of the last 10 days and are now selling within a fraction of a cent a pound of the highest point in more than a month, showing 2 to 3 cents advance over the recent low spot.

The quality of hogs was the best of the season. About 90 per cent of receipts were young hogs, weighing 180 to 240 pounds, from the spring pig crop. These sold mostly within a range of $4.25 to $4.40, the narrowest range since early in the year. The top and average prices showed a spread of only 20 cents at $4.45 and $4.25.

After holding receipts moderate for two days this week cattle feeders dumped 14,000 head here yesterday, one of the largest Wednesday totals of the year. A large share of the receipts were long fed steers and yearlings that were put in the feed lots last fall and fed plenty of last year's cheap corn over the winter and throughout last summer.

Cattle Quality Excellent.

The quality was about as good as any time on record, but buyers had things much their own way and soon erased a good share of the recent mild gains. Disagreeable weather was another factor against the selling side.

The few light steers and yearlings maintained a steady price basis for a time during the forenoon, but the bulk of offerings sank to 15 to 25 cents in value with some bids off even more. 1,000 pounds sold above the $6 line. Several carloads of yearlings averaging 800 to 960 pounds, however, brought $6.15 to $6.35. The bulk of steers sold at $5 to $6, with numerous loads going at $4.25 to $4.75.

Packers bought lambs at 10 to 25 cents lower prices yesterday, sorting natives at $7.35 and under and westerns at $7.25 and below. A few to city butchers reached $7.40. Replacement stock continued in good demand at 10 to 15 cents advance.

BUTTER AND EGGS FUTURES SOAR IN HEAVY TRADING

A wave of buying carried butter and egg futures up ½c on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday in the heaviest trading session of the last three months. Bulges in stocks and grains were the major factor.

Chicago egg receipts were extremely light, and the four markets moved out 9,000 cases more than last year. Cold weather was also a factor. Covering was heavy and new buying prominent, particularly in the December delivery. Profit taking was liberal on the upturn, but the market closed firm.

Butter followed the advances elsewhere. The Land o' Lakes reported production 4 per cent greater than last year and 5 per cent more than the previous week this year, while the four markets took out 196,000 pounds less than last year. The unfavorable news was disregarded. Buying of cash butter continued heavy. Government buying starts today.

Sales: Butter, 191 cars; eggs, 451 cars. Deliveries: Eggs, 3 cars. Prices follow:

GOOD DEMAND FOR MEATS PUSHES PRICES HIGHER

Packers and distributors report a good demand for meats within the last few days and a stronger market all around. Trade in futures was fair with no material pressure.

Closing prices on lard futures were 12½ to 20 cents net higher, while bellies were 30 to 45 cents better than on Tuesday. Cash lard was said to be in better request with regular 15 cents higher with a close of 5.35 cents; loose advanced 10 cents to 5.15 cents, and leaf jumped 12½ cents with close at 5.00 cents, while cash bellies were 5.00 cents. Pork loins were said to be firmer. Prices follow:

ARE YOU READY TO BE DEVELOPED INTO A BIG MONEY-MAKER?

Of course, if you propose being a big money-maker immediatly, I am afraid you will be disappointed, because while you can learn this business speedily, and many men in it show wonderful incomes their first six months, still it has to be learned. Your former occupation required a good deal of time, and maybe some money as well. Therefore, if you expect to make from $100.00 to $150.00 a week right away, don't come. But if you wish to work up to this income over a period of months, starting much smaller, and if you can prove that you are a consistent and dependable worker, I shall be glad to go into details with you.

I shall show you men in this business, and put you in touch with many others, who have regularly dependable incomes ranging from $3,750.00 to $10,500.00 a year—and a few well beyond the top figures. But with few exceptions, these men started on a basis of $25.00 to $35.00 a week. They knew they would get it whatever it was. This company does not keep men waiting. It pays them regularly and has a world-wide reputation for this sort of treatment of men, from whom it never borrows money or exacts money in any manner. We pay our men money; they do not pay us. But they must make the money they are to get—which is precisely what men always have had to do in real business!

If we can agree mutually on this subject, you would be ready to step into the field Monday morning, with equipment which we furnish, and trained by men who know how to succeed. You will have some $50.00 days, and some $85.00 to $100.00 weeks inside the next few months—and gradually build up to those incomes from your more modest beginnings. But if you think this is a snap and if you demand a snap, my honest advice is to keep away. It is the kind of work a man likes to do when his heart is set on succeeding, taking care of his family, and getting ahead in the world.

If you are ready to measure up to the few simple requirements we place upon you, and are looking for full-time, permanent work, then be here any time between 9:30 a. m. and 1:00 p. m., Thursday, Oct. 26. Come to room 430 at 1525 East 53d-st., Chicago, and ask for Mr. Crissman. I hope you are one of the men we are looking for.

MEN—20 TO 25 YRS. OLD WHO HAVE sold magazines or other specialties, calling on business dist. to work with mgr. in northern Indiana. Travel by car. Thorough training will be given. Starting point Gary. Same day verification. Position worth $35 weekly. See Mr. Bruner, Rm. 1135, 508 S. Dearborn.

Learn Beauty Culture at DeLee

Girls who learn beauty culture and hair dressing at DeLEE under the personal supervision of MADAME LOUISE assure themselves good paying, pleasant positions. Visit DeLEE today and let the Dean explain exactly why you can get a better position with more pay if you are trained the DeLEE way. If you can't come in write for the FREE DeLEE book!

Individual Instruction

At DeLEE you are not herded in a classroom with a hundred other girls. You actually receive individual, personalized instruction. The DeLEE "university type" of schooling is available to YOU at tuition fees no greater than those charged elsewhere for the ordinary "trade school" type of training. Terms can be arranged to suit you. When you are graduated the FREE DeLEE employment service will help place you in a good position. Visit DeLEE today—it's America's most modern, most beautiful beauty school. Or—write for the Free DeLEE Book, "Your Career in Beauty Culture."

LEGAL NOTICES.

IN THE COURT OF CHANCERY OF THE STATE OF DELAWARE IN AND FOR NEW CASTLE COUNTY
In the Matter of the Receivership of ELECTRIC PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY TO ALL CREDITORS OF ELECTRIC PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY AND ALL OTHER PARTIES IN INTEREST:
NOTICE.
Notice is hereby given that James Lee Kauffman, Julian D. Anthony, Bartlett Beaman, Edgar P. Lawson and Charles M. Sellman as a Committee of Bondholders of Electric Public Service Company, having intervened in said cause, pursuant to order of the Chancellor of the State of Delaware dated October 11, 1933, have presented to the Chancellor of the State of Delaware a plan for the reorganization of Electric Public Service Company, a corporation of the State of Delaware, and have filed in the Court of Chancery of the State of Delaware a petition praying that a hearing be had at which the Receivers of said corporation and all secured bondholders, debenture holders and other unsecured creditors of the defendant corporation shall show cause why the said plan of reorganization, a copy of which is attached to said petition, should not be approved by the Court and why the said Receivers should not be directed to co-operate with said Committee in consummating said plan, and why the said Committee should not have such other, further, different and general relief as to the court shall seem proper.
A hearing on said petition will be held before the Court of Chancery of the State of Delaware, at the Courthouse at Wilmington, on Wednesday, the 29th day of November, A. D. 1933, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon.
Copies of said plan of reorganization have been deposited with the Register of said Court and are open to the inspection of any party in interest. Copies of said plan are also in the possession of said Committee, whose office is 72 Wall Street, New York City, where the same may be inspected, and a copy of said plan will be furnished to any party in interest by said Committee upon application thereto.
Attest: GEORGE R. McDOUGALL, Registered in Chancery.
Dated at Wilmington, Delaware, October 27, 1933.
NEW ORLEANS, SEPT. 25, 1933—SEALED proposals will be received by the Sewerage & Water Board, 526 Carondelet-st., New Orleans, up to 12 M. Friday Dec. 8, 1933 for furnishing labor and material on a percentage basis during 1934. Specifications on request. A. G. MOFFAT, Secty. BRYSON VALLES, Gen'l. Supt.

ATTENTION!

YOU SMART BUYERS

You can save hundreds of dollars by purchasing from FELZ before the Auto Code goes into effect.

NOVEMBER 3D

When the Code becomes a law—there will be standard trade-in prices. You will only be able to obtain a certain amount—no more and no less—for your old auto as part payment on another car. If your old car is in poor condition, there will be an added reduction on the trade-in price in order to allow for a reconditioning charge. Boiled down, the new Auto Code means your old car will be worth a WHOLE LOT LESS after Nov. 3.

BE SMART!

Beat the code to the gun and buy from

F-E-L-Z

Today or anytime before Nov. 3.

Now—Felz will make you an extra large price for your old car in trade on one of his beautiful quality autos. Felz has the largest stock of late models in Chicago, and they are being offered now at BLUE BOOK SALE PRICES.

YOU CAN SAVE UP TO 50%

Franklin Factory Branch,

2000 S. Michigan-av. Victory 2000.

FRANKLIN—SED., 1932 SUPERCHARGED 12. Here is a magnificent air-cooled car. Finished a stunning two-tone gray. Practically new Goodyear heavy duty all-weather tires. The interior is immaculate and has many expensive refinements. The V-12 motor performs absolutely noiselessly, but there's abundant power and pick-up when you step on the throttle. It can "cruise" at 50 M. P. H. just as easy as you can do 20 M. P. H. in your old car. If you should show this car to your neighbors no one would believe you bought it "used." Actually it sold for $4,200 not long ago. We priced it at only $1,495. Long liberal terms. Packard Motor Car Co., Michigan at 24th-st. Calumet 7400.
